

FOREIGN.

CONFIRMATION OF THE SPLENDID VICTORY OF THE GREEKS.

New-York, Oct. 19. Although we never doubted for a moment that the accounts, which some time ago reached this country, of the glorious triumph of the Greek patriots over the barbarian oppressors, would be substantially confirmed, we have found it necessary, from time to time, to expose the vile attempts of that corrupt press in Europe, which never fails to disguise the truth when the cause of liberty is concerned, and to laud the atrocious deeds of the most abominable despotism in the world, provided it gluts its thirst for blood under the banners of "legitimacy" The instance which we gave yesterday of this policy, pursued by the ministerial press of Paris and Vienna, is the only one among a thousand which could be offered, and which ought to have the effect of putting us at all times on our guard as to the intelligence conveyed through these channels.

It appears that the ship Howard, which reached this port the day before yesterday, from Havre, brought French papers of a later date than those which we gave in the Commercial of Thursday and Friday, and containing a clear and most satisfactory confirmation, not only of the great battle fought at the famous pass of Thermopylae, in which the Turks were routed with immense slaughter, but of the subsequent disasters of the invaders, until their final expulsion from the soil of liberty. From these details it would seem, that the official document we published yesterday related to a second battle, in which 3000 Turks were killed, and that we are yet without the government bulletin, containing the details of the splendid victory, which we hope may seal the emancipation of Greece, and place the victory forever beyond the control of the Ottoman tyranny. The following translations from the Paris Constitutionnel of the 14th Sept. for which we are indebted to the Philadelphia National Gazette of yesterday, furnish the particulars of this highly gratifying intelligence.

Com. Adv.

"AFFAIRS OF GREECE."

"The Austrian Observer gave us yesterday, on the affairs of Greece, details as truly distressing as erroneous. It is only necessary to examine dates to be comforted. In general, the Austrian Journal is to be read with much distrust. We do not say that it is not acquainted with facts, but it warps them to suit its views. In these recent transactions, the Observer, finding nothing that it likes in the late news, recurs to the past, and gives us intelligence from the 4th to the 22d of July, while, at the same time, it must have received fresher tidings, though indeed of a nature which it relishes less. We shall therefore, abstain from copying minute details, become now useless, and instead of confused and vague narratives, we shall offer a circumstantial statement of the affair of Thermopylae, which it has been attempted to deny, and add a detail of the last events in Peloponnesus, more recent than those related by the Austrian Observer."

"Corfu, Aug. 11.—We have just received certain news of the general defeat of the Turks. It took place at Thermopylae. It was the greatest battle which the Greeks have gained since their insurrection. Chouschid Pacha, with an army of 40,000 men, composed of the combined forces of Thessaly and Macedonia, and all the reinforcements from the bank of the Danube, attacked the Straits on the 26th July. The columns of the Turks which got entangled in the defile surrendered after great carnage, and the rest of the Turkish army took to flight. Pursued in his retreat, Chouschid Pacha took the rout of Pharsalia; but in this direction he found the defile of Trachis, about four leagues long, where he lost three-fourths of the remains of his army. From the village of Zoli to Thaumaco, the road remained blocked up with dead bodies." [These statements are accompanied by particular details of the battles.]

"The Sultan, after their two victories against Omar Pacha, continued their sallies from the heights of Krappa upon the Achaean, commanded by that Pacha, whose army, which at the beginning of June, amounted to 24,000 men, is now reduced to 7000."

"Zante, Aug. 12.—As soon as the Greek government was informed that a Turkish army had penetrated into Peloponnesus, and the Ottoman fleet had the same destination, it issued a proclamation calling all the inhabitants to arms."

"In consequence of this Proclamation, 7 or 8000 volunteer militia joined the troops of Patras. Four thousand Mainetes, in obedience to the orders of their chief Maynonichak, arrived at Calamata. The other Peloponnesians every where flew to arms, so that General Colocotronis and Maynonichak were enabled to march at the head of 16,000 men towards A. g. It was in the plains that they met the enemy, whom they defeated. The wreck of the Turkish army retreated on the side of Corinth, where a corps of about 6000 men, consisting of Turks of Patras and Lepanto, had just arrived. The victorious Greek army marched against these new enemies.—This second battle was fought on the 6th and 7th August, (15 days after the dates of the Austrian Observer) and took place in the plains of St. George, between Argos and Corinth. 3000 Turks perished. An account of the wounded and prisoners has yet been received; but about 2000 horses, 120 camels, and all the Turkish baggage and ammunition, fell into the hands of the Greeks; and the defeated enemy moved towards Corinth, whither they were followed with vigor by Colocotronis."

"Hydra, July 31.—A Turkish division of about 12,000 men had lately penetrated by Livadia into Peloponnesus, where it is now harassed by the inhabitants.—This is the same division, whose almost total destruction we announced in our number of the 7th September."

REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENTS.

From papers rec'd at N. York from Curracoa.

CURRACOA, SEPT. 26.

Arrived here, on the 20th instant, the Dutch brig Endracht, Sistare, of sixteen guns, with one hundred passengers, principally officers, under the command of Gen. Henry William Decoudray Holstein, formerly commander of the Fortress of Bocca Chica, destined to revolutionize the island of Porto Rico. She sailed from St. Barts on the 18th instant, in company with two transports; but on the night of the 14th separated from them, and sprung leak, which compelled the captain to throw over all his guns, and bear away for this port, she making three feet water an hour. On her arrival here, the commander of a Spanish frigate, having ascertained the nature of the expedition, demanded of the governor that, in justice to his nation, an inquiry should be made so as to find out the legality of their proceedings, and in case of their illegality, to confiscate the vessel and cargo; in consequence of which demand, the General in Chief was arrested, and the Captain is now attending trial for the protection of the vessel and cargo, which promises, as far as the (Fiscal) Marine Court have yet proceeded, to terminate in his favor—he endeavoring to prove the vessel a merchantman, and the cargo American property.

The sensation occasioned by the arrival of the Endracht was very considerable, and the conduct of Capt. Sistare, in endeavoring to save the vessel and cargo, with his unremitted attentions to that effect, have made him the subject of frequent conversation among the inhabitants. The appearance of so many military looking men among them during a time of profound peace, induces them to keep much on their guard—for the most of the gentlemen who accompanied the expedition have been in the North and South American armies—the latter with us.

The day previous to her arrival, the General Officers persisted in prosecuting her voyage as far as Laguna, instead of this place, notwithstanding her leaky condition—the General offering to the Captain $10,000 if he would comply with their request; but owing to their arbitrary and unwarrantable conduct, in wishing to fire into the American vessel, in order to compel her to take on board a part of the passengers, the indignation of the Captain was roused, who, seeing that the expedition had failed in its grand object, the attainment of men, immediately steered for this port, and placed the vessel and cargo in the hands of the American Consul for protection.

The American officers here cordially unite in rendering their thanks to Captain Sistare for his mastery and seaman-like conduct during the voyage, and the attentions he has paid to their uncomfortable situation since their arrival.

New York, Oct. 22.

We are favored by Captain Baker, with Curracoa papers to the 28th ult. inclusive. It appears from these, that the expedition under Morales, consisting of 1800 effective men, landed at Cojoro, 25 leagues to leeward of Maracaibo, on the 30th of August, and set out on the following day for the latter place, the General declaring he would take it, or perish in the attempt. On the 5d of September, six armed feluccas, and three flecheras, with two hundred troops, went over the bar and got safe into the Lagoon, without receiving any injury from the fort of San Carlos. The armed brig Gen. Riego, and six armed schooners, were stationed outside the bar to co-operate with the army. The foregoing intelligence reached Curracoa on the 13th ult. and up to the 28th, no further information of an authentic character had been received. It was rumoured that a letter from Aruba had been received, stating that Morales entered Maracaibo on the 5th—but other letters from the same place were entirely silent on the subject. It is possible the account which has reached Baltimore, from Laguna, of the capture of Maracaibo, may have originated from the same source.

The schooner which brought the letters to Curracoa from Aruba, reported that nine vessels were seen at anchor at Los Taguez, supposed to be a part of Morales' squadron, and that afterwards she fell in with two brig and four schooners, under Colombian colors, to whom she gave the information, when they made sail in quest of them.

NUTBUSH LANDS FOR SALE.

THE undersigned will offer for sale, at public auction, on the premises, on Monday the 2d day of December next, if fair, if not, on the next fair day, between 350 & 450 acres of the most valuable Nutbush Land; being part of the tract whereon Dr. John Hare resided at the time of his death. The lands are of the very best quality. They embrace the junctions of Indian Creek and Crooked Run with Nutbush. The low grounds, which are very little inferior, if any, to the best of those of the Roanoke, will produce at least 500 barrels of Indian Corn annually; they produce also Tobacco of the first quality. The greater part of the high lands are inferior to none in the county, it is believed. They are situated about two and a half or three miles from Williamsborough, where there is and has been for years a flourishing and well regulated Male Academy, and there is now a fair prospect of having a most excellent Female one. One, two & three years credit will be given to the purchaser, paying interest from the date; or should it be preferred, Bank accommodation can be had for the greater part of the purchase money. The lands will be shown in the mean time by either of the subscribers, or by Mr. Knott, Mrs. Hare's overseer, or by Mr. Loo, Treas. RICHARD BULLOCK, LEO HENDERSON, Executors of Dr. Hare. Raleigh Register.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1822.

At Halifax Superior Court, last week, Judge Daniel presiding, came on the trials of Mark Chase, of New-Hampshire, and James Walling, alias Walden, of New-Jersey, who were indicted for the murder of negro Smith, the property of Mr. Brown. They were tried separately, and one of the prisoners, Chase, upon very strong circumstantial evidence, was found guilty of murder in the first degree.—Nothing appearing in evidence against the other prisoner, Walling, he was acquitted.

Chase being called to the Bar to receive the sentence of the Court, and the usual interrogatory being put, "whether he had any thing to say, why sentence of death should not be pronounced upon him," replied, that he was innocent of the charge preferred against him, and that Harmon Peters, one of the witnesses in behalf of the State, was the murderer, and that he could substantiate the charge. He then called upon Walden, who had been previously acquitted, to rest the truth of his accusation, who also declared the witness to have been the perpetrator. Peters, by suggestion of the prisoner's counsel, was immediately arrested, and is now confined in Jail, to await his trial for the crime. Sentence was, nevertheless, pronounced against Chase, and the day of execution fixed for Friday the 29th November. No doubt application will be made to the Executive, to grant a respite of the sentence, until the matter be properly investigated.

It is but justice to add, that Walden, though unfortunately implicated in this business, is a man of unexceptionable character.
