Battle Song of a Grecian Soldier's Lady GO forth !-like the sun in his might

GO forth !- like the dawning of day May the plume on thy helm be the star of the fight,

And thy brand be the flash of the fray I love thee-yet ne'er be it said,

That love did thy spirit restrain ; I had rather behold thee a hero and dead,

Than a coward in life to remain. Then "forward and fear not !" thy bat tle cry be ;

With glory return, or return not to me !

I could joy o'er thy corpse, though my

Should wash the red wounds death had made ;

For each crimson gash like a ruby ap-

On the front if it be but displayed ! But O! my soul never could bear

The thought that thou fled'st from the foe :

One scar on thy back would awaken des-

And give to my heart its death blow ; Then "forward and fear not !" thy battle cry be ;

With glory return, and in welcome to

PROFANE SWEARING.

Among the vices which fashion has too great a share in encouraging, none is of worse example, or less excusable than that of profane swearing, or the practice of interlarding one's conversation on all occasions, even the most triffing, with appeals to the Deity. A general officer, who is a living and illustrious example of the perfect compatibility of the most gentlemanly manners with the strictest purity of language, but who was in early life much addicted to this fashionable sin, dates his reformation from a memorable reproof which he accidentally received when a young man, from an eccentric Scottish Clergyman, settled in ! the north of England. While stationed with his regiment at New Castle, he had the misfortune, one evening, They pledge themselves that their work shall to get involved in a secret brawl with be executed with punctuality and dispatch, some percops of the lower order ; and the dispute, as is too usual in such cases, was carried on with an abundance of audacious oaths on both sides. The clergyman alluded to, passing by at the moment, and being much shocked at the imprecations which assailed his ears, stepped into the midst of the crowd, and, with his cane uplifted, thus gravely addressed one of the principal leaders of the rabble : " Oh, John, John, what's this now I hear ? You only a poor collier body, and swearing. like any lord in a' the land ! O, John, hae ye nae fear what will come o' von ? It may do very well for this braw gentleman here," pointing to Lieut. ----, "to bang and swear as he pleases, but, John, it's no for you, or the like o' you, to take in vain the name o' Him by whom you live and have your being." Then turning to the Lieutenant, he continued. " Ye'll excuse the poor man, sir, for swearing; he's an ignorant body, and kens nae better." Liegt. ----, slank away, covered with confusion, and unable to make any answer : but next day he made it his business to find out the worthy parson, and thanked him in the sincerest manner for his well-timed admonition, which he had, as he assured him, and as the result bas shown, cured him forever of a most hateful practice. Close Preaching .- Some time in the summer of 1806, Bishop M'Kendree, then presiding elder of the district, was preaching near Maysville (or Limestone, as it is called) the landing place for most of the emigrants to the upper part of the state of Kentucky. His subject naturally led him to enlarge on extortion. It was here that the emigrants were frequently exposed to impositions of various kinds from want of a knowledge of the prices of different commodities, with his usual ingeauity he pressed the subject very closely. "Yes, said he, it frequently happens that some take the advantage of the poor emigrant too, that has removed to your fine country to become your neighbor and fellow-citizen : you sell him your corn or other produce at a double price, and the corn, when it is only worth fifty cents to the bushel, you can ask a dollar; ah ! and receive it too of the poor man who has to grapple with misfortunes to support his family !" An aged gentleman sitting near the door was discovere : to become more and more uneasy. His hoary locks, gave him a venerable cast, but the emotions of his mind were such as to operate upon

Beath-bed saying of Sir Isade Newton .-.... I do not know (said the great. philosopher, a little before his death.) what I may appear to the world; but to myself I seem to have been only, like a boy playing on the sea-shore, and diverting myself now and then finding a smoother pebble, or a prettier shell than ordinary, whilst the great ocean of truth lay all undiscovered before me."

SHARON FOR SALE.

GNHE place on which I reside, may be had a on reasonable terms, for negotiable paper with Bank accommodation. It contains about 49 acres of Land, of good quality, bor-dering on the City of Baleigh, and on a public road leading from the City. Sixte m or eighteen acres are cleared and under cultivation, the rest is covered with a heavy forest growth, abounding with fire-wood and timber. The land contains an excellent rock quarry; is well watered by branches, and has two rock springs near the house, equal probably to any in the county. My dwelling is about 300 yards from the town line. The situation, therefore, has the advantages of town and country united, and is, in my estimation, the most desirable spot for a residence that I know in the State .- Apply soon. H. POTTER.

FOR SALE,

Tract of Land in the county of Warren, containing, by an old survey, 700 acres, and lying near the Stage road leading from Warrenton to Petersburg, about ten miles from the former place, and five from Robinson's Ferry, over the Roaneke. The above Land is well calculated for the production of Wheat, Corn, Cotton or Tobacco. There is on it a comfortable dwelling-house for a small family, and most out-houses usually found on a farm in this country. There is open land enough to work eight or ten hands to advantage, on the three-shift system; at this time well inclosed, and in a state of improvement. I will sell on a credit or make an exchange for young Negroes.
