

POETRY.

The following beautiful appeal to the charitable, was written by a gentleman in Montreal, when the distress of the poor in that place, called loudly on the charity of the opulent, during the hard winter of 1817 & 18.

From the Ladies' Literary Cabinet.

MATERNAL AFFECTION.

Who that has seen a mother fondly bending over her infant babe, and gazing with the mixed feelings of love and tenderness on the image which it presents to her, that will withhold the tribute of respect.

From the Dutches Observer.

THE GRAVE OF A MOTHER.

"And say, when summoned from the world and thee, I lay my head beneath the willow tree: Will thou, sweet mourner, at my stone appear."

It was a pleasant evening in November, that I entered the grave yard. The moon shone in her midnight meridian; not a cloud was visible in the firmament, save one dark and heavy, that hung in the west, and portended wind and rain.

rious in the stillness of the grave yard; when the mind is made to feel its weakness, and to turn with reverence and admiration to that being who governs the destinies of all, who speaks in the thunder's voice, and often says to man in the vivid lightning, "thou shalt die."

RELIGION clashes with the corrupt inclinations of the human heart; wherefore it must always be opposed by depraved men. Religion, notwithstanding this opposition of man, from the creation to the present day has preserved itself firm and unvaried.

The time which is redeemed from wrong is of little value, if not dedicated to what is right; and it is not enough that the doctrines of the Gospel furnish a subject for discussion, if they do not furnish a principle of action.

Unfortunate Case.—A zealous Priest in the north of Ireland, missed a constant auditor from his congregation, in which schism had already made depredations, "What keeps our friend, farmer B—, away from us?"

Paper Mill, Saw and Grist Mill and Crushing Machine, OR CHATELAIN, NEAR RALEIGH. THE above Mills being now in complete operation, the Proprietor requests good Housekeepers throughout the State, to lay aside for the use of his Paper Mill every piece of useless Rag, & send them, as they accumulate, to Merchants who will receive them, (of which there are a number in different parts of the State) or hand them to some poor person who makes a living by collecting materials for the Mill, or send them to his store in Raleigh; as, from the improved and enlarged construction of his present establishment, a greater quantity of his essential article will be required than formerly.

The Grist Mill being in fine order (with good Bolting Cloth) and a careful Mill provided, Families who may send their grain to this Mill may rely on its being well and expeditiously ground. And having erected an excellent Rock Dam, it is presumed there will be no want of water in the driest time. The crushing of the Cob with the Grist Mill having been found to be not only a great saving, but to furnish a more wholesome flour, it is presumed the Crushing Machine will be considered an acceptable addition to this establishment. Such as may wish it, may have their crushed Corn and Cobs put through the Grist Mill also.

A good Wood having been opened to the Mills on the South side of the Creek, the Wagon Road from town is thereby shortened and greatly improved. J. GALES.

BLANKS. Of almost every description may be had at this office.
