THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1830.

NO. 1,410.

Disappointment.—Our City was filled with persons from the country, on Friday last, who came with the expectation of witnessing the Execution of Elijah W. Kimbrough of Tennessee, convicted, at the Spring Term of our Superior Court, of the murder of John Davis of this county. The Prisoner was sentenced to be hanged on the 30th of July, but a motion was submitted at the time for a new trial, as well as in arrest of judgment which being overruled by Judge MARTIN, an appeal was taken, for the purpose of bringing the contested points before the Supreme Court—which appeal had the effect of suspending the sentence of Execution. The probable reason which influenced Judge MARTIN to fix upon so distant a day as the 30th of July, was, that the Prisoner might be enabled to carry up his case by certiorari, in the event of his inability to give security for the appeal. The case was fully argued before the Supreme Court, two or three weeks since, by Attorney General SAUNDERS for the State and Messrs. SEAWELL and BADGER for the Prisoner, but the decision of the Judges will not be promulgated until the Court adjourns. If the exceptions taken by the Prisoner's Counsel are sustained, Kimbrough will again be put upon his trial. If they are not sustained, it will be certified to the Court below, who will pronounce judgment according to law.

Supreme Court.—Kenneth Rayner, of Bertie, and Nathaniel W. Kerr, of Danville, Va. have been admitted to the practice of Law in this State—the former in the County, and the latter in the Superior Courts.

The Descriptive.—It has been said by foreigners, that Americans are remarkable for using high flown words in describing the most trivial occurrences. We think we may safely defy any of our countrymen, to equal the grandiloquence displayed by an English Editor, who in commenting on the enormities of a gang of sheep stealers, says:—"The unfeeling wretches who mangled the sheep, have seen perhaps an unexpected effect of their wickedness, and the horrifying accumulation of their responsibility in eternity."

Another paper in noticing a hail storm which occurred recently, observes, "it lasted about half an hour with great violence; many of the stones, or rather, agglutinated concretions of indurated hail, measured nearly three inches in circumference."

In the last Message which Mr. Adams sent to Congress, the following passage occurs, in relation to the powers of the General and State Governments:

"The case of a conflict between these two powers has not been supposed; nor has any provision been made for it in our institutions; as a virtuous nation of ancient times existed more than five centuries without a law for the punishment of parricide."

What a delicate, yet cutting rebuke this, to the political disorganizers who are meditating the dissolution of the Union?

The Weather.—We scarcely open a paper from any part of the Union, which does not mention the excessive warmth of the weather. The heat has been quite oppressive here, though our Thermometers have not ranged as high, as in places farther north. The Mercury rose on Tuesday last to 95 but has rarely exceeded 90. From the complaints of the New-York and Philadelphia Editors they must have had a full specimen of the scorching heat which Goldsmith described as belonging to the torrid zone:—

Those blazing suns that dart a downward ray,
And fiercely shed intolerable day.

In Washington City too, we hear the heat has been very oppressive, the Mercury ranging from 86 to 96; and what makes the matter worse, night is said to bring no abatement of the heat. In this climate we are greatly favored in having almost invariably, a pleasant breeze night and morning.

In Richmond the Thermometer has risen to 97; in Baltimore, to 91; in Philadelphia, to 96; in New-York, to 91; in Boston, to 91; in New Jersey, to 100; in Saratoga to 92; in Connecticut, to 99; in Providence, to 95.

The Philadelphia papers state that five persons died in that city on the 21st from the severe effects of the heat and drinking cold water.

In two days, 6 men belonging to the Russian corvette lying in that port, died from the effects of excessive heat, in preparing the ship for sea.

On the 22d a man by the name of McFarland, died on board a vessel where he was at work, from excessive heat. His body was taken home to his residence; his wife started for a physician in great haste; on her way she stopped at a pump to drink, fell down shortly after and expired—she was taken home immediately and laid out a corpse by the side of her husband.

On the same day in New-York, a man named Thomas Dougherty, returning from the funeral of a relative, stopped at a pump in Division street, & after drinking fell down in a convulsive state. He was taken to a house and medical assistance obtained, but in vain. He has left a wife and two children.

On the next day, a man named Smith, driver of one of the Bowery Stages, died in Mott street in consequence of having drunk cold water; while the coroner was yet holding an inquest on the body, he was called to inquire into another case of death which resulted from the same cause.

Cold Comfort.—The Editor of the Boston Courier attempts to console the pale faced Southrons, who, notwithstanding the Tariff, are flocking to the Northern Cities in crowds, in search of health or pleasure. The heat is so oppressive that the South-Carolinians and Georgians who have visited Boston, begin to think they have "jumped out of the frying pan into the fire." The Courier insists however that the present is not a fair specimen of the Boston Weather, and kindly advises their Southern friends, to come again in January, when, he says, "we can show them how we manufacture the ice that now cools their Champagne, and makes their Claret and Lemonade so delicious."

University of Virginia.—The visitors of this University have just terminated a session of ten days, during which the vacancy in the Law Professorship of that Institution was supplied by the appointment of John A. G. Davis of Charlottesville. The place of Secretary to the Board of Visitors, vacated by the above appointment, was conferred on Dr. Frank Carr, of Charlottesville.

At present there are four candidates for the crown of Greece: The second son of the King of the Netherlands Prince Albert of Prussia, the Prince of Hesse, and the Bavarian Prince.

Speaking of Mr. Chilton, the Louisville Focus observes:—

"A majority of Mr. Chilton's district, we are informed on good authority, sustain him in the highminded independent, and truly patriotic course pursued by him during the late session of Congress. The meeting which called on Mr. Chilton to resign, was composed of about a dozen persons."

Mr. Chilton's District was among the most decidedly Heroic, in Kentucky.

TROTTER relates ten cases of a combustion of the human body from the use of ardent spirits, all of which are attended by proofs sufficient to authenticate any possible event. One of the cases is stated in the following language:—

"It is the case of a woman eighty years of age, exceedingly meagre, who had drunk nothing but ardent spirits for several years. She was sitting in her elbow chair, while her waiting maid went out of the room for a few moments. On her return, seeing her mistress on fire, she immediately gave the alarm, and some people coming to her assistance, one of them endeavored to extinguish the flames with his hands, but they adhered to them as if they had been dipped in brandy or oil on fire. Water was brought and thrown on the lady in abundance, yet the fire appeared more violent, and was not extinguished, till the whole body had been consumed. The lady was in the same place in which she sat every day; there was no extraordinary fire, and she had not fallen."

Value of Newspapers.—The Marshal, who has been taking the Census in the neighborhood of Pittsburg, remarks, that wherever he finds a newspaper lying about a house, the inhabitants are civil and communicative; while, where no paper is taken, the inmates are unwilling to expose their numbers.

Epitaphs in the year 2000.—An article has recently appeared in a British Magazine, entitled "A visit supposed to be made in the year 2000, to the grand national cemetery in the Regent's Park." The following is a specimen of the style:

"The eye rests upon a square stone, perfectly free from ornament, covered with curiously cut characters that resembled neither the Greek, Chinese, or Sanscrit. As far as I could decipher them, they ran thus:—

In honor of Robert Owen, the Prince of Parallelograms, the Architect of Aerial Castles, & the Hero of Good Intentions. After seeing all his plans understood and acted upon, he retired to his cottage, near the North Pole; where he introduced order and sociality among the Bears, and prepared his code of laws for the government of St. Luke's. This marble was raised to his memory by the inhabitants of a Lunatic Asylum in New Harmony.

The Milledgeville Recorder says that Mr. Templeton Reid of that town has stamped about $1500 worth of Georgia Gold, with handsome dies, shewing the actual value of each piece of metal, in parcels of $2 50, $5 and $10. Mr. R. also intends making an establishment in the gold region for the purpose of assaying and marking the gold as it may be found, which will be a great convenience & saving to the miners who have heretofore been obliged to part with the precious metal in its crude state at a loss of from five to fifteen per cent.

Louisiana.—The Election for Governor of this State, and for Members of the Legislature, took place on the 8th inst. The returns for Governor, as far as received, give for A. B. Roman 2043 votes; for A. Beauvais 932 votes; for W. S. Hamilton 597 votes; and for D. Randall 344 votes. It seems probable that the Election will have resulted in favor of the first named of these gentlemen.

At the same time took place the Election of Representatives to Congress. In the New Orleans District, there was no opposition to the re-election of Edward D. White, the present Representative.—From the two other Districts we have yet no material returns.—Nat. Int.

Mr. Clay being on a visit to Columbus, Ohio, on professional business before the U. S. Circuit Court, the Mechanics of the town tendered to him the compliment of a public dinner, which he accepted, and was to receive on the 22d inst. The Columbus State Journal says, "we are much gratified to see so spontaneous a movement, and general concert of action in this most respectable and worthy class of our fellow citizens." This class of citizens seem every where disposed to take their political affairs into their own hands—a sad state of things for demagogues, and politicians by trade.—Ib.

At the late Westminster Election Dinner in London, Mr. O'Connell said—"He gloried in proclaiming himself a Radical Reformer; by which he understood Universal Suffrage, Vote by Ballot, and Annual Parliaments." This was equivalent to a proclamation of war ad internecionem against the British Constitution and Government. A wise reformer would confine himself at first to what could be deemed practicable. Very wild projects sometimes bring into suspicion the sincerity of the projector.—Nat. Gaz.

Natural Curiosity.—On Saturday last, we were presented by a citizen of this county, with a chicken with four feet, four wings, two necks, two bodies and one head, all the parts appear to be perfectly well formed, with the exception of the bodies, which are joined somewhat in the manner of the Siamese Twins—both necks are united, at the proper place, to the head.—Warrenton Reporter.

Francis Granger, has been nominated for Governor of New-York, by the electors of the county of Suffolk (Long Island). Thus there will be three candidates supported by different political interests—Enos T. Troop, the acting Governor, by the Regency, or Van Buren Party, or to speak more accurately, the Republican Party—Erastus Root, by the Working Men—Francis Granger, by Anti-Jacksonians, supported by the Anti-Masons, and probably thousands of independent citizens. It is predicted by several N-York papers, that Granger's nomination will be enthusiastically seconded through the State.—Rich. Whig.

The Common Council, on Wednesday, passed an ordinance, authorizing a subscription of stock to the amount of twenty thousand dollars, in the Virginia and North-Carolina Transportation Company. This sum, it is estimated, will enable the Company to supply all deficiencies in the process of navigation and transportation, (which have heretofore limited their operations,) and to afford facilities, if required, to individual enterprise.

Norfolk Herald.

The New-York Commercial Advertiser states, upon the authority of a communication from "a most honorable source," that Mr. Randolph took airs with the Commander of the ship of war in which he has embarked, as soon as he got on board. He directed Capt. Perry to sail immediately, though the Surgeon & Purser of the ship were still in Norfolk. She did not sail, however, until the next morning. This story may not be quite exact, but we shall not be surprised to hear of some portentous freak or fracas—perhaps of the arrival of a Minister Plenipotentiary at Cronstadt in durance vile. We know Captains of the Navy, as well as Commanders of Packets, who would rather take the sea serpent or the ghost of Dr. Faustus, across the Atlantic, than the Orator of Roanoke.—Nat. Gaz.

Danville, Ky. July 17.

The proposition made at the last anniversary of the Danville Colonization Society, by a gentleman of the Trowel, has been promptly met. Eleven other gentlemen have subscribed their names as life members, at $10 each, making the round sum of $120. This in addition to other sums collected from our philanthropic citizens, makes the net sum of $220, sufficient to transport ten free blacks to Liberia. Let other Societies do as much, and the people of Danville and its vicinity will try again; and may Heaven prosper the work.

There is truth, freely but candidly spoken, in the subjoined concluding paragraph of an Essay which recently caught our eye in the Middlesex (Conn.) Gazette under the signature of Civis. We agree with the writer entirely that it was in the power of Gen. JACKSON, if he had cast off the trammels which were thrown over him the moment he set his foot within this District, so to have administered the government, as to increase his popularity, rather than diminish it. He had only to follow the magnanimous counsel which, in the year 1817, he gave to Mr. Monroe, then about to enter upon the Presidency, and he would have been rewarded, on his retirement, at the end of the Presidential term with almost universal approbation.—Nat. Intell.

"The want of confidence of half the nation in the government, does not arise from any perversity of the people. It has its origin in the measures and appointments of the administration, and can never be remedied, unless by the improvement of the administration itself. If the President, with firmness and ability would set his face against all intrigue, and discountenance every mean artifice with all its abettors, he might soon change the face of affairs in every department of government. Let him patronize no scurrilous and licentious press as the vehicle for publishing the laws, & discountenance every attempt of one half to domineer over the other, and to insult them by carrying important measures by a bare constitutional majority, which is in fact a real numerical minority of the free population. Let him shew the same regard to honor, integrity, and right, in his nominations to office, and in his transactions with the Indian tribes, as he would consider himself bound to do in his personal dealings with a private man. Let the majority of the legislature, and of the executive officers, then imitate his example. We should soon have the best administration, as we long have had the most loyal people, of any government in the world."

The following is an extract from the Oration delivered by A. H. Everett, Esq. at Boston on the 5th inst.

"When Charles Carroll of Carrollton crossed the hall, another member sportively remarked, as he passed before him—'There goes half a million of money at the dash of a pen!' The clear and beautiful character of his signature evinces that his mind was undisturbed by the sinister prediction. Carroll was immensely rich; but he reckoned his gold as dross in comparison with honor, conscience and liberty. He chose wisdom in preference to wealth—I mean true wisdom—the wisdom of the Scriptures—which is Honesty, Virtue, Religion; and experience has shown that, in his case, as in every other, length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand, riches and honor. Charles Carroll of Carrollton is the only signer who survives to witness the fifty-fourth anniversary of this great day—to receive, as the living representative of his fellow-signers, the grateful homage of the country. He survives with undiminished wealth; and I may add, with undiminished alacrity to stake it without hesitation upon the result of any honorable and useful enterprise. We heard but lately that he had invested a princely sum, not less, I believe, than fifty thousand dollars, in the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road; and when we heard it, fellow-citizens, we regretted the more that the race of the signers of the Declaration was extinct in this vicinity. How beautiful is the evening of such a life! Long may he survive to enjoy the honors he has nobly earned—the wealth he employs so well—and may he celebrate, in health and happiness, many anniversaries like this before the grave shall finally close upon the mortal remains of the last of the Signers."

On the 25th ult. the Rev. Josiah James Kirkpatrick, Pastor of the Presbyterian Congregation of Fayetteville. He was ordained to the holy office of the Gospel Ministry and installed to the pastoral charge with the reasonable hope and expectation of seeing the work of the Lord prosper through his instrumentality.—But, alas! a few brief days, and he was called from his labor.

On the 21st ult. at his residence in Mason Co. Ky. Colonel Duval Payne, in the 67th year of his age. His father was Mr. William Payne, a very respectable; high minded, and honorable gentleman, of Fairfax county, Va.; the same who (as related by Ramsay, in his life of Washington,) once, on a sudden quarrel in the Courthouse yard, in Alexandria, struck General (then Colonel) Washington to the ground.

GEO. W. GRONLUND,
PROFESSOR OF MUSIC.

RESPECTFULLY informs the Ladies and Gentlemen of Plymouth, Washington, Newbern, Raleigh, Fayetteville, and other places in the route through North-Carolina, that he is now on his tour visiting the above mentioned places, for the purpose of TUNING & STRINGING PIANO FORTES.
Mr. G. makes it for the present, expressly his business, travelling through the State, for the purpose above mentioned; not because he cares for how many persons have gone or intend going through that district ignorant of their business, but simply because he feels desirous of honorably earning a few dollars. He will take care to procure recommendations from highly respectable persons in Edenton, where he is now employed in Tuning PIANOS & ORGANS, so that those who in future may feel disposed to honor him with their patronage, may not be deterred from doing so, by the repeated malicious insinuations of a certain unworthy individual.

Mr. S. does not make a practice of travelling in the country, for the purpose mentioned in this advertisement; but so many persons, having gone through that district, who know nothing at all of the business, has induced him to undertake the contemplated trip. No pay unless the parties are satisfied.
