

"LIKE ORIENT PEARLS AT RANDOM STRUNG."

STANZAS. BY THE ABTHOR OF 'RICHLIBU. I've sat and seen one bright wave chase Its fellow on the strand, Then fell away, nor leave a trace Upon the printless sand-Though scarce the pe les felt the shock, The waves have worn the solid rock!

I've sat and heard the autumn wind Amid the branches play, So softly mild, so headly k nd, I t scarcely stirred the spray-Yet it soon bore spring's verdant birth To wither on its native earth.

I've sat and seen the evening sun Sink from the golden sky, His long bright race of glory run, And close his golden eye; And slow he passed, scarce changed the light And yet he left the world in night.

And like you sea, in humble life, Events like billows roll, Moment on moment, strife on strife, That change us, to the soul; And joys, like autumn leaves, fall fast-Hope sits and being's light is past.

I've stood on earth's most daring height, And seen day's ruler rise, In his magnificence of light, To triumph through the skies, And all the darkness of the world Far from his shining presence hurled.

All too, that fades upon the earth, Too weak to linger here, Re-blossoms with a second birth, To deck the coming year; Shall hope, then, man's eternal dower, Be frailer than a fading flower?

Ah, no! like autumn leaves that die, That bloom again in spring, Fresh juys shall rise from those gone by, And purer incense bring, And when, like suns, hope sets in night, Shall she not beam from worlds more bright
