

MEIRE ORIENT PEARLS AT RANDOM STRUNG.

THE DEVOTED.

oft was a beautiful turn given by a great lady who being asked where her husband was when he by concealed for having been deeply concerned in a conspiracy, resolutely answered that she had hidden him. This confession caused her to be carried before the Governor, who told her that nothing but confession where she had hidden him could save her from the torture. "And will that do?" said she. "Yes," replied the Governor, "I will pass my word or safety on that condition." "Then," replied the, I have hidden him in my heart."

Stern faces were around her bent, And eyes of vengful ire, And fearful were the words he spake, And learnet were the words he spake,
Of forture, stake, and fire;
Yet calmly in the midst she stood,
With eye undimmed and clear,
And though her lip and cheek were white,
She breathed no sigh of fear.

Where is thy traitor spouse," they said;
A half formed smile of scorn, That corled upon her haughty lip, Was back for answer borner

Where is thy traitor spouse?" again, In fiercer tones they said, And sternly pointed to the rack, All rusted o'er with red!

Her heart and pulse beat firm and free-But in a crimson flood, O'er pallid lip, and cheek and brow, Rushed up the burning blood! She spake,—but proudly rose her tones.
As when in hall or bower, The haughtiest chief that round her stock Had meekly owned her power.

"My noble lord is placed within A safe and sure setreat'-New tell us where, thou lady bright, As thou would mercy meet: Nor deem thy life can purchase his-He cannot 'scape our wrath, For many a warrior's watchful eye Is placed o'er every path.

But then may'st win his broad estates. To grace thy infant heir, And life and honor for thyself .-So thou his haunts declare." She laid her hand upon her heart; Her eve flashed proud and clear, And firmer grew her haughty tread-"My lord is hidden HERE!

"And if you seek to view his form, Ye first must teur away, From round his secret dwelling place, These walls of living clay. They quailed beneath her lofty glance-They silent turned aside,

And left her all unharmed, amidst Her loveliness and pride!
