COMMUNICATIONS. FOR THE REGISTER. The prospect of Death.

THE Subscribers have formed a Copartnership A writer who wielded a vigorous pen, in under the Firm of FREEMAN & STITES, and his meditations on the prospect of death, offer their services to the public as General Agents makes the following beautiful remark:

A dispute has long existed between my mortal frame and death, and though I have long maintained the struggle with a life subject to disease and pain, I must, at last, yield to the universal conqueror, and be borne to the house appointed for all living.

To the man who is prepared to die, the prospect of death has no terrors ; neither does it create sadness of heart, nor does it alarm the soul; he knows he has to die, and, with Job, he knows his Redeemer lives, and when the hour arrives which separates his soul from its associate, the body, he enters undismayed in the dark and lonely valley which is the gateway into the abodes of they may deem fit for the action of this light and life.

A momentary gloom may indeed hang upon his brow, as nature is sinking; she may struggle in the last pangs, but as life and the world recede, the disclosing glories will scatter every gloom, and the hitherto unknown realities of the upper world are ing other amendments, were unanimously be united in the hands of the President and his exhibited to his view.

His diseased body may toss and tumble on his death-bed, but his hope is fixed within the veil.

Weeping and lamentation may attend his feless body, to its dreary mansion, but his departed soul shall wing her flight above to join the everlasting song of praise to God and to the Lamb-to God for providing a blood to redeem him.

Christ will be to him a shield and lamp in the night of death; hence dissolution itself, though it be terror and darkness to evil-doers, is joy and peace to all whom God has adopted as sons. WHIG MEETINGS.

WHIG MEETING AT ROUND HILL.

A large and respectable meeting assembled at Round Hill on the 18th inst. to consider of the propriety of appointing Delegates to the Convention to be held at Hillsboro' on the 31st inst.

On motion, Wm. Harris was called to the Chair, and Wm. D. Parker was appointed Socretary. The Chairman having announced the meeting as organized and ready to proceed to business, E. G. Mangum rose and addressed the meeting, explaining the nature and importance of the objects in view: whereupon it was unanimously determined to appoint delegates to said Convention.

On motion of E.G. Mangum, it was voted that the Chairman should appoint a committee of three persons, to report whatever meeting. The Chair announced E. G. Mangum, John Duke and Benjamin Hester as the Committee; who, having retired, afterwards reported the following Preamble and Resolutions; which, after filling the blank with the names of the delegates, and makadopted in the following form, viz:

"WHEREAS, it is a high and unalienable right of freemen to assemble and consult together touching public matters; which sacred and inestimable right has been guaranteed to us by our bill of rights of ple, for good or for evil: That the period has arrived when the great question must be decided, whether the opinions and policy of our rulers, or the opinions and policy of the people, shall prevail: That the Sub-Treasury and other financial measures of the President and his followers are made the great questions of the Administration, though three times rejected by the people, and the people's representatives; so that the real and true issue to be tried, is. whether the President, his office holders and hopers for office, and adherents, shall prove too strong for have the strongest confidence, that it is only necessary to state the question, to have it decided; that they will rebuke with the strongest vengeance, those presumptuous rulers, who would set themselves up as the masters of the people.

And whereas our late Representative in Congress, awaits all who will not answer nor under- the Hon Wm, Montgomery (who again offers to represent us) is a steadfast adherent of those in power, and of course a supporter of their measures and policy generally, and whereas we believe those measures are profoundly hostile to the liberty and and reflected upon than death, and yet it is, best interests of the States and the people; therefore ed no lofty, manly and indignant denunciations of consult with the Whigs of the District and endeathing valuable in both worlds. Its medita- vour to fix upon some sound Republican Whig as time of profound peace, with a revenue of thirty an opponent to the late member: to whose re-election we are opposed for divers reasons, too numerous to be comprehended, or even glanced at, in a succinct compend suitable to an occasion like this -but especially,

1st. Because of his unscrupulous support of an Administration which has increased the expenditures of the General Government from thirteen millions to nearly forty millions of dollars a year, in a season of profound peace with foreign nations; while he, the said member, professes to the people GOODMAN is said to have exclaimed in his to be a disciple of the old Republican school of cheap government and economical expenditure. We are How have I dreaded as an enemy this republicans, and approve his professions in this respect, but pointedly condemn his practice.

2d. Because he ardently supports an Administration whose open and avowed policy is, to lessen the price of the public lands, to grant them in preemption titles to squatters, and ultimately to surrender them to the States respectively in which they lie; by which the old States (and North Carolina among them, as one of the old thirteen.) will be deprived of their respective shares of more than eight hundred millions of acres of public lands. All this the said member does, or did, while he pretends to be the greatest stickler in the district for our rights in which awaits them. They begin to pray, said lands. So much for profession and so much

3d. Because we have seen no instance of his firmness to resist any measure of the President, or any member of his cabinet, that came recommended to thing; they die in their sins and to hell they | Congress so as to show the Administration had it sink to be tormented in the unextinguisha- much at heart. Hence we think, we may fairly auble flame. Man was created to be happy, gur, that no such instance of firmness would be shown in the future. We, as republicans, desire our member to represent us, the people, and not to look to any partisan of the Administration as his of earth to the joys of heaven, and by his fugleman, so as to represent those in power rather wood and the gall are more palatable to his 4th. Because we think we observe a culpable want of firmness, in yielding both his speech and vote to the wishes of Amos Kendall, the Postmaster General, by conferring on him the money bags of the people, containing heavy sums, to be used at ration of the meeting : his discretion, free from regulation and restriction stitutions, where the ruler ough; to feel himself the servant, and not the master of the people. We do member shall be independent of all influence, except the influence of his constituents, and his conscientious sense of duty.

5th, Because we severely condemn the Atherton cancus, and the course of our late member in going into that caucus-whereby he compromitted, as far years resided within about four or five miles as he could, the great peculiar interest of the South. To go into caucus with New Englanders and others, (and for party purposes as we believe.) who have ne common interest with us, to settle questions afa knowledge of, and that is a knowledge of feeting this great and vital interest of the South!drinking spirits: and I can say, that I have to go into caucus, on this subject, with men who heard her called a witch; so that if she has habitually sneer and scoff at us, as tyrants and slave drivers, or denounce the institution as against sound morality and the law of God !- to go into caucus on this subject, and with the open enemies of the some cases of Rheumatism of very long institution, is to jeopard this vital interest, and to standing in that vicinity, and those too, put the famb in the clutches of the wolf' for safe keeping. We had as well go into caucus upon the Constitution, to determine whether we will live under it, or prefer living under an irresponsible set of fer a remedy for them. Messrs. Editors, office holders! Our representative was a member as for the certificates she has, I will be short of that caucus or cabal, while he professes to abhor and plain concerning them, I do not believe abolition. So much again for profession, and so much for practice. We as Southern men and Re- Holt, were chosen to compose the com-publicans, protest against going into caucus on this interest with its enemies. It belongs wholly to the States, and the people of the States, in which it exists. And our late member, by seeking from a party caucus a safe-guard, which the constitution already gives us, seems to consider the Constitution as nothing, and a party caucus as every thing.

6th. We oppose the re-election of the late member, because he perseveres in the support of the sub-Treasury, though so decidedly rejected by Congress and the people, and a large majority of the States of this Union. This may be republicanism; but we, however, can see but little difference between an absolute monarchy, and a government (whatever its name) that will not yield to the voice and votes of its constituents so repeatedly addressed to it. There is scarcely an instance in the history of England for more than a century, in which the King has not been compelled to yield to a fixed majority of Parliament. Has it come to this, in the very infancy of our Republic, that the President will obstinately perseve in an attempt to accomplish against the voice of the people so often expressed what none of the Kings of England for a century, backed by his nobility and all their patronage, have effected in that country, when the faithful Commons, "the servants of the people," had taken their stand, and that Doctor Montgomery backs the President in it, and he, the Doctor, expects us as freemen, to back him, even against ourselves? We cannot support the Doctor in his attempt to force on the country this odious measure against the public will, by which the sword and the purse will underlings; by which two currencies will be created, the gold and silver for the government and the office holders, and bank paper (which in that case must be under par) for the people, by which the government will exact from the people every blessed revolutionary memory; and whereas, in our year, thirty mill on; of dollars or upwards in opinion, the condition of public affairs admonishes gold and silver, refusing to receive a dollar in Bank the great mass of the people of the necessity of in- notes, which the people are obliged to use. We creased vigilance and activity in detecting the abu- think that money which is good enough for the ses and mal-administration of the government, and people, ought to be good enough for the governapplying the necessary corrective; and whereas, we ment and its office-holders. The people, by the believe we have reached a crisis that menaces the theory of our government, are the creators and the integrity of the Constitution, and involves the deep- masters of the government. We think, what is est and weightiest interests of the States and the peo- good enough for 'master," is good enough for 'man." Here the 'man' surrenders the empty theory to the 'master,' while he takes all the benefit of the practice. He pockets the gold and silver, while the 'master' is fobbed off with bank rags !-A happy scheme for office holders, and members of Congress, by which their pay will be worth ten or twenty per cent! more than it now is! They must be fed upon corn out of the public crib, while shucks are good enough for the credulous and abused people. We may be credulous, but we know "a hawk from a hand-saw," and cannot back you, Doctor, in this new scheme, ukunown heretofore in our country. A scheme to make Presidents, increase fearfully Federal power and patronage, and to convert sub-Treasurers into leg-Treasurers, to run off, as have Swertwout, Price, and others, with millions of the public money.

7th. Because in the late member's whole course we think we have seen more of the partisan than of the statesman. That his eloquence and ingenuity are wholly exhausted on the side of power, and in making apologies and excuses for mal-administration, and abuses of power. That we have witnessthat have bankrupted the government; and in a millions a year, have driven it into the market to be shaved as a borrower, or to issue paper of its own, by which the people are shaved. Resolved therefore, that this meeting appoint the following persons, to wit-James G. Laws, John S. Roberts, John Hopkins, E. G. Mangum, and Willie R. Mangum, as delegates to the Whig Convention, to be held in Hillsboro' on the 31st inst., to fix upon some Republican Whig, as an opponent to the late member of the House of Representatives of the United States, from this district. Resolved, That this meeting entertain, and will adhere to, "through good and through evil report," the good old Republican creed of 1798-'99,

Resolved, In the opinion of this meeting, that the present Administration has departed from the cheap simplicity and purity of gousine ancient republicanism, and that the government is administered more for the benefit of the few, than of the ny, and needs a thorough reform.

Resulved, That our delegates be requested to ear in mind the Preamble and Resolutions adopted by this meeting, as a fair exposition (as far as they go,) of our principles. Resolved, That the Editor of the Hillsborough

Recorder be requested to publish the proceedings f this meeting. WILLIAM HARRIS, Ch'n.

WM. D. PARKER, Sec'y. CANE CREEK WHIG MEETING.

After a few days notice, a respectable number of the citizens on the south side of Orange county, convened at the Cane Creek Cotton Factory, on Friday the 17th inst. On motion of Solomon Allen, Mr. Peter Foust was called to preside, and John R. Ho't, Esq. appointed Secretary. By request, John Stafford, Esq. introduced the following Resolutions for the conside-

Resolved, That although we entertain for our of law-a doctrine and practice better suited to des- late representative in Congress, as a fellow citizen, potic and kingly governments; than to our free in- sentiments of personal respect; yet as a politician and representative, we object to the principles both of him and of "the party" to which he belongs, throughout: We have no confidence in the establishment of the Independent Treasury, either as a fiscal agent of the Government, or as a fountain and source of a sound and wholesome currency; and will therefore reject, with that firmness and decision which becomes freemen, any attempt to force it upon the country.

> Resolved further, That we oppose Dr. Monigomery and his party, because they advocate the right of instruction when it suits their purpose of obtaining power, and reject it when they are likely to be osers, as in the case of Messis. Brown and Strange, our Senators in Congress.

Resolved further, That, entertaining these seniments, we will use every honest endeaver to promote the election of any respectable Whir candilate that may come out in opposition to Dr. Mont-Resolved, That a committee of three be appoint-

At a meeting held at the house of Mr. George Foust, on Monday the 20th inst. Michael Holt, Esq. was called to the Chair, and Chesley F. Faucett, Esq. and Dr. James A. Craig were appointed Secre-

The object of the meeting having been stated by the Chair, on motion Chesley F. Faucett, Esq., Dr. James A. Craig, Dr. Samuel Holt, Dr. Michael Holt, and Col. Nicholas Albright were appointed a Committee to prepare Resolutions, &c. for the action of the meeting. After a short interval, the Committee reported the following Preamble and Resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, in the opinion of this meeting, the permanence of our free government depends upon the simplicity, cheapness and purity of our institutions: and whereas, the abuse of powers entrusted to the Congress and the Executive, can only be corrected by the virtue and intelligence of the people; and whereas, the unceasing efforts of the President through his party,) to control the revenue of the United States, which, with his growing patronage, is brought to bear upon the freedom of elections. gives to every honest friend of his country just reason to fear the loss of our inimitable constitution, and with it our liberty; therefore,

Resolved, That the Resolutions passed by our General Assembly at its late session, known as the Rayner Resolutions, expressive of the wishes of the people of North Carolina on various questions which are agitating the country, are, in the opinion of this meeting, strictly republican, and meet its ap-

Resolved, That we disapprove of the sub-Treasary system, as a dangerous experiment on the currency of the country; as a scheme, wrong in theory and dangerous in practice; and, if established would present the anomaly of two distinct currencles established by law in a republican government -" the better currency" for the government, and any sort for the people.

Resolved. That the practice of the present Administration, in levying a tax upon office holders equal to a certain per cent. on the amount of their salaries, in order to raise a fund for electioneering purposes, is, in the opinion of this meeting, anti-republican, and " brings the patronage of the Federal Government in conflict with the freedom of elec-

Handy Wood, Col Nicholas Albright, Chesley F. Faucett, Esq. George Hurdle, Esq., Col. James Moore, Col. James Graham. John Boon, Esq , Col. Wm. A. Carrigan, John Newlin, Col. Michael Holt, Esq., Joshua Johnston, Emanuel Clopp, Absalom Harvey, Boston Isley, and James Whitsitt be appointed Delegates to the Convention, to be held at Hillsborough on the 31st of May inst., to select a proper person as the Whig candidate to represent this district.

Whig Meeting at Red Mountain.

A large and respectable portion of the Whigs of this county, assembled at Red Mountain, on the 11th inst., to consider the expediency of sending delegates to the Whig Convention, to be held in Hillsborough on the 31st inst., to nominate a Republican Whig candidate for this Congressional District, in opposition to the late member, the Hon. Wm. Montgomery.

On motion of H. Parker, Esq., John R. Hall, Esq., was called to the Chair, and George W. Jones was chosen Secretary. The meeting being organized, H. Parker, Esq., in a brief, but energetic address, explained the objects of the assemblage, and descanted upon the importance and advantage of activity, zeal, and unanimity, in the Whig ranks. The meeting agreed, unanimously, to appoint delegates, and voted that the Chair should announce a Committee to embody their proceedings: The following Committee, to wit, G. W. Jones, H. Parker, Esq., Capt. Isaac Laws, and Capt. H Parrish, were appointed; who, after consultation, made a Report which, after being amended, was unanimously adopted in the following form, to wit:

" Your Committee have had neither the time por the necessary documents to prepare a full report, and therefore confine themselves to a few of those plain and obvious reasons, which, in their opinion, ought to be decisive sgainst the re-election of Dr.

Montgomery. THE PUBLIC LANDS. -

The great question connected with the Public lands, is of the first magnitude to North-Carolina. None others are or can be of such importance, except such as tend to destroy liberty, or to sap the foundation, or undermine the purity, of the government. Dr. Montgomery professes to be with us on that subject, but he acts against us. It is true, that he votes with us, but he exerts all his faculties and influence to uphold those who are striving against us, who boldly avow their policy to he, to deprive the old States of a fair distribution of the proceeds of said lands The Doctor gives us his vote, (that he feels obliged to do, to keep his seat in Congress,) but he gives to our enemy all his influence, (and that he feels obliged to do, to keep the favor and smiles of the President.) The Doctor well knows that the President is pledged against dividing the proceeds of the public lands among the old States;
