

POULTRY FENCE

OUR POULTRY FENCE comes in medium and heavy grades, 36, 48 and 60 inches high. It is made of heavier wire, is stronger, will last twice as long and is cheaper than the common poultry netting. It is close woven at the bottom and will turn the smallest chick. Easily put up and will make a permanent fence. Made of open hearth spring steel wire—beavily galvanized. When a real poultry fence is better and costs less, why be satisfied with the ordinary poultry netting? Put up in 10 and 20 rod bales. Shipped quick from Richmond stock—little freight. VIRGINIA TOBACCO MARKETS

THE receipts on the Richmond market are confined largely to sun-cured goods and the sales amounted to about 750,000 pounds. Fillers were a shade higher, but on the whole there was little change in class of offerings, or in prices.

Lawrenceville.—There were heavy sales on this market, with the majority of the offerings of the bright kind. All the grades offered sold well, and the farmers seemed well pleased with figures received. There were some good offerings on dark shipping goods.

Danville.—In the neighborhood of 2,500,000 pounds were handled. There was some improvement shown in prices, as well as in quality, but there was a lot of low-grade tobacco from districts not heretofore selling here. Small lots of redried tobacco are now selling.

South Boston.—The sales here ran up to around 1,000,000 pounds, with an average price of 8 cents. Much of this was of inferior quality prices no better. The farmers are rapidly disposing of their crop, and up to date this market has sold over 15,000,000 pounds.

Chase City.—The sales have been heavy on this market, already about 4,500,000 pounds have been sold to date. During the week 250,000 pounds have been sold. Prices are much lower than for the past season, this due to great extent to poor quality of offerings.

Lynchburg.—The sales on this market footed 897,400 pounds. The receipts continue very heavy, but lighter ones are looked for soon. Prices have weakened perceptibly on good leaf, which made a lower average than for the week previous.

Petersburg.—This market continues very active on both light and dark stocks. The sale for bright during the week was 151,806 pounds, sale of dark tobacco for week was 284,350 pounds. Sale of bright to date 2,079,784 pounds. Sale of dark tobacco to date, 1,982,427 pounds. J. M. BELL.

ALL MAKE BIGGER YIELDS THROUGH USE OF

The Improved German Soil Inoculator, Nobbe-Häcker Process

NITRAGIN

PURE CULTURE

THE SIMPLEST SAFEST AND SUREST SYSTEM OF SOIL INOCULATION FOR ALL LEGUMES PUT UP IN GRANULAR FOOD IN TIN CANS

Gold Medal Awarded St. Louis, 1904

"NITRAGIN" is the commercial name of pure culture germs or bacteria, each particular strain of which attached to its own legume, sucks from the air nitrogen to give growth and fruit to the plant, and stores up the overflow in the soil to enrich it.

Inoculation is desirable when—

1. The soil has not previously borne leguminous crops.
2. When legumes previously grown on the same land did not bear nodules.
3. When previous legumes were not closely related to species of legumes to be sown.
4. When soil produced weak growth of legumes even though roots showed nodules.

Use of "NITRAGIN" will—

- Increase yields of legume crops.
- Increase food value.
- Enrich soil in nitrogen and humus.
- Cause to be deposited between $22.50 and $30.00 worth of nitrogen per acre.
- Insure against wearing out soil.
- Enable you to get a "catch" of alfalfa, cow peas, beans, clover, etc.
