A Few Drops of Sauer's Pure Extracts Turns "Left-Overs" Into Dainty Treats!

Now—when ECONOMY is the watch-word of the country, let Sauer's Extracts help you conserve your food resources. There's hundreds of ways to make "left-overs" of bread, rice, and other foods more tasty and palatable by the addition of a few drops of these pure extracts. Here are a few suggestions:

Bread or rice can be made into delicious puddings when flavored with Sauer's Extracts.

A few drops of Sauer's Vanilla or Almond Extract added to recipes containing chocolate or cocoa adds to the palatability of the article.

Add a few drops of Sauer's Extracts to all fruit pies before baking.

Canned fruits may be turned into Ice Cream freezer and a little sugar and Sauer's Extract added. Serve when partly frozen.

Fruit juices flavored with Sauer's Lemon Extract may be used in place of lemon or other liquids in making lemon pies.

Add two drops of Sauer's Peppermint to lemonade—it imparts a delicious and cooling flavor.

Small amounts of left-over fruits may be mashed, flavored with a few drops of Sauer's Extracts, chilled and served over ice cream, making a delicious Sundae.
