Housekeeping and Home-Making Hints
FANCY work is a thing of the pasthave yon noticed it? Everywhere is the serious work of knitting for the soldiers or folding pads or rolling bandages for those who are wounded.
Our cooking takes more time than it used to because we are changing our methods that we may send our pork and lard, our flour and sugar to those who have gone to foreign shores to defend our honor and safety.
Gardening and canning was once a desultory occupation. If we had no peaches we trusted that Mrs. Tom peaches we trusted that Mrs. Tom Jones would give us some; if we neglected to plant potatoes, we were sure John Smith would sell us some almost as cheap as we could raise them. Tom and John can sell theirs for a good price this year as the rallroaders will probably refuse to haul those things which can be raised, so we will go hungry dress we grow and can, salt and dry, what we need to spare.
It is not too late to get busy.
A dustless duster is made thus. Heat one cup of kerosene and one cup of paraffin carefully but quite hot, on the stove. Lay in this some squares of soft cotton cloth, preferably cheesecloth or thin sacking. Let soak half an hour or so then squeeze dry and fold away for uise. These can be wash ed and used again.
Floor mops are good made by this method. Heat worn out stockings in the oil and paraffin-and sew them to a cloth made to fit over the bottom of an old broom that has had its straws cut off almost up to the lower wires.
Have you seen Georgia's two new bulletins,-Circular No. 57 , Drying and Brining of Fruits and Vegetables by Miss Bessie Wood; and Bulletin No. 130, How to Make Good Butter, by W.H. Howell? They can be obtained by residents of the state by dropping a card to The College of Agriculture, Athens, Ga .
The mothers tell us that wonderful results are being obtained all over the country as a result of medical examination. One woman says, "There were three things wrong with my boy and I know I would not have discovered them for myself until they had grown very bad. Our doctor had never discovered them, but of course I do not blame him for that for we had rever asked him to do it and we would have been silly enough to have another child in his disposition.
"My little girt had nothing really wrong with her health but the doctor sent this note: As a result of Bessie being allowed to suck her thumb in will have e very objectionable looking mouth or can be made a beautiful gir by the expenditure of about a hundred dollars with a first-class dentist if she is taken to one within the next two years, -the sooner the better. Besides teeth that fit to each other ar conducive to good health and good digestion.
"We feel that the cost of getting the children attended to by our doctor and the dentist has been well worth while.
"Our teacher says that teaching is easier since the children have stopped having tooth and earache."
With all the agitation for increased food production, do not forget the flowers. We need the roses and the golden bells, the zinnias and the pangolden bells, the zinnias and the pansies. We want food for the body but we must not neglect refreshment for the soul. So let us have the flower border lovelier than ever before.
How many war saving stamps have you purchased? Every woman and child should have them as well as each man. We can well afford to put lrat we would have spent for a ha or dress into the stamps, for we know that by doing so we will not only have more in the future for our clothes, but that we are helping the boys in the trenches.

A Woman Is Better for Doing Club Work

Working With Other Men and Wbmen for a Common Cause Stimu. lates and Develops the Good Thit Is in All of $\mathrm{Us}_{3}$
THE best education I know for a woman who has passed school days and does little reading for one reason or another is to get into club work. She simply cannot stagnate if he is an active club worker.
She will have discouragements, oh yes,-it would not be a worth-while club if its ideal could be reached withut effort and delay. She will have opposition, too, for every community has its unprogressive persons; but he more she works with and for ine organization among the for a the organ she all gomen not all giving; she receives her renot all in many ways
She learns her community, and for anyone to know one's neighborhood thoroughly is to approach a knowlSge of all communities.
She gains a knowledge of people, their strengths and their weaknesses. One who knows people loves them even for their failures.
She grows broader and most just in her dealings with all classes.
She learns teamwork. The successworker cooperates with the county agents, the doctors and all men women and children with whom she comes in touch.
She learns to serve through know ing that the greatest work she does is what she accomplishes through the development of others. For instance, if she gets twenty women working sults will be many times greater than if she herself worked twenty times as hard.
She gains poise, which is the result of self control and assurance. There was never a woman yet who in the beginning felt that she equid get on her feet and talk. However, after she says a few words about some familiar topic she can soon speak on many subjects.

She gains initiative. As the women ire of diets, ailments, butter-making and other subjects, she casts about She considers a community fair, beaus. tifying the school interior or getting a telephone system. She reaches out
