M. Field, Climax, N. C.
What is the Best Cotton Seed Under Present Conditions to plant, is good seed grown as high up as good cotton grows and matures well. This makes it early maturing and fruiting cotton, and that is chiefly what you must have to get by with, and its the only kind that is going to make 50-cent cotton next season. Your home-grown seed and the others are going to run mostly to boll weevil feed. We offer you genuine north North Carolina grown seed, King's and Simpkins', 90-lb. 3-bushel sacks for $6.75 a sack; Cook's and Cleveland Big Boll, same size sacks, $7.50 a sack; 100-bushel lots up, freight paid to your nearest station.
