

TOBACCO AND COTTON SIGNERS—READ PAGE 12

THE PROGRESSIVE FARMER

Carolinas-Virginia Edition
A Farm and Home Weekly for
NORTH CAROLINA, SOUTH CAROLINA & VIRGINIA
Founded 1886 at Raleigh, N.C.

Vol. XXXVII. No. 2

SATURDAY, JANUARY 14, 1922

$1 a Year; 3 Years, $2.

ANIMALS LIKE THESE TAKE THE STALKS AND THE FODDER AND THE GRASS AND MANY THINGS THAT WOULD GO TO WASTE AND PUT THEM IN A FINE PACKAGE READY FOR MARKET

Six Live Subjects in This Issue

THE Farmer's Platform.—Income, capital, living conditions, educational advantages, regulated production and regulated selling, a fair financial system, taxation, tariff, transportation, public recognition of agriculture, and rural culture. They are your problems and mine. What will we do about them? Read the facts in the case. . . . . Page 13

A Good Living on the Farm.—Do you really agree with the idea of "first of all a good living on the farm"? If you do, are you just agreeing to be agreeable or do you mean to make an earnest effort to live up to this as an established principle? Let's not have any "half-way doin's" . . . . . Page 12

Our Woman's Department for 1922.—If Mrs. Hutt doesn't tell our farm women what they want to know this year it will be largely their own fault. Mrs. Hutt goes to a lot of trouble to find out what the readers of her department want to know and then plans her work accordingly. . . . . Page 14

Important to Cotton and Tobacco Signers.—Whom will you have for your directors, the best politicians among all the signers, or those men whose honesty is recognized as unimpeachable and whose business ability is outstanding? . . . . . Page 12

"More Money From Tobacco and Peanuts."—Every tobacco farmer and every peanut farmer will be interested in these articles. Mr. Moss and Mr. Browne have not only had the benefit of much study, observation, and experimental work with regard to these crops, but as actual farmers themselves, they have had practical and successful experience in growing the crops they write about . . . . . Page 6

How Farmers Make Extra Money.—One advertises stock of quality and sees that his customers are satisfied. Another sells dressed guineas. Another converts his brush and weeds into meat, mohair, and money. Still another sells chickens, eggs, meat, butter, and potatoes. What do you do? . . . . Page 23