

ANNUAL REFERENCE SPECIAL NEXT WEEK—BE SURE TO SAVE IT

THE PROGRESSIVE FARMER

Carolinas-Virginia Edition
A Farm and Home Weekly for
NORTH CAROLINA, SOUTH CAROLINA & VIRGINIA
Established, 1888, at Raleigh, N. C.

Vol. XXXVII. No. 6

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1922

$1 a Year; 3 Years, $2.

A FINE FIRST CUTTING OF SPRING-SEEDED ALFALFA ON THE FARM OF H. A. AND H. E. NEWTON, FRANKLIN COUNTY, N. C.
As a rule fall seeding of alfalfa is considered desirable except for the occasional very dry fall. Where land is well prepared Southern farmers have had good results from spring seeding. Now is the time.

Six Live Subjects in This Issue

TALKING Shop With Uncle John.—Yes, The Progressive Farmer takes pride in its 36 years of service. During that time its editors have steadfastly sought the truth in order that they might present nothing but the truth to the readers. They feel amply rewarded in the host of friends who express their approval of the paper and its policies ..... Page 13

How to Choose Fertilizers.—Economy in fertilizers comes largely in knowing what to buy and how to buy. Read this article carefully and then map out a plan to fit your land and crops this year ..... Page 6

Coöperative Marketing of Burley Tobacco Gets a Fine Start.—Dean Thomas Cooper of the Kentucky State College of Agriculture is one of the outstanding men of the South. See what he says about the progress already made by the burley growers ..... Page 10

Underestimating the Feed Required.—Mr. Cotton Grower, read this article. It tells you just what you want to know. Get your pencil and paper and with the facts presented work out a list of feed crops and the acreage of each needed on your place. And be certain not to underestimate ..... Page 3

I Was a Tenant Farmer and in Debt.—“In the garden were three apple trees just loaded with red June apples. We never had thought much about them in years past, but when I carried them to town to sell, people went wild over them, and I brought back more than enough cash to pay for all my cotton chopping.” ..... Page 9

Father Mashes His Finger.—It was a nasty smash. And what father said! Oh, that doesn't matter half so much as what mother did. She had the absorbent cotton, the sterilized gauze, the turpentine, iodine, and everything needed.... Page 14