

Reg'd U.S.
Pat. Office

THE PROGRESSIVE FARMER

Carolinas-Virginia Edition
A Farm and Home Weekly for
NORTH CAROLINA, SOUTH CAROLINA & VIRGINIA
Established 1888, at Raleigh, N. C.

Vol. XXXVII No. 30

SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1922

$1 a Year; 3 Years, $2

THE TRACTOR HAS ITS PLACE, BUT SO HAVE FINE ANIMALS LIKE THESE

Live Subjects This Week and Next

LIVESTOCK and Dairy Problems.—Do you know how to pasture sorghum without poisoning the stock? How much should you give the livestock? How would you save an animal suffering from heatstroke? Do you know how to plan your sheep pasture? These and other interesting livestock problems are explained by Dr. Tait Butler..... Page 3

What Is Electricity to You?—"Wise is that farm home," says Mrs. Hutt, "which uses electricity every way it can, from the flashlight by which to thread the sewing machine needle, and the waffle iron on the dining table, to the pump by which running water is sent over the house and to the chicken trough and barn." Of course, Mrs. Hutt knows everybody can't have all the home conveniences they need. However, those who can have them should not delay getting them..... Page 10

The Farming of Yesterday and Today.—What man is better qualified to write of the agriculture of yesterday and today than Professor W. F. Massey, who already has passed the age of "three score and ten" by the handsome margin of thirteen years? And the greater part of these many years have been devoted to the study and practice of farming. This is the first of a series of reminiscences by this venerable writer whom readers of The Progressive Farmer have learned to love so well. Follow him on these trips into the past and see the great progress of Southern agriculture..... Page 4

Bulletins That Will Help You Next Month.—The farmers' bulletins published by the United States Department of Agriculture offer a splendid source of information of great practical value to Southern farmers. Order those you need..... Page 6

An Important Feature Next Week.—The season of protracted meetings is on. Many farm boys are hesitating, as many farm boys before them have done. Clarence Poe's "Success Talk to Farm Boys" will give practical, tangible, safe help towards helping boys "find themselves." Every boy and many a grown man will find a big personal help in this letter.