OXFORD, N. C., OCT. 6, 1893.

SNAP SHOTS.

The Burlington Herald has suspended for want of patronage.

Lumberton section is now afflicted with a Third party paper in the interest of Republicanism.

A negro woman gave birth to five children in Savannah, Ga., Saturday. They were all healthy and in a promising condition.

During the war a northern man robbed the Government of $10,000, and the other day returned $20,000 to Secretary Carlisle. Honest man.

Jerry Simpson who goes around posing as a farmer trying to array the working people on the Republican side hasn't got land enough to bury himself on.

While the French tax women ten dollars for the privilege of wearing trousers, it costs only $3 in this section for them to wear them. The men have to toe the mark.

There are hot times in South Carolina. An individual shipped a lot of barrels of beer into that State labelled pepper sauce. It was seized if it was labelled pepper sauce.

John Craig, who lives in the town of Danville, Ind., and his wife are a weighty pair. They pull down the scales at 1,030 pounds. The old man only tips the beam at 900 and the old lady at 130 pounds.

The Republican money, it is said, accounts for the activity in the Third party campaign in Virginia just now. Money from the same source will continue the Thirdite howl in other Southern States.

The cause of "refawn" is advancing in South Carolina. A few days ago Governor Tillman publicly refused to interfere to bring a mob of lynchers to justice, and the State Commissioner of Education engaged in a fist fight.

The colored politicians of both parties are greatly exercised over a rumor that John M. Langston, the negro leader of Virginia, has gone over to the Democracy. It is said the negroes are leaving the Republican party very rapidly.

This little clipping is going the rounds: "Listen, oh, maiden; you who are too delicate to assist the mother in her household work. An average waltz takes a dancer over about three-quarters of a mile. A well filled program travels 11 1-2 miles in one evening."

Some orators are loaded with facts and they are interesting. While such men as Messiah Garrett and the great Solomon, of Vance, are loaded in bulk with wind and they soar. The editor of the Gillsburg News is black around the gills with Republicanism. Give that calf more rope and he will soon be trying to hide himself in some hole in the ground from the scorn and contempt of all people in favor of good government, and against anarchists and swimmers in blood.

We are glad to learn that James H. Jones, col., who was a faithful servant of Hon. Jeff. Davis, and who drove his funeral car in Raleigh May 30th and then accompanied the remains to Richmond, has been given a place in the Senate wing of the capitol at Washington.

The State campaign of the Thirdite-Republican-Alliance under the head of "Farmers' Encampments" have been arranged for under the auspices of the Farmers' Alliance, but really to afford the Thirdite speakers an opportunity of spreading their doctrine, Maryann Butler and Col. Harry Skinner are the chief orators.

Congressman Grady, of the Third district, has after many years studied a mathematical problem that hitherto been considered impossible of solution. It is the trisection of an arc of a circle. We truly hope our honored friend will also be able to solve the problem of getting the Fayetteville circle rid of a negro postmaster.

The Democratic party is all right, but the trouble is some few of our Democrats need a little stiffening in the back—they will encourage a Thirdite-Republican pow-wow by their presence. Stay away from the Butler, Skinner and Messiah Garrett show. It is all for the purpose of trying to capture the Legislature next year in order to elect Maryann Butler Senator in place of Senator Ransom.

The Charlotte Observer has stirred up the animals in the North by printing a story to the effect that ex-President Lincoln was an illegitimate son of Nancy Hanks, a North Carolina servant girl, and that his father's name was Abram Enloe. The New York Commercial Advertiser denounces the Observer's article as a "Southern" attempt to defile the fame of those who put down the "slave-holders' rebellion."

We would publish the President's letter to Governor Northen, of Ga., but for the fact he merely reiterates what he said before on the silver question. Holding the views that he does he cannot be expected to change his position, which is perfectly reasonable one and consistent with the platform on which he was elected. That platform favors the free coinage of silver, but insists upon conditions which would make free coinage perfectly safe. We understand Mr. Cleveland to favor free coinage under same conditions.

As the Harrell matter is still on tap a communication in N. O. C. one day last week speaks thusly, and we agree fully with the writer when he says: "Prof. J. J. Blair says the excursion to Chicago was not gotten up under the direction of the Assembly—so that organization does not expect to bear any of the responsibility, assume any of the profits or share any of the losses. Then Mr. Harrell had no right or authority to collect the Assembly fee, and ought to be made to pay every cent of it back and be dealt with for bringing discredit on the official ermine of the State."

Statistics recently compiled at Washington show that this year between the first of January and the first of September 155 national banks have suspended in the United States. Of these 77, or nearly one half, have resumed and are now doing business. During the period named 560 State and private banks have suspended and of these only 72 or less than 13 per cent. have resumed. Of these latter banks 408 were situated west of the Ohio river. The South, as compared with the West, has had remarkably few bank failures during these troublous time.

The Philadelphia Times says: There never has been a greater fizzle in the way of a political sensation, than the debate on the repeal of the Federal election laws. As soon as it begins the House is deserted. There is no pretense of keeping a quorum. The speakers can hardly get any body but the poor pages to listen to them, and even the rural visitors shuns the galleries of the House. This is as it should be. It is not that the subject is unimportant, but that it is res adjudicate. The election laws are dead and only awaiting the formality of burial. The grave is ready, but meanwhile nobody feels called upon to sit up with the corpse.

If you want to scarce a third party man—one of the small, thin kind, who believe every word Butler, Skinner, Garrett, and others say—just jump out of a fence corner and shout "W-a-l-l street!" and he will take a fit and the howl commences. When Messiah Garrett comes over in Granville and makes the people think that a veritable old Blue Beard is on the road or that a bloody wave is imminent, and shakes his anarchist mane and roars "Wall Street!" about ten per cent. of his hearers quake in the knees, but if anything is said about Republicanism you will find them embracing each other in the audience, even the "coons." Of course this is at Third party--Alliance--Republican pow-wow where Democrats encourage them by being present.

The Mecklenburg Times says: We have no intention or desire to prejudice or condemn Mr. Cleveland. He may yet recommend something better than we now hope for. What we do claim the right to do is to disagree with him in his manner of proving his friendship to silver. The Democratic party is larger than any man in it, and we are Democratic first, and for Cleveland only in so far as he is with the party which raised him to the Presidency. He is our leader and as such we respect him, but the best interest of true Democracy demand that every man should think and act for himself. No self respecting man should give blind allegiance to any man or set of men. No Democrat who loves and cherishes the undying principles of true Democracy can afford to.

WAYS OF THIRDTITES IN PITT.
A gentleman told the Greenville Reflector Saturday that there was right much excitement among the uninformed classes in a certain township of Pitt because of reports that have been circulated among them by Third party agitators. These Thirtites, he said, have been going among those who know no better, telling them that as soon as the Democrats get this silver question settled in Congress all the silver money in circulation will be worthless and of no more value than was Confederate money after the close of the war. Of course many believed these statements, and there was more or less excitement among them according to what money they had.

One of the deluded who had four or five silver dollars came to Greenville Saturday to get rid of what he had before the "final crash" came. He intimated his plans to no one, as he had also been told that even now a silver dollar would not buy more than fifty cents worth of anything, and he feared that if it was known he was going to unload so much silver on the market there would be a still further decline in value. So determined to "sell out to the best advantage" he went in a store and asked to be shown some goods. He selected what he wanted and laid down enough silver dollars to cover the purchase, fearing as he did so that the merchant was going to ask him to hand out as much more. To his astonishment the merchant gathered in the silver with as much relish as a hungry man would take his dinner, and bowing his thanks invited the customer to call again.

The man walked away with his goods endeavoring not to betray his surprise, but he could not keep it all to himself. Hunting up a friend he took him aside and told him what had occurred. In the conversation that followed it dawned upon the man that he had been deceived by the bosh the Third party agents had been telling him.
