THE GREAT DEBATE.

Much Talk Going On in Both the Senate and House.

THE DISCUSSION GETTING RED HOT.

Silver Men More Hopeful of Defeating the Unconditional Repeal Bill-A Proposition to Postpone Action Until Next December.

SEPTEMBER 28 .- The resolution offered by Mr. Dubois to postpone action on financial, tariff and federal election measures until next January, was taken up After Mr. Dubois's speech in support of it, Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, made a strong argument against it.

Mr. Chandler suggested its postponement. He made some allusion to the senators who had changed their votes on the resolution to admit the claimant from Montana; and Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, asked him whether he referred to the senator from Kansas (Mr. Peffer.)

Mr. Chandler disclaimed any intention of alluding specifically to any senator, but said that he had greater respect for the senator from Kansas, who had changed his vote and given reasons therefor, than he had for other senators who had changed their votes and had given no reasons. It was plain that the senator thus referred to Messrs. Gorman and Voorhees.

Mr. Wolcott spoke of the "sudden and inexplicable changes" that the vote on the admission of the appointed senators had undergone. He said that the opponents of the bill had definite information that an arrangement had already been consummated between certain senators on the republican and the democratic sides of the chamber; and alluded to Messers. Gorman and Goodrich as the two "steerers."

Mr. Gorman replied to Mr. Wolcott's insinuations. He went so far as to make a remark purporting that the Colorado senator had obtained his information as to "steering" by listening at committee room doors or receiving reports from eavesdroppers.

Mr. Wolcott, resented the insinuation and denied its truth.

Mr. Gorman 'said that Mr. Wolcott had misunderstood or misrepresented what he had said, and he repudiated the intimation which Messrs. Chandler and Wolcott made that himself and Mr. Voorhees had changed their votes on the Montana case with any reference to the repeal bill.

SEPTEMBER 29. - Senator Teller's resolution inquiring of the secretary of the treasury when, in what amounts, and under what circumstances the payment of interest on government bonds has been anticipated since July 1, 1880, was taken up.

Senator Teller said he did not think it necessary to speak on it.

Senator Voorhees said the adoption of the resolution would require a complete history of the financial transactions of the government for the past thirteen years. It was a thrust at the treasury department to give all the reasons asked for by the words, "under what circumstances," and would impose a superhuman burden on the department, and hoped Teller would strike them out.

Teller replied that he wanted to know what brought about these anticipated payments.

It seemed to be committed to a single gold standard. The resolution was not an attack on the present secretary of the treasury, but as the new administration is going to adopt a new financial system, the senate should know what was done heretofore to better understand what change is to take place. Voorhees withdrew his objection and the resolution was agreed

The sensation in the house this morning was that the lie was passed between two members.

A dispute arose between Fithian and Morse as to a certain conversation between them, and culminated in Morse charging Fithian with saying what he knew was false, and Fithian retorting that Morse was telling a willful lie.

At the conclusion of the morning sideration of the federal elections repeal bill, and was addressed by Mr. Black in favor of the repeal.

SEPTEMBER 30.-In the senate Mr. Cameron presented the petition of Wharton Barker and many business firms of Philadelphia, asking for legislation to preserve and protect the integrity of silver as a money metal.

The repeal bill was taken up, and Mr. Harris addressed the senate, contending that the Sherman act had nothing to do with the business troubles. In his argument against the bill he drelared that it meant, and, in his opinion, was intended to mean, that there should be no more legal tender silver dollars, and that hereafter silver shall be used only as fractional currency. It meant the practical demonetization of silver, monometallism and a gold standard.

· Notice of two important amendments to the silver purchase repeal bill was given. One was by Wolcot, and provides for the return to the states interested of the amount of cotton tax collected from them during the war. The other is by Perkins, and provides for the coinage of silver of American production at the existing ratio. The Treasury is to retain seigniorage of 20 per cent. It also provides that hereafter there shall be no gold coins minted of less than $10, and no bank notes or treasury notes issued for less than $5, and for a monetary commission of five experts.

Mr. Martin introduced a bill to elect senators by the people.

Mr. Oates, of Alabama, submitted a resolution in the house, authorizing the secretary of war to detail an officer to act as military instructor at the Alabama University. Jerry Simpson objected and Oates promised to remember him for his unkindness.

The election law repeal bill was then taken up and Lacey, of Colorado, took the floor in opposition.

Mr. Cooper of Texas has introduced in the house a resolution providing for the submission of the question of free silver coinage to popular vote.

The house committee on banking and currency today continued its hearings upon the measures pending on its calendar. Representative McLaurin of South Carolina spoke in favor of his joint resolution providing for an issue of $125,000,000 of additional treasury notes with a preamble declaring that $25,000,000 of previous issues had been lost or destroyed and are to be charged off on the books of the treasury.

OCTOBER 2.- The repeal bill was taken up in the senate, when Mr. Dubois complained of the statement made by Mr. Gorman last week as to his resolution for the postponement of the repeal bill, being offered for the purof delay. He denied that statement and said he was in no plan for obstruc-

Mr. Washburn spoke as to the absurdity of the proposed postponement, particularly in view of the fact that two senators representing two of the states mentioned in the resolution were in favor of the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act. On being challenged by Mr. Walcott to name the two states, Mr. Washburn respondpromptly by mentioning Washington and Wyoming. Authority for the statement was demanded by Dubois and it was promptly given by Mr. Washburn, who said that he had been informed by the senator from Washington, Mr. Squire, that he would vote for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman

Mr. Kyle then addressed the senate in opposition to the bill.

In the house the federal election repeal bill was taken up before a very small audience, and Mr. Dinsmore took the floor in its advocacy.

Mr. Benson, of Alabama, followed in the support of repeal. He appealed to his fellow-members of the north and south to help wipe from the statute books laws so obnoxious to the intelligent citizens and voters of the great section he represents. Northern men who are willing to invest money in business in the south and trust the business men there to care for it, ought to be as willing to trust them to enforce the laws ragarding elections. THE PRESIDENT WRITES,

And Gives His Position on the Question of Free Coinage.

ATLANTA, GA., September 30.—President Cleveland, in answering a letter from Governor Northen on the political situation, after contending for sound, stable money, says:

"I am a friend of silver, but I believe its proper place in our currency can only be fixed by a readjustment of our currency legislation and the inauguration of a consistent and comprehensive financial scheme. I think such a thing can only be entered upon profitably and hopefully after the repeal of the law which is charged with all our financial woes. In the present state of the public mind, this law cannot be built upon, nor patched in such way as to relieve the situation. "I am, therefore, opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver by this country alone and independently; and I am in favor of the immediate and unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the so called Sherman law.

WILL SWING FOR IT.

He Committed a Brutal Murder to Rob and Must Pay the Penalty.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., October 3.—The negro, Mitchell Wooten, has been found guilty of the McSwean murder at Ozark, and sentenced to hang on hour the house proceeded to the con- November 22 next. It was the foulest sort of murder. Old man McSwean and his aged wife lived by themselves in a log cabin, far removed from others, and had accumulated some money. It was suspected that they had money in their house, and this belief led to their murder. Their house was entered by night and they were butchered in their beds. A large sum of money was also stolen.

Went Over to the Populists.

DES MOINES, IOWA, October 3.-The greatest political sensation of the Iowa campaign this fall was sprung this morning by Senator L. R. Bolton, of Harrison county, who, in a letter to Chairman Scott, of the populist central committee, announces that he has bolted the democratic ticket and will support Joseph for governor. Senator Bolton has been a democratic leader in the Iowa general assembly for sixteen

LATEST FROM BRAZIL.

Foreign War Vessels Stop the Bombardment of Rio.

London, September 30.-A private telegram from Rio says that in the bombardment of the city by the rebel fleet a clerk in the London and Brazilian bank was killed at his desk. The bombardment is said to have ceased only when the foreign war vessels threatened to turn their guns on the Santa Cruz, at the estrance to the bay, sumed between the government at intervals with apparently no better chance now of peace that there was some weeks ago.

MOBILE DELUGED.

Water Driven in from the Bay Far Up in the City.

Mobile, Ala., October 3.-A southeast gale broke here this morning about 4 o'clock and the wind increased in velocity until at 1 o'clock. It was blowing at least fifty miles an hour. The barometer was still falling. The wind had blown the water from the gulf until the river had reached Royal street, which is four blocks from the river and at an elevation of about fifteen feet from the main river height. There is no possible chance to estimate the money damage. All the retail tistrict of the city is some four
