VOTED IT DOWN.

While Senator Dowd was discussing his amendment to the election law, says the News & Observer, requiring election officers to make oath that they were not, and had not been within a year a member of any secret oath bound political society. S. Otho Wilson, who was standing in the lobby, was seen to raise his hand. He is supposed to have been making a sign of Gideon's Band, and to which organization Mr. Dowd said he intended his amendment to especially apply. The Fusionists evidently caught Otho's sign of distress and came to his rescue by voting down the amendment.

DOUGLAS POP SOUP.

"The noble order," the Pop contingent in North Carolina, are up to their necks in Douglas soup. They squirm and wiggle, but their Legislature has flavored the soup well with kinkey wool, no strainer being needed in order for them to swallow the elegantly flavored soup. Go to Douglasite headquarters and Starvation Royster will take pleasure in showing Pops the easiest way to get the soup down without tasting it according to a recipe just made by Pop-Reps. The recipe carries with it the flavor of musk and only exertion required to swallow the Douglas soup is the mere fact of the sites holding their noses while the soup is being strained through the black wool preparatory to slipping down It has a great effect on Dr. Dalby and causes him to exclaim: "Ephriam, thou Douglasite come hither and let us embrace thee as mine own."

AIDING CARLISLE.

A farmer, says the Louisburg Times, while counting a roll of bills at a bank recently dropped a $20 bill on the floor, and when he stooped to pick it up saw the last of it disappearing down a dog's throat. DURHAM FERTILIZER TRUST.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer says a heated, spirited discussion one day last week between a Republican and a Populist disclosed rather a suspicious state of affairs. The air for two weeks has been full of "small chat" about lobbyists, jobs, etc. This last thing is of interest in view of what is being said.
