

House Work is Hard Work without GOLD DUST.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY

Gathered Home.

Oliver V. Daniel departed this life on Monday, December 24th, 1900, in his 24th year of that dread disease, consumption. He was a devoted son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Daniel, and brother of Messrs. W. B. and J. L. Daniel, of Vance county, J. T., C. G. and Marsh Daniel, of Granville, and several married sisters, all of whom are fondly devoted to each other.

He was a great sufferer for more than a year, but through all these months he was never known to murmur or complain.

Just before he was taken sick he entered into business at Culbreth with bright prospects of success before him, but notwithstanding this when he was taken sick he went back to his father's house, and there bore with sweet christian resignation his long confinement.

He always had a cheerful sunshiny disposition and it was a real benediction to visit him and talk with him. He was a member of Geneva Presbyterian church, and all through his life ever found in the paths of duty, working the works of the righteousness.

Everything that medical aid and kind friends could do was extended to him, but the Master, who does nothing wrong, had need of him, and called him up higher.

It was sweet to see the tender and devoted mother as she sat by the bed of her noble boy tenderly administering to his every call, and the father as he prayed with all the earnestness of his soul that his suffering son should pass away without a struggle, and his prayers were heard, for he passed away as gently as a child in sweet slumbers.

Just before the end came he expressed himself willing and anxious to go. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

The tenderest sympathy of the entire community are extended to the bereaved family and we point them to the foot of the cross, to that blessed Savior who said, "Blessed are they that mourn for they shall be comforted." A FRIEND.

Obituary.

Died at her residence at Bullock on Dec. 25th, 1900, Mollie Tunstall the wife of J. B. V. Tunstall. She was born in Chatham, on July 29th, 1849. When she was quite young her parents moved to Chatham field Co., Va., where she resided until she was married. She was an honest, consistent member of State Line Baptist church. She leaves a kind husband, two daughters and four sons to mourn her loss, all of whom were at her bedside to administer to her last wishes except her oldest son. Her last illness was long and trying, but with patience and fortitude she expressed perfect resignation to the will of God.

When we see such strong sturdy men completely prostrated by grief, it is heart-rending, but may it only serve to make them look up and strive to go to that mother. Her favorite song was "Nearer My God to Thee," and we believe and trust that she has at last attained to that eternal nearness to her God whom she served. A FRIEND.

Marriage Fees Discussed.

It is rather a risky business for a woman to marry a man who is too poor or too stingy to pay reasonable marriage fees. Any respectable lady would feel complimented and honored to know that her husband respected and loved her enough to pay something to get her.

Preachers are called on to perform most of the marriage ceremonies. Preachers generally are poor men, hard run to live. It is right, just and appropriate for them to be paid liberal marriage fees. Lawyers and doctors would charge a good fee for a similar amount of service.

A goodly number of men act honorably, and pay the preacher or the magistrate for their services. The most liberal fee I ever knew paid, was under these circumstances: A marriage was to take place at a certain house at a certain hour. The preacher was on his way to the marriage.

On the road side he saw a small company of persons standing, and coming near them a young man stopped him and asked, "Will you preach for me today?" "Yes," "Well, I would be glad to get you to marry me." "When and where do you want to marry?" "Right here and now."

"Where is the girl you want to marry?" "Here she stands." There stood a poor but pretty country girl, clothed in a faded calico dress and wearing a 20 cent straw hat.

The young man was clad in the plainest and cheapest apparel. Not a horse, buggy or vehicle of any kind was in sight. They had walked there. The preacher got out of his buggy, stood before them on the roadside, and married them. When married the man ran his hand into his pocket, drew out a silver dollar and handed it to the preacher saying, "Please take this—it is all I have; I wish I had more for you, I thank you for marrying us." That young man was poor, but he had a noble spirit.

But thousands of cases could be cited of where preachers and magistrates have spent time, labor and money marrying people, and have not even got "Thank you" for it. A preacher went 28 miles through snow, sleet, mud and intense cold, to marry a couple. After marriage the young man said to the preacher, "I am short of money to day, but I will see you in a few days, and pay you." In a few days the preacher saw the young man, but the young man did not see the preacher. He returned his head and looked the other way. The preacher has never seen that fee yet.

Another case, a young man came to town, bought license, got a preacher to go ten miles with him into the country to marry him. It took a whole day. After marriage the young man said to the preacher, "I will take about all the money I have to buy tickets for me and wife, to the town where we are going. Give me your address and I will send you a fee in a day or two." The address was given, but no fee ever came.

But many do not even promise to pay, they say nothing about it, they seem to think it is the duty of preachers to marry them. A preacher went 40 miles on a Railroad, and 20 miles through the country to marry a couple. It took him two days, besides the cost of travel. He got nothing, not even thank you. Thousands of such cases could be given, but those cited above were as samples.

A man who pays no marriage fee as a rule, does not appreciate his wife as the following statement shows. A man lived 30 miles from town, in the back woods, where they used to make maple sugar. He got in the notion to marry, he went to town for a preacher. The preacher went and married him. After the marriage the man said, "Look here please, I want you to marry me, but I don't want to pay you, but I will tell you what I'll do. If you will wait three weeks I'll bring you 40 pounds of nicest maple sugar you ever seed." All right said the preacher; waited patiently until long after the three weeks had past, but he never met the man in town and said, "Look here friend, what about that 40 pounds of sugar?" After some hesitation the man said, "Parson I've been married to Sallie seven weeks, and I have found out she ain't worth 40 pounds of sugar, and you must let me off from paying it."

About one third of all who marry pay no fee. This dishonors the minister or magistrate. If persons are not going to pay a marriage fee, they ought to go to the minister or magistrate and not cause them to sacrifice time, money and labor to do them.

Satterwhite Sauce.

Young Lawson Knott and wife visited us during the holidays. Well, we are thankful to say we have been spared to see another new year.

All through the Christmas we saw no drinking nor even a man intoxicated, so we think this is a great thing to say once in life.

The Christmas days past away very quietly in and all around our village, and we enjoyed a good trade. The young people of course had a good time.

Mr. Bob Smith, of Enon section, visited our section during the holidays and called to see us in company with one of our fascinating young bundles of loveliness.

There are quite a number of our northern friends hunting in this neck of the woods, and thus far have had poor luck. They are clever gentlemen and we are always glad to have them with us.

We have always said that our esteemed young friend, M. S. Satterwhite, would be hard to suit in getting a wife. At last he strayed off some 24 miles and married one of the bright gems of Person county, the daughter of John Day, Esq. We wish him and the rest of our newly married folks bon voyage over the sea of life.

The reason we have been silent so long is on account of pressure of business, but in future will be on hand and want the other correspondents to meet us in the columns of our beloved county paper. If the old ones have sought the quiet shades of life and forgotten to send the news from their respective sections let new ones take their places and keep the correspondent ball rolling. Let us be certain to hear from you.

It looks to us like all the boys and girls around here have made a bargain to get married this winter, as S. B. Packard broke the ice first, then M. S. Satterwhite, next Graham Hobgood and Macon Hobgood, both of whom married the same day; one of the other boys went over to Roxboro and was married. Go it boys while you are young after while you can't go at all. From present indications we do not think it will be long before another one of our young ladies will be another-keeping in another part of the county.

Another case, a young man came to town, bought license, got a preacher to go ten miles with him into the country to marry him. It took a whole day. After marriage the young man said to the preacher, "I will take about all the money I have to buy tickets for me and wife, to the town where we are going. Jeffreys Joinings.

Christmas holidays is over and our people had good time.

Mr. Jim Champion and family are spending a few days with relatives in this section.

Franklin county has quarantined against Granville 3 miles up the line from the river.

Mr. Jessie Freddy left Tuesday for Texas after spending a few months with his mother in the Old North State.

Mr. L. D. Levister is quite ill with the vaccination and makes others afraid to be vaccinated. There are no new cases of small pox and we are in hopes the disease will soon vanish from this section.

Mr. Bob Smith, of Enon section, visited our section during the holidays and called to see us in company with one of our fascinating young bundles of loveliness.

There was quite a pretty wedding at Grove Hill Methodist church last Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. The contracting parties were Mr. S. G. Strother and Miss Eunice Jenkins. Rev. G. B. Perry performed the ceremony in his usual solemn manner. Miss Beatrice Jenkins presided at the organ with ease playing the wedding march in an admirable manner. The waiters were: James Whitfield with Miss Fannie Jenkins, James Strother with Miss Alma Lane, J. A. Moss with Miss Lottie Strother, James Mitchell with Miss Viola Jenkins. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party left for the bride's home. An elegant supper was served in honor of the happy event. The writer wishes them great happiness through life.

Small Pox. Left out last week. It is reported that there are quite a number of cases of small pox in Fishing Creek Township, and it is important that county commissioner take the necessary steps to prevent the spread of this loathsome disease. It is also reported the board of Commissioners at their last meeting had guards placed at the three following places over Tar Springs, Crews, Blackwells, and Lyons bridges.

Why is it necessary that these places be guarded, when any one wishing to go to and from the infected section can cross the river between the above mentioned places or why are the Eastern and Northern sections of the county quarantined, while the Southern and Western sections are exposed?

Is it an oversight of the commissioner, or is it that one section of the county intends to be protected at the expense of the other?

If these sections wish to be protected separate and alone, then let it be done by private subscription. The county is already in debt on account of good management of the same disease last summer.

Why is it that the county employs a physician to look after such diseases, and then has to pay another to do the work? It seems to us that a county physician should give up his private practice, when his services are needed for the protection of people of the county.

The commissioners should be especially careful in looking after the management in this case, as the tax payers were shamefully imposed upon last summer.

Is there any common sense in trying to suppress small pox without having a Pay house where those who have the disease and those who have been exposed can be safely guarded and properly cared for?

It is a fact that it would take 20,000 men to guard the territory day and night which is quarantined in the county so that it would be impossible for any one to pass in and out of said territory.

There is a great deal of dissatisfaction among the people of this section as to the way the county funds are being expended.

It will be absolutely necessary that a special tax be levied, unless the county affairs are managed carefully and wisely.

Some of the people are already taxed beyond what they are able to bear, therefore let those in authority rule judiciously lest by their errors

Satterwhite Day. One of the prettiest home weddings ever witnessed in Bethel Hill community was solemnized Wednesday morning December 19, 1900, at the hospitable home of the bride's father, Mr. John R. Day, our worthy County Treasurer when Mr. Matt S. Satterwhite and Miss Horstene Day were united in the holy bonds of wedlock.

Promptly at 11:30 o'clock Mr. Robert D. Bailey as best man with Miss Sallie Davis, as maid of honor, Mr. Walter Day with Miss Mabel Tuck, Mr. Walter Hayes with Miss Lily Puckett and Mr. Ollie Puckett with Miss Opelia Jones, entered the parlor to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March rendered by Mrs. J. A. Beam. These were followed by the bride and groom who were soon made one in a few appropriate and well chosen words by the pastor Rev. P. H. Fountain, Rev. J. A. Beam leading in prayer.

It was a pretty and impressive scene: the tastefully decorated parlor, its bank of ferns, evergreen, and other plants forming a fine background to the bridal party, the handsome couple and their attendants, flanked on either side by the animated faces of a large number of friends and relatives.

After congratulations and best wishes, a bountiful dinner, presided over by Mrs. Day and her charming daughter, Mrs. Bass, was served to all the guests.

At 3 o'clock p. m. the entire bridal party, with several friends left for Granville's county, where a reception was given them by Mrs. Satterwhite, the mother of the groom.

The bride is one of Person's most attractive young ladies and the groom is a young man of worth and promise.

The good wishes of a host of friends attended them on their life journey. May the richest blessings of heaven ever be theirs.—Person Courier.
