NOTES OF THE DAY.

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS SERVED IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

Minor Events, Retrospective and Prospective, Gathered About the City By Our Alert Reporters.

Most people consider a clear, cold day like this delightful weather.

Mr. Jos. A. Webb, the enterprising furniture dealer, is having a sky light put in his store.

The work being done on the streets suggests the need of a heavy roller to pack down the dirt firmly and evenly.

"Raleigh is a capital place for the Baptist Female University." So says the News-Observer. Oxford is eminently THE place for it.

Mr. S. R. Satterwhite, has rented the store on Raleigh street formerly occupied by Mr. W. S. Herbert, and is doing a general merchandise business.

Mr. B. H. Cozart is having some ditching done around the mineral spring discovered a few days ago on his place in West Oxford, seeking for the main spring.

The train from Raleigh this morning brought an extra coach, which was carried to Henderson by the O. & H. train. It is thought it will be used to carry an exodus party from our sister city to the cotton fields of the far South.

Workmen began today tearing down the old wooden buildings on the site recently purchased by the Farmers' Alliance of Granville for their new brick warehouse. Work will be started on the warehouse, we understand, as soon as possible.

There are some unmistakable cases of La Grippe in this city. There is, however, no occasion for alarm, as the disease here appears in a mild form and there is no danger of fatal results if persons contracting it take proper care of themselves.

The canvassing committee for the Baptist Female University fund is visiting those who have not already subscribed, and soliciting their aid in this important matter. Every person should contribute his part. Every cent that can be raised is needed.

Little's "World" Dramatic Company will appear, in the Opera House, February 4th. Mr. Gus Nevill, whom our people will remember took part in an amateur minstrel performance here about a year ago and who is a clever actor, is a member of this troupe.

The driver of a dray on College street yesterday afternoon was standing in an empty hog-head handling the reins, when suddenly the hog-head tilted over, fell upon the horse and caused him to run away. Beyond a few bruises to the driver no damage was done.

The Glucklich German Club, at a meeting held last night, decided to give a german next Friday night complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hunt, two young couples who have recently launched their barques on the matrimonial seas.

The Granville Institute begins its spring session today with the brightest prospects. It is an excellent institution, thoroughly equipped, with a strong corps of instructors, and is meeting with the success it deserves. It is one of the jewels of Oxford's educational crown.

Street Henderson, a negro man, was brought to the city yesterday from Brassfield township charged with a capital offence. While in the sheriff's office awaiting the arrival of the jailor, he managed to slip out unobserved and make his escape. He has not yet been recaptured.

STATE SIFTINGS.

North Carolina Items of Interest Clipped and Condensed from Exchanges.

It is reported that the Farmers' Alliance of Pitt county has expressed itself in opposition to public schools.

Judge Arnfield, in his charge, called attention to the laxity on trusts in this State, and the grand jury made a careful investigation of the report which had come to the ear of the court. After summoning a large number of witnesses and enquiring into the matter they failed to return a presentment against any firm as violating the statute.—Durham Sun.

A Wilmington dispatch of yesterday says: A bark, thought to be English or Norwegian, went ashore on the bar near Southport about noon. The tug is unable to reach her on account of the high sea. The English tramp steamer, thought to be the Merulia, has a hawser to the bark, and will try to pull her off when the tide rises. Capt. Savage, of the Life Saving Service, was just in time to pick up and save five men belonging to the tramp where the boat had turned over.

The arrival of M. H. T. Lyle, special agent of the United States Census Department for North Carolina, with his corps of assistants, was announced yesterday morning. Mr. Lyle and his assistants, numbering five men, have been sent out from Washington by the Census Department for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of the States' recorded indebtedness. Mr. Lyle stated that his purpose was to ascertain the recorded indebtedness of the State for the period from January 1st, 1880, to December 31st, 1889. He proposed to do as efficient work as possible and make the State show up to the best advantage. His headquarters will be here. His assistants will canvas all the counties of the State and report the result to him. Mr. Lyle and his corps are at present engaged in taking statistics from the books of the Register's office here.—News Observer.

A Resolution.

At a meeting of the Oxford Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 103, last night, the following resolution was passed:

IN A GENERAL WAY.

Important Happenings in Other States and Countries.

A collision on the Missouri Pacific Railroad yesterday caused the death of one man and the wounding of several others.

Near Tulare, Cal., yesterday morning a passenger train was stopped by two masked men, who robbed the express agent of several thousand dollars and then escaped.

A Chicago dispatch says: Marshall Field has given ten acres of land valued at $100,000 for a site for the Baptist University which J. D. Rockefeller has endowed with $600,000.

In a private letter received in Washington a neighbor and friend of Senator Riddleberger writes: Have you heard that Riddleberger is very low? His physicians have little hope that he can ever get up again, and he may go at any moment.

The work on the Atlantic and Danville road is now practically completed. All the rails have been laid and all that now remains to be done is what the railroad people call "surfacing up." This work will be completed in a few days, and the Danville Construction Company expect to turn over their part of the road to the company during the present week.

At least twelve human beings and thousands of cattle and sheep perished in the blizzard which began with the year and raged over Washington for a week. Reports from the Coleville reservation are to the effect that the cattle are dying by hundreds from starvation and thirst, and that the ground is covered with over two feet of snow on a level and in some places is drifted mountain high. The cattlemen estimate that they will lose one-half of their herds this season.

SAGACIOUS ANIMALS.

A SAGACIOUS canine at Johnstown is not going to get caught in another flood if it can help it. Every time it rains the dog rushes to the fourth story and remains there until the downpour is over.

A HORSE employed in a lumber mill at Guernville, Cal., for the last twelve years to haul away the sawdust has become so well acquainted with his work that he goes from one hopper to another, through intricate passageways, without a driver and never strikes a post. He begins and quits work by the whistle, the same as the men.

A CITIZEN of Erie, Pa., was walking along the street the other day when his dog came up, pulled his coat and tried to make him retrace his steps. He turned around and followed the dog a short distance and picked up a fine revolver. The dog seemed to know that the weapon was valuable, although it was too heavy for him to carry in his mouth.

PEDESTRIANS on Eighth street, Philadelphia, were amused by the sagacity of a dog. The animal was trotting up street when suddenly his muzzle fell to the sidewalk. He stopped, looked at it, and after a few attempts again got his head in the cage. But just as he started on his trot it fell off a second time. This was repeated four times. Then the dog, apparently realizing that it was beyond him to fasten the muzzle, took it between his teeth and ran on, his looks indicating the pride he felt in mastering the difficulty.

A RESIDENT of Depauville, N. Y., is the owner of a fine maltese cat that is unusually intelligent, and has developed to a remarkable degree traits that are seldom found in the cat family. The most popular thing about this particular Thomas is his love for a gun, a love which began to manifest itself about three years ago. The cat first began to follow his owner to the woods and fields in search of birds, and Mr. Eigabroadt, noticing his liking for the sport, took some pains to develop the hunting instinct and make Tommy useful. The cat was easily taught, and a few lessons sufficed to make him a trustworthy retriever.

For Rent.

One six room cottage dwelling. Terms moderate. Address W. H. WHITE.

Apples, Apples, Apples.
