NOTES OF THE DAY.

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS SERVED IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

Minor Events, Retrospective and Prospective, Gathered About the City By Our Alert Reporters.

Warmer, cloudy weather.
Considerable tobacco on the market today.

A "drunk and disorderly" this morning contributed five dollars to the city treasury.

Several gentlemen from a distance came here yesterday examining Oxford property with a view of investing.

Oxford Lodge, I. O. O. F., No.
103, has regular meeting tonight.
Visiting brothers are cordially invited.

Thomas Moore was brought to town yesterday afternoon and lodged in jail.
He is from Brassfield township and had been throwing stones at a little white girl.

The Supreme Court decided yesterday that there was no error in the case of the Granville County Board of Education vs. the State Board of Education.

When times are a little dull, your good citizen is not disheartened and ready to give up in despair. He takes a fresh grip, and makes things lively again.

The injury done the tobacco plants by the recent cold spells was even greater than first reported. Fully half of the plants in this neighborhood were killed.

Two citizens of Oxford held jointly a lucky ticket in a lottery drawing which was held a few days ago, and they are richer now by four hundred dollars.

Mr. F. N. Day has the little engine made by the pupils of his Horological School on exhibition in his show window. It is a pretty piece of workmanship and is admired by the passers-by.

A little public interest manifested in the government building Mr. Bower is endeavoring to obtain for our city might do some good and be a substantial help in securing the appropriation.

We inadvertently overlooked yesterday mentioning the memorial services held Sunday afternoon by the colored Odd Fellows and Masonic Lodges of Oxford in commemoration of their late brother, Rev. Jas. P.
Hunt. Their procession on the streets was a highly creditable one.

Artistic House Furnishing.

THE DAY man while in Raleigh a few days ago heard much of the magnificent new residence of Rev. Thos.
E. Skinner. It is a fine building and is beautifully furnished. We have heard special compliments paid the drapery, which was done by Mr. J. A.
Graham, Jr., who has charge of W.
H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.'s mammoth drapery department. The fretwork dividing the back and front hall is simply superb in design and workmanship. Mr. Graham was a pupil of Horner School for several years, and is well-known to many of our citizens.
We congratulate him upon his success.
He has true artistic taste, and is fully able to compete with the most experienced house furnishers of the north. He will be pleased to receive orders from Oxford and will give them his best personal attention.

day.

Dr. J. S. Meadowcroft in the city today.

Mr. E. G. Butler, Dabney, is in the city.

Mr. W. C. Reed returned this morning from Raleigh.

Mr. A. S. Davis is on a trip to the eastern part of the State.

Dr. S. D. Booth is off this morning for a short stay in Richmond, Va.

Hon. A. H. A. Williams went off on the northbound train this morning.

Miss Roberts, of Knapp of Reeds, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. C. Hundley.

Mr. Ed. Ward, of Franklinton, was in the city yesterday, returning home this morning.

Mr. N. H. Whitfield went to Franklin county, N. C., yesterday on a short business trip.

We are pleased to see Mr. G. K.
Hundley, who has been quite sick for the past few days, able to be out again.

Mrs. S. P. Conch returned today from Danville, Va., where she has been for several weeks attending the bedside of a sick brother.

Rev. J. W. Witherspoon, Rev. Mr.
Ramsey and Rev. Mr. Veazey, of Virginia, Presbyterian ministers, were in the city yesterday.

Messrs. John T. Thomas, and F. B. Hays went to Raleigh yesterday, to stand examination before the State Board of Pharmacy, which meets there today.

Items of Interest About North Carolina Scissored and Condensed from our Exchanges.

The Y. M. C. A. will have a tent at the annual encampments of the State Guard hereafter.

A conscience contribution of $16 in an envelope, postmarked Charlotte, N.
C., and signed "My Conscience," has been received at the Treasury Department at Washington and placed in credit of the Conscience Fund.

Messrs. H. Walters and Warren G.
Elliot, of the Atlantic Coast Line, were in Raleigh yesterday for the purpose of prospecting with a view to extending a branch line into that city if the right of way and other arrangements could be secured.

Prof. E. Stone Wiggins, the Canadian weather prophet, has predicted a violent storm. He says it will be felt all over the world, and will reach Europe from the 17th to the 19th inst.
It will burst over the continent of America between the 21st and 22nd inst. Nothing short of a miracle, he says, will prevent the destruction of shipping that may be caught out of harbor. Volcanic eruptions and earthquakes will take place in the South and on the Pacific coast and also in Europe.

An Asheville detective thinks he has located Walter Bingham, the deaf mute murderer of Miss Turlington, at A. Twerp, Germany, and is so certain that he is on the right track that he has offered to go across the water at his own expense, if the government will reimburse him if the man is found to be the one wanted. A letter to that effect was written to the Attorney General, but he replied that he had no authority in the matter. The reward has been withdrawn, and unless the State cares to take some steps in the matter it will rest as it is.

An Asheville special to the News-Observer of this morning says: News has just reached this place of a horrible accident near Hot Springs, Madison county. A twelve-year old son of S. D. Chambers, a highly respected farmer, accidentally shot and instantly killed his mother. The father had been to Hot Springs, bringing home with him a valise with some articles for the family in it. He put the valise down in the house and stepped out. When the lad looked into it to see what his father had brought him, he found a pistol, and said to his mother: "See what pa brought home." The pistol was discharged, the ball striking his mother in the breast. Her only words were: "Oh, Lord, you have killed me."

Dress Parade.

Col. W. T. Gray, of Winston, colonel of the 3rd Regiment, State Guard, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon.
He is on a tour of inspection of the various companies under his command.
The Granville Grays will have a dress parade this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

OXFORD FEMALE COLLEGE.

Meeting in Its Interest at the Courthouse Last Night.

The meeting at the courthouse did not bring out anything approaching a full representation of the business interests of the city. Those who are most concerned in the establishment of the Oxford Female College and who would derive the greatest benefits were conspicuous by their absence.

There was a spirited discussion, engaged in by R. W. Winston, Esq., Capt. J. A. Williams, Capt. A. Landis and others. Nearly the amount required to secure the success of the undertaking was subscribed, and a committee composed of Mr. R. H.
McGuire, Dr. R. H. Marsh and Dr.
J. E. Wyche, were appointed to make a canvass of the citizens today and place the remaining shares.

The stockholders will meet tonight, and it is to be hoped that the matter will be settled then.

Reidsville holds an election April 14th on the question of putting waterworks in that town.

Showed Him the Door.

Jobson—Why, Jepson, I understand that you're married?
Jepson—You understand right.
Job—But I was led to believe you had a disagreement with the girl's father.
Jep—Who told you so?
Job—Timson told me so. He told me that her father had shown you the door.
Jep—So he did. He's a painter and grainer, and he had grained a door so well that it was the talk of the trade.
So, being in the conversation one night and the subject of the door coming up he took me out and showed me the door.
But before Jepson had got thus far Jobson had fainted. He could not stand such atrociousness.—[Boston Courier.

A Vassar Dialogue.

First Sophomore—Shouldn't you think that May Northcote ought to learn Greek easier than the rest of us girls?
Second Sophomore—I don't know.
Why so?
First Sophomore—Because she has such a perfect Grecian nose.—[Burlington Free Press.

The Force of Habit.

Her Matter-of-Fact Father—Daughter, I do wish you would learn to talk without using so many exclamatories. Everything you speak of is accompanied with "oh!" "the idea!" "great goodness!" or something of that kind.
"Why! Goodness gracious, pa! How can I help it? The idea? We girls all talk that way."

The Skating Record.

The fastest five-mile record for skaters is credited to Frank Dowd, of Chicago, in 17:17. He made this time at Montreal on April 3, 1885, on a twelve-lap track.
The Clipper Almanac gives no five-mile time to either Paulsen or McCormack, but credits the latter with a six-mile record in 21:23 on the Crystal rink, Montreal, a twelve-lap track. McCormack says he can skate five miles in between seventeen and eighteen minutes, and Paulsen is confident he can make just as good time.
