NOTES OF THE DAY.

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS SERVED IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

Minor Events, Retrospective and Prospective, Gathered About the City By Our Alert Reporters.

The Granville Grays have regular drill this afternoon.

Mr. L. W. Stark is erecting another tenement house opposite the Hicks Tobacco Company.

Some patent medicine men are crying the merits of their remedies in front of the courthouse.

A killing frost occurred yesterday morning, and early vegetable plants fell under its blighting touch. There was another frost, though not so heavy, this morning.

The Oxford Tobacco Company are getting out some very fine advertising matter. They propose pushing their new brands of smoking tobacco from the very start.

Mr. F. Schwartz's horse, hitched to a dray, was standing in front the market house Saturday afternoon. Some dogs were hanging around and got into a row, and caused the animal to runaway and smash the vehicle.

Messrs. Hundley Bros. & Co. having gotten their new engine and machinery arranged, started today making brick. They have now splendid facilities for the manufacture of brick, and will turn them out very rapidly.

The slight change in the schedule of the southbound train on the O. & C. R. R., as announced in THE DAY a few days previous, went into effect yesterday afternoon. The train now reaches Oxford at 4:13 instead of 4:22 as heretofore.

The delegates to the Southern Press Association at Charleston, S. C., April 30th, will be paid free provided applications are received in time to issue passes. Delegates, who will go over lines of the R. & D. R. R. Co., are requested to send their applications at once to Mr. W. A. Turk, Division Passenger Agent, Raleigh, N. C., who will promptly provide the necessary transportation.

Mr. Jim Mead was brought in our office a freak of nature in what may be termed Siamese twin eggs. One of the eggs is full sized and the other about half the usual size. Both have soft shells, the larger one containing only the white substance and the smaller one the yolk, and they are joined together by a tube some two inches in length. They are the product of an eccentric Oxford hen.

Memorial Resolutions.

Whereas the Presbyterian Sunday School of Oxford has suffered the loss of one of its members in the recent sad death of Cadet David W. Cowles, of the Horner School, the following memorial resolutions were unanimously adopted:

1. That we have heard with sincere sorrow of the death of Cadet David W. Cowles, a member of this Sunday School, who had, by his genial disposition, honorable life and true manliness of character, won for him the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

2. That we bow with sorrowful hearts to this mysterious Providence, which removes from us in the spring time of his life one who gave such excellent promise of a life alike honorable to himself and useful to his fellow-men.

3. That we tender to his afflicted father and mother the expression of our heartfelt sympathy in this hour of their deep sorrow, and do assure them that we too will cherish the memory of their dear departed one.

4. That these resolutions be spread on our record, by the secretary, and that he send a copy to Hon. W. H. H. Cowles, the father of the deceased; and that the city papers be requested to publish.

J. S. Amis, G. A. Wauchope, W. R. Kenan, committee. W. C. Biggs, secretary.

A FATAL BLOW.

ONE NEGRO MAN KILLS ANOTHER WITH A PORTER BOTTLE.

Dick Landis and John Young Quarrel with Fatal Result--Frightful Wound--Coroner's Verdict.

About 11 o'clock Saturday night Dick Landis, a young negro man well known in the city, entered a restaurant on Main street kept by another negro man, named John Young. Landis had been drinking. The two men quarrelled over a woman Young had in his em-ployment as cook, and a fight ensued. In the melee, Young struck Landis on the head with some weapon, felling him to the floor and crushing in his skull with a frightful wound.

Young took to his heels, but was captured in the woods near town Sun-day morning by a pursuing party. Landis' condition was such that he could not be removed from the restau-rant. He was made as comfortable as possible, and the best medical atten-tion given him. He never recovered consciousness after he was struck, and died at ten o'clock last night.

Crowds were collected about the restaurant all day yesterday, and many people went in to see the injured man. The wound presented an awful sight, and several persons taint-d upon seeing it. A broken piece of the skull, diamond-shaped and about an inch across, which had been pressing on the brains, was removed by a surgical op-eration in the hope of relieving Landis, but it was without avail.

Just after Landis' death, Deputy Coroner Kenn summoned a jury, and the remains were viewed, after which an adjournment was had until eleven o'clock today.

There were no witnesses of the fight. Young's story is that Landis came into his restaurant with an open knife in his hand, and charged him, in offensive language, with having ill-treated the woman. Young succeeded in pacify-ing him to some extent, and Landis put the knife in his pocket. A few minutes later, the quarrel broke out afresh. Landis grabbed Young by the collar, when the latter, picking up a heavy black porter bottle, struck the former the fatal blow. Landis, while well-behaved when sober, was quarrel-some and considered dangerous when in his cups.

The coroner's jury rendered the fol-lowing verdict: "The deceased, Dick Landis, came to his death by a blow on the head with some weapon in the hands of John Young."

Minnie Williams, the woman in the case, being unable to give bond for appearance as witness, was sent to jail. It is expected Young will be put on trial in the Superior Court next Thurs-day.

Northern Savages.

Wilmington Star.

The savage are not confined to the uncivilized countries by a good deal. A gang of roughs in New York, a few days ago, caught a young man against whom they had a spite, and painted his face with vitriol. The victim screamed with pain while they yelled with delight. But little of his face was left, and one eye was completely destroyed.
