The Minor Events About the City as Gathered by the Alert Reporters of The Day.

W. K. Thomas lost a valuable horse Monday. The animal died of farcy.

The warehouses have sold some new Granville county tobacco in the last few days.

Mr. Smiley occupies the entire field in the medicine vending line at this term of court.

It was decided by the Board of Trade this morning to begin sales at 9:30 o'clock, a. m.

Watermelons and cantaloupes, native grown, are being offered now every day on the streets.

The pressed brick front of Messrs. Davis & Gregory's new warehouse promises to be very handsome.

In a mercantile way things are quiet, but our merchants are resting on their oars for a busy time in the autumn.

One of the most prominent of our young men will wend his way to Eastern Carolina next week, and take unto himself a better half.

As the work of improvement progresses, the number of visitors to the property of Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Company increases.

Oxford should be fully prepared when the rush comes, and it is coming before very long. Building welling houses for rent to provide homes for the new comers.

It is stated that a Richmond, Va., syndicate wants the franchise for a street railway in Oxford, and promises, if it is given to them, to build an electric system immediately.

The directors of the Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Company yesterday afternoon located the new knitting mills at the corner of Avenue B and Second street. Hundley Bros. & Co., the contractors, began hauling brick today, and will put up the building at once.

Granville Superior Court.

The following is the principal business transacted by Granville Superior Court since our report of yesterday:

Jacob Adcock, obtaining goods under false pretense; guilty; not yet sentenced.

William McGee and Cornelia Harris; guilty; not yet sentenced.

The case of John Young, charged with the murder of Dick Landis, was called this morning. The following jury was selected from regular jurors and a special venire of one hundred: J. A. S. Shotwell, E. G. Morris, Amos Dean, J. L. Clay, R. T. Brinkley, Barnett Eakes, M. P. Roberts, R. S. Carrin, J. P. Royster, J. R. Buchanan, W. R. Bullock, T. A. Riggs; all whites. The State witnesses are now being examined.

The next case to be tried is the State vs. the alleged cigarette trust.

Our Next Solicitor.

Capt. E. S. Parker, the next solicitor for the fifth congressional district, is in Oxford to-day. He is a gentleman of splendid physique and courtly manners. His legal attainments are of the highest order, and he will make a most faithful and valuable officer. His unanimous nomination was a merited recognition of his worth.

COMMUNICATIONS.

BRIEF DISCUSSION OF LIVE SUBJECTS BY THE PEOPLE.

Attention is Called to Violation of the City Ordinances, and Officers Asked to Enforce the Law.

EDITOR OF THE DAY.—A strong odor assails the smelling organs of those who go to or pass the market house that wasn't there when the building was erected and ought not to be there now. This place should be kept clean and free from bad smells. The officer in charge ought to see to it that the ordinance touching this matter is properly enforced.

Another thing: Boys frequently play marbles on the street, obstructing the sidewalks and annoying pedestrians, in defiance of the law made and provided. Of course this doesn't happen right under the policemen's observation, but it happens all the same. This morning a game was played on the very corner of Commercial Avenue and College street.

The Richmond Tobacco Market.

(Correspondence of THE DAY.)
RICHMOND, VA., July 22.—The market for last few days has been very firm with good demand for nearly all grades of bright tobacco. Sales while not large are moderately good, and are made every day. All grades of bright fillers seem to be in better demand than any other class and readily command good prices.

Dark tobaccos are also strong and considerably higher.

Deliveries just about offset receipts, while ordinarily they are not so large by half at this season of the year.

FRESH FROM THE PRESS.

State and General Items of Interest from Today's Papers.

The State of Vermont lacks one hundred thousand of having the population of Baltimore.

The Democratic Congressional Convention for the Fourth District meets at Durham tomorrow.

The Caldwell county Farmers' Alliance declare against the Sub Treasury bill, and endorse Senator Vance.

The Grand Alliance Rally begins at Greensboro today. Col. L. L. Polk will deliver an address tomorrow.

The election at Henderson Monday on the question of the Nash Railroad, it is said, resulted in 400 for and 17 against.

The Republican Congressional Convention for the Fifth District is being held at Greensboro today. The indications are that Brower will be renominated.

A correspondent of the Voice, writing from San Francisco to that paper, says the work of the eloquent Grady has evidently fallen upon the shoulders of Rev. Thos. Dixon, Jr.

The primaries insure the nomination of Congressman John S. Henderson over Mr. Leaser, Alliance candidate. Mr. Henderson nearly doubled Leaser's vote in the latter's home county.

The Durham Sun says: On Saturday evening last at Pittsboro, Chas. Harden, a white man, got into a difficulty with a negro by the name of Alex Moore, and killed him. The plea of Harden is that he did it in self defense. He has been bound over to court in a bond of $500. These are all the particulars we could gather this morning.

The North Carolina Press Association is meeting in convention in Durham today. The programme for today is as follows: 10 A. M.—Opening of the eighteenth annual session. 2:30 P. M.—The president will deliver his address and the historian will read his paper. 8:30 P. M.—Public meeting at Stokes Hall. Address of welcome and response. Oration by Robert Haydn, editor of the Charlotte Chronicle. 10 P. M.—Banquet at Hotel Claiborn.

Charlotte is soon to have another military company, says the Charlotte Chronicle. The North State Club, one of the finest civic organizations in the State, and which is composed of leading young men of the city, has become enthused with the idea of forming a military organization with such of its members as care to join. So far, 70 have signified their desire to enlist as members of the company. Amongst this number are many who were in active service in the late war, as officers and privates.

The following regarding the State Guard at Camp Latimer is taken from the Wilmington Messenger: The plan of encampment will permit of more thorough instruction in tactics and there will be more room for evolution than there was last year. Rifle practice will also receive close attention under the direction of Col. Stanhope E. Blunt, of the U. S. Army, who is an eminent authority and the author of valuable treatises on this branch of the service. A detachment of artillery from Fortress Monroe, consisting of nine men, arrived yesterday evening and will give instructions in battery drills and in cannon and mortar firing at the permanent grounds. The mortar range will be two thousand and the cannon range three thousand yards.
