NOTES OF THE DAY.

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS SERVED IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

The Minor Events About the City as Gathered by the Alert Reporters of The Day.

"Uncle's Darling" at the Opera House tonight.

Merchandise trade is looking up in Oxford this week.

Rev. J. T. Harris will preach at the Methodist Church tomorrow morning.

Heavy reports come from South Oxford. They are blowing up stumps with dynamite.

Real estate is changing hands here in a lively way, and outsiders are the purchasers in many instances.

W. T. Alston will soon open a grocery store in the Johnson Warehouse building on College street.

The "Uncle's Darling" troupe will arrive on the afternoon train from the north. They played last night at Farmville, Va.

For the benefit of the clerks in the stores, it being Saturday night, the curtain at the Opera House tonight will be raised at a later hour than usual.

The Young Men's Democratic Club of Oxford will meet in the courthouse next Monday night. Bear this in mind and attend, members and those who wish to become members.

The farmers of our county are awakening to the importance of insuring their packhouses and other property, and every day finds some of them in town looking for the insurance agents.

The company that appears at the Opera House tonight is strictly first-class and gives a refined entertainment. "Uncle's Darling" will please everyone, and everyone ought to go to see it.

B. F. Taylor yesterday contracted with Hundley Bros. & Co. to build him a dwelling house on the same spot where the one destroyed by fire last week stood. It will be a two-story frame building.

Doth recognize the picture? The Durham Globe of yesterday says: "An Oxford man was seen on the streets this morning, mounted on a low-wheeled bicycle with a nobby lantern in front for traveling at night."

The Durham Brass Band has been engaged by the Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Company to make music here October 9, 10 and 11th, when the allotment of lots and the great sale come off.

"Uncle's Darling," as played by charming Hettie Bernard Chase and her troupe of bright actors at the Opera House tonight, will shake out that laugh that has been rusting in your throat for these many months.

The Oxford Female Seminary has over one hundred pupils enrolled. Forty seven are boarders, and Prof. N. Penick has letters from several other young ladies who will arrive Monday. The indications are that in a very few weeks the school will be the largest in its history.

Religious Services Tomorrow.

PURELY PERSONAL.

The Doings and Whereabouts of Some People You Know.

A. G. Gump, of Baltimore, is in the city today.

W. T. Stem arrived in the city from Stem this morning.

Miss Eva Whitfield went to Henderson in Oxford yesterday afternoon.

Capt. J. B. Hussey, of that solid paper, the National Democrat, is in the city today.

C. H. Landis left this morning for a trip to the northern markets to buy good for A. Landis & Sons' store.

C. J. McHenry, of Richmond, arrived in Oxford yesterday afternoon, and will spend a week or more in the city.

M. Oppenheimer left this morning for a short visit to Scotland Neck, N. C., where his family is staying for a few weeks.

Phil Thomas left this morning for Williamsboro to spend a while. J. R. Couch is in his place at J. G. Hall's drugstore during his absence.

Oxford Literary Society.

Another very interesting meeting of the Oxford Literary Society took place last night at the residence of Capt. A. Landis.

J. A. White presided, and in him the Society has all that could be desired for a president. He fills that position with ease and dignity. The election of a critic was the first thing in order. Dr. Wauchope was elected, and immediately entered upon the duties of the office. The play under discussion was "Cymbeline." The program was as follows:

Reading from play—F. P. Hobgood, Jr.

Instrumental duet—Miss Landis and Mrs. Furman.

Reading from play—Misses Hobgood and Daisy Horner.

Instrumental solo—Miss Wyche.

Reading from play—W. T. Lyon.

Vocal solo—Mrs. J. A. White.

Epitome of play—Miss Hughes.

Essay—Subject: Imogen—Dr. Wauchope.

Report of critic—Dr. Wauchope, critic.

It is needless for us to add that the performance was both interesting and instructive. Capt. T. J. Drewry, W. Landis and Miss Belle Cooper were unanimously elected members of the Society, and three other names were handed in to be voted upon at the next meeting, which will take place at the residence of Prof. Hobgood on October 3rd. The play, "Timon of Athens," will be discussed.

Removed to Oxford.

Rev. J. T. Harris, superintendent of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, removed his family from Durham to our city last evening. They occupy the superintendent's residence on the Asylum grounds. THE DAY, on behalf of the Oxford citizens, extend the newcomers a most cordial welcome.

Bishop Hargrove declined to release Mr. Harris from his duties as presiding elder of the Durham M. E. District, and he will have the work of both offices to perform until the meeting of the conference.

Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer Co.: Dear Sir—I cheerfully add mine to your now numerous testimonials of the Microbe Killer, having used some for indigestion and a severe throat trouble. After using five gallons I find myself entirely cured. Yours truly,

THE LATEST NEWS.

SIFTED AND ARRANGED FOR THE BUSY READER.

Happenings in North Carolina and Elsewhere as Gathered from Today's Exchanges.

The President signed the Anti-Lottery and the River and Harbor bills at Cresson yesterday.

Dion Boucicault, the actor, died in New York Thursday. He was born in Ireland, December 26, 1822.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: Yesterday evening, about 6:30 o'clock, as the Oxford and Clarksville passenger and mail train due here at 7 o'clock, was coming this way, it ran over and instantly killed a white man named Carpenter, at a point about midway between Morrisville and Cary.

Advices from Higo state that the Turkish Man of War Ertogroul has foundered at sea and that five hundred of her crew were drowned. The Ertogroul was a wooden frigate-built cruiser of 2,334 tons displacement. She mounted forty-one guns of small calibre and was built in 1863. Osman Pacha and Alli Pacha, envoys of the Sultan to the Emperor of Japan, were passengers on the Ertogroul and were drowned.

Mr. John Robinson, State Commissioner of Agriculture, received a telegram stating that his brother, George L. Robinson, was killed by a cotton gin yesterday at his home near Wadesboro. He was working at the gin when one of his arms was caught and was torn off up to the elbow. He bled to death before medical aid could reach him. This is the fourth occurrence of this kind that has been recorded within two weeks.

A Monroe, N. C., special of the 18th to the Charlotte Chronicle says: There was a murder committed in this county last night, near Silver Springs, and about twenty yards this side of the South Carolina line. As usual, the subject of the row was a woman, about which two negroes, Reece Bird and Jim Caster, had a dispute, and got into a difficulty. It was in the dark, and both men drew their knives and pistols. Bird shot Caster twice, and killed him almost instantly, Caster dying with a knife in one hand and a pistol in the other. Bird was arrested and lodged in jail here to await his trial.

Big Times Ahead.

The Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Company will have the allotment of lots and sale of a limited number of lots on October 9, 10 and 11.

It will be a grand occasion.

Excursion rates have been secured on the railroads, and thousands of visitors are looked for.

The company is making preparations to entertain its guests in a handsome manner.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 12, 1890. Radam's Microbe Killer Company, Nashville, Tenn.

Gentlemen—A member of my family has been afflicted with asthma for several years, the attacks recurring from time to time as usual with this disease. In May or June of last year, 1889, these attacks became almost continuous, hardly a day or night passed without suffering from the distressing attacks until I became alarmed on account of the loss of sleep and the severity of the disease, fearing a general decline of the health. I consulted several eminent physicians in New York and in this city, but with no beneficial results from their prescriptions. About the first of September she commenced using the Microbe Killer, and since that time has never had a return of the paroxysms, and her general health has been correspondingly improved. I can cheerfully recommend the Microbe Killer to all asthmatic sufferers. Yours, etc.,

HETTIE BERNARD CHASE.

"One of the Most Charming Women on the American Stage."

The gifted little actress, who will play "Uncle's Darling" at the Opera House tonight, receives the warmest compliments from the press and people wherever she appears. Our citizens have a rare dramatic treat in store for them. It is not likely that a better troupe—if nearly as good—will visit our city this season.

Miss Chase and her brilliant company were in Knoxville, Tenn., in the last week or two, and the Daily Tribune of that place says:

One of the most charming women on the American stage is Hettie Bernard Chase. She has fine talent and though very young has already been remarkably successful. The people of Knoxville are delighted with her as evidenced by the cordial reception given her last night at Staub's Theatre. She appeared last night as "Little Dar" in "Uncle's Darling," the play written expressly for her by Chas. W. Chase. Had her reputation not already been established her successful appearance in this drama would have placed her in the front rank. She is as full of life as a cricket and this fine character affords opportunity for the display of those traits of character which make a beautiful woman appear lovely. Though it is only acting her heart, her soul seems to shine through it. Her songs, dances and banjo playing captivated the audience.

Frank Calbert, who played the part of "Uncle Billy," is an actor of marked ability and presented the character in a manner which called forth unstinted applause.

One of the best stage Chinamen we have ever seen was John Cassidy, who presented the part of "Ah Lin." He furnished a large portion of fun of the play.

The other characters were well sustained. The specialties were greatly applauded. The quartette, the duets, the comic songs and dances would have furnished a fine entertainment without the drama.
