WILLIAMS HERE.

HE MEETS BROWER IN JOINT DE-BATE IN OXFORD TODAY.

The Radical Boss Said His Opponent Was Afraid to Meet Him in Granville --Williams Cancels an Appointment to Disprove the Cheeky Boast.

Congressman Brower repeated at Stovall yesterday the senseless charge that Capt. Williams was afraid to meet him in Granville county. The idea of a brainy, courageous man, such as Capt. Williams, fearing to face before his own people an intellectual and frothy pigmy, such as Mr. Brower! It is preposterous, and only a brazen braggart would have the cheek to say it.

This outrageous boast of Mr. Brower's was telegraphed to Capt. Williams and he cancelled his appointment at Stem for today and came on to Oxford.
He engages in joint debate with the little Republican boss in the Opera House this afternoon.

Brower counted on his opponent staying away, and he will be heartily sorry that he shot off his mouth so recklessly before the sun goes down this evening.

THE DAY will give report of the debate in the next issue.

Both Want Him.

After copying an article from THE DAY to the effect that Rev. Joseph Rennie has accepted a call to give his whole time to the Presbyterian church in Oxford, the Chase City Progress says:

While it is of course a source of much pleasure to Mr. Rennie's many friends and admirers in this community to see in what high appreciation he is held in Oxford, our people are quite as appreciative of his gifts and Christian characters as our North Carolina friends. The unusual ability displayed in the preparation and delivery of his sermons and his earnest and consecrating labors in our town, have won for him here a reputation of which any minister might well be proud, and his work here has indeed been a most grand and successful one. It would be a source of most sincere regret, not only to the members of the Presbyterian church here, but to our entire community, should it become necessary for him to leave us. The church here has appointed a large delegation to appear before Roanoke Presbytery, a called meeting of which will be held here on November 6th, and urge his retention as Pastor of the Chase City church, and every possible effort, financial and otherwise, will be made to secure this much desired result.

LITTLE LOCALS.

The Minor Events About the City Served in Short Paragraphs.

The new enterprises constantly started here show that Oxford is one of the liveliest of live towns.

Rev. Joseph Rennie will preach in the Opera House tomorrow morning and night.

The Oxford Orphan Asylum is in pressing need of help. Collections were taken up in the city the last day or two to buy blankets to protect the little ones from the cold. We understand that the Asylum is several thousand dollars in debt.

The Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Company is going to make a success of that hundred thousand dollar cotton factory. They say —and what could be fairer?—that they will refund to stockholders every cent paid in if the factory is not built and operated as promised.

Just consider the tremendous enterprises in South Oxford and you will readily see why the future of that part of the city is assured. Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Co., $150,000; the Modern Tobacco Barn Co., Limited, $250,000; land company's cotton factory, $100,000; Oxford Knitting Mills, $10,000.

PURELY PERSONAL.

The Doings and Whereabouts of Some People You Know.

Col. R. O. Gregory went to Stovall on the morning train.

Dr. J. M. Hays went to Bullock's this morning on professional business.
We learn with much regret that Miss Mattie W. Rountree, of the Orphans' Friend, is quite sick.

Capt. A. H. A. Williams arrived home on the morning train from Durham, and was warmly greeted by his friends.

J. F. Hobgood and family, who were here visiting relatives, left this morning for their home in Mecklenburg county, Va.

J. R. Roller, after an absence of several months in Washington, D. C., returned to the city last night. We are glad to know that he is much improved in health.

Hi. Henry's Gorgeous Palace Car.

The magnificent, palatial car in which manager Hi. Henry and his famous minstrels of 30 stars are making their present tour, is one of the finest ever constructed, and without doubt the finest ever expressly built for the show business. It is of itself a curiosity, being the special design of its owner and interiorized in the most lavish manner. It has all modern improvements, parlors, bed rooms, bath rooms, kitchen, dining apartments, electric bells, speaking tubes, automatic danger brakes and an innumerable list of other innovations. The car has frequently been pronounced superior to those of our great railroad magnates. It certainly embraces features not embraced by any other similar structure, features of which its proprietor and builder, Mr. Hi. Henry, is the inventor. It will be brought with them in all the towns they appear unless prevented by low bridges, sharp curves or some unforeseen emergency impossible to surmount.

Hi. Henry's Minstrels will be in Oxford next Wednesday night, November 5. They give an entertainment of rare excellence, without objectionable features.

Admission 25, 50 and 75 cents.
Reserved seats for sale at J. G. Hail's drugstore.

$250,000 CAPITAL.

COMPANY, LIMITED.

Articles of Incorporation Just Taken Out--Factories and Principal Office in Oxford.

Score a quarter of a million dollar manufacturing enterprise for Oxford!

THE DAY mentioned some time ago that the manufacturers of the Modern Tobacco Barn, now of High Point, N.
C., would remove their valuable plant to our city and largely increase their capital and business.

D. A. Waters, W. H. Snow, J. B.
Roney and D. G. Devenish, Philadelphia, Pa., and High Point, N. C., capitalists, have just filed articles of incorporation in the office of the Superior Court clerk of Granville county, and were declared a body corporate under the name of the Modern Tobacco Barn Company, Limited, with headquarters in Oxford.

The capital stock is $250,000, divided into shares of $100 each, with the right to increase the stock to $500,000.

It is set forth that the purposes of the company is to construct tobacco barns protected by letters patent; to manufacture tobacco sticks, hangers, baskets and barn fixtures; to manufacture chewing and smoking tobacco and snuff; to buy and sell leaf tobacco; to operate foundry and machine shops, and to manufacture all kinds of wood material.

The various factories of this powerful corporation will be located in South Oxford. One of their buildings —of brick, fifty by two hundred feet in dimension—is already in course of erection.

This is one of the biggest things in the State, and the credit of securing it for our city belongs to the Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Co.

Cut Almost to Death.

The Durham Sun says that Thursday night Silas Yancey, of Durham, a flagman on the O. & C. freight, walked into some place of business at Keysville, and in there he found two negro men in a hot dispute. He made some remark to them upon the foolishness of engaging in any difficulty, and they turned upon him with their abuse.
As he was leaving one of the negro men walked partly in front of him as if to prevent his exit, and when he reached the door, the negro whipped out a knife and, before Yancey could take in the situation, he was cut six times across the stomach. His assailant ran after he did the cutting, and Yancey gave chase, running him a hundred yards or more before he fully realized how badly he had been wounded. He is now at Keysville in a very critical condition, and we learn the chance for his recovery is very slight.

The negro made his escape at the time Yancey gave chase, but later in the night he was captured in the loft of an unoccupied building near town.
When found he was asleep but armed with two pistols, a bowie knife and a shot gun. His arrest was made so quick he did not have time to use any of his arsenal. We could not learn his name.

HOUSTON, TEXAS, JUNE 20, 1888.

For the public:
My wife has been troubled with chronic liver complaint and kidney disease for many years, coupled with indigestion and a stubborn constipation of her bowels. She has taken three jugs of Radam's Microbe Killer, and feels greatly improved in all respects, and has strong hopes of a permanent relief by continuing the use of the Microbe Killer. W. HARRAL.

HALLOWEEN PARTY.

A Delightful Evening Spent at the Granville Institute.

There is nothing that gives an Oxford young man more pleasure than an invitation to a reception at the Granville Institute. He is sure to find charming young ladies, good music, dainty refreshments and a courteous welcome from the lady principal.
Many responded to such an invitation on last evening.

After a short time spent in conversation, all participated in dancing the old "Virginia Reels." Then the company was ushered into a darkened room, where two apparently old and decrepid women were stirring a pot, placed over a slow fire, and grumbling much that it boiled no better. One after another of the young people passed around and their fortunes were told, some good and some bad.

On a sudden a few bright sparks revealed the witches faces to be remarkably beautiful, and the suppressed titter that followed was more like the laugh of merry young girls than that of hags.
After one young man had been informed that he would "die in the pen;" another that he should woo and win seven wives, and a third that he should be the happy father of nineteen children, the party descended to the dining room and refreshments were served, which were especially enjoyable, as fair young hands had prepared them.

After supper the company repaired to the parlor, where the remainder of the evening was spent in music, dancing and conversation. The music was all enjoyable; the instrumental duet by Misses Hyde and Gregory was very fine.

It is on "Hallow'een" that destinies are decided, and ere this the participants have doubtless seen their life partners in dreamland.

Rev. J. O. Corliss, pastor of the Methodist Church at New Gretna, Burlington County, N. J., writes very encouragingly as follows:
Dr. G. W. Kirk. Dear Sir—About four years ago I took a heavy cold that resulted in a stubborn catarrh. It increased in severity, gradually extending downward to the pharynx and larynx, thence to the bronchia. The back part of my throat was covered with ulcers; my voice lost its strength and resonance, sometimes fading away into aspirations. To go out into cool air was to be filled up with phlegm and mucous until it was no pleasure to leave the house. I tried remedies official and remedies patented, with no relief, the disease still increased in malignance. Radam's Microbe Killer was suggested to me, and had some one other than yourself had charge of it I should have dismissed it from my mind.
Having confidence in your judgment, I fell "there must be something in it." A faithful use of the remedy has convinced me that there is salvation in it for every catarrh sufferer. I feel improved in every way, health much improved; voice strong, discharges much less profuse, ulcers healed; hoarseness gone, can get a full breath of air—in short, can say the remedy is all that is claimed for it. Yours, J. O. R. CORLISS.
