NOTES OF THE DAY.

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS SERVED IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

The Minor Events About the City as Gathered by the Alert Reporters of The Day.

The West Oxford Land Company is selling stock rapidly.

Capt. A. S. Peace is having his residence on Raleigh street re-covered.

H. J. Hester has opened a restaurant in the old Grandy stand on Main street.

Rev. Jos. Rennie will preach in Chase City next Sunday morning and night.

A young colored girl, a lunatic, was put in the county jail yesterday afternoon.

It tobacco keeps pouring in in this way our board of trade will have to arrange for double sales every day.

Strangers visiting Oxford see at a glance that it is a thrifty, go a-head town with a bright future before it.

The new Presbyterian Church will be trimmed with Ohio buff stone. The foundation of the building is about completed.

Chief of Police Renn is busy preparing the signboards for the corners of the streets, and says he will soon put them up.

Oxford has made great progress this year. The foundation has been laid for a prosperous and populous manufacturing city.

Odd Fellows are reminded that there will be an important called meeting of Lodge No. 103 tonight. A full attendance is desired.

The stately minuet figures in the pantomime, "Mistletoe Bow," to be played at the Opera House; Friday night, November 28.

The Oxford tobacco market keeps up with big sales and big prices. This has been one of the busiest weeks our tobaccoists have had in some time.

We are informed that the recital tonight at the Oxford Female Seminary, referred to in yesterday's paper, will be a private affair and no invitations have been extended.

Many of the owners of lots in South Oxford will build next summer. A large number of dwelling houses will be needed over there for the employes of the various factories.

Lots on the Kingsbury property, sold less than a year ago for division of the estate, have since doubled in value. Recently offers of a hundred per cent profit have been made and refused.

Carpenters are hard at work on the six dwelling houses, of the Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Co. in South Oxford, and will soon have them finished. Parties are ready to move into them.

Thos. A. Cozart has a handsome new buggy—probably the finest in the State. It took the first prize at the last State Fair. His pair of blacks hitched to this vehicle make a turnout that would challenge admiration anywhere.

Meeting of Asylum Directory.

Grand Master S. H. Smith, of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the State, has called a meeting in Raleigh today of the directors of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, to elect a new superintendent.

Hcn A. H. A. Williams, who is a member of the board, is in Raleigh to attend this meeting.

Exchanges.

Fife, the drummer evangelist, is holding a revival in a warehouse in Louisburg.

Barker Bros., bankers and brokers, of Philadelphia, failed yesterday.
Liabilities about $3,000,000.

The Indians are excited, but have not yet gone on the war path. United States troops are on the frontier in readiness for an outbreak.

The National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union will convene at Ocala, Fla., December 2nd. Thirty-five States will be represented.

Dr. Abernathy has already secured three thousand dollars to rebuild Ruth-ertord College. He says he expects to rebuild it if he lives long enough.

The State board of canvassers will assemble in Raleigh Thursday, Nov.
27, and make official returns of the State and Congressional votes in the recent election.

Cards are out for the marriage of John T. Schaaff of Washington, D.
C., to Miss Lillian Arnold, the talented and widely-known daughter of Rev. J. D. Arnold of the North Carolina Conference. The ceremony will take place at Centenary Methodist Church, Richmond, Nov. 27th.

The superintendents of the city schools and the county superintendents of public instruction will hold a meeting in the city of Raleigh, beginning the 26 of December, for the purpose of discussing educational matters.
This meeting is looked forward to as one from which much good will result.

The Winston correspondent of the Raleigh State Chronicle says: Quite a sensation was caused here yesterday when it was found that two young ladies of Salem, whose character is unquestioned, took $200 of their fathers money and boarded the train for the North. Various theories as to the reason of their action have been heard, but the prevailing impression is that they eloped for the purpose of marrying some where in the North, while a great many think they had a traveling mania.
The relatives of the young ladies are sorely distressed and have telegraphed all the authorities along the different lines to arrest them.

The Washington Post says: It is a rather curious feature of the Farmers' Alliance campaign that it produced a crop of orators. The rules of the Alliance forbid the admission of lawyers, school-teachers, ministers and other professional talkers, and thus the farmers have been compelled to do their own speech-making. The result has been interesting. Men who were hitherto dumb have developed a latent oratorical ability, and many who are now the Alliance lecturers were a few months ago saying nothing more than "Gee! whoa!" to an ox team. A man named Freeman, living at Hendersonville, in the N. C. mountains, is a conspicuous example of this change. He is tall and guant, like most mountaineers, and he smokes a stubby clay pipe that continually threatens to burn his nose. But like the prophet of the Great Smoky Mountains, he is a wonderful talker, rivaling Wendell Phillips in fervid eloquence, with a voice as musical as Patti's, but strong enough to reach 10,000 people in the open air. On the streets of Washington he would look like a day laborer, but when he opens his mouth, if all reports are true, no dog would dare to bark.

"Ben Hur" and the "Fair God," by Wallace, at the Oxford Book Store.

Grapes 10 cents a lb. Couch's drugstore.

Big bargains in tinware at Rawls.

Parties wishing to purchase Iron Safe will save money by calling on J. F. Edwards. He is agent for Macneal & Ur-band's Iron Sales.

LAI D TO REST.

The Funeral of Rev. J. T. Harris yesterday Afternoon.

Durham Sun.

The bells toll solemnly.
Trinity church is draped in mourning, and has been tastily decorated with white chrysanthemums by loving hands. In the vestibule were two small stands heavily draped in mourning bearing bowls of white flowers. Just back of the pulpit on both sides were lovely pyramids of beautiful flowers. "Let me die the death of the righteous," wrought in white flowers and outlined with black cloth, rested on the wall to the left of the pulpit.
"And let my end be like his," was to the right.

The funeral dirge was expressive of deep sorrow. Our citizens met with sympathetic hearts and paid the last tribute of respect to one esteemed and beloved wherever he was known.

The following ministers acted as pallbearers: Rev. J. F. Crowell, of Trinity College, Dr. B. F. Dixon, of Greensboro Female College, Rev. Dr.
J. H. Cordon, of Edenton Street Church, Raleigh, Rev. W. L. Cun-ingim, Oxford, Rev. D. L. Earn-ward, Burlington, Rev. R. H. Whitaker, of Chapel Hill Church and Revs. T.
J. Gattis and R. F. Bumpass, of Durham.

The funeral was largely attended—one of the largest we have ever witnessed in Duham. Dr. E. A. Yates preached from the text: "Let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like his." It was a very impressive sermon. Our time is limited; we wish we could dwell upon his earnest words.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. Among them was a magnificent Gate Ajar of exquisite flowers from Main St. M. E. Church.
On one end of the ribbon attached to it was the following inscription: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." The other end contained this: "Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day, and not me only but unto all them also that love his appearing."

Another beautiful tribute was from Carr Church which represented a Star and Crescent of lovely flowers.
The ribbon bore the sweet promises:
"Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God."

A lovely cross of choice flowers was the offering from Trinity Church.
And among others handsome offerings from Mrs. B. N. Duke and Mrs. R. E.
Lyon.

The remains was borne to the city cemetery, the bells of Trinity and Main street churches tolling during the march, and there laid to rest, attended by a vast concourse of people.
