LOCAL & STATE QUIBS.

Powerful warm yesterday—a regular stunner.

The style is for engaged ladies to dress as plain as possible.

A sweetheart is called a turtle dove, a coquette must be a mock-turtle.

A woman seats herself in a pew in seven motions: a man with one.

Nice weather for pic nics.

Reports continue to reach us from the country very unfavorable to the crops of tobacco plants.

We are very sorry to hear of the extreme illness of two of the orphans at the Asylum.

N. C. cut Herrings at 15 cts per dozen at WILLIAMS & BRYAN'S.

We learn that the Pic-Nic at Kittrell's last Thursday was a very brilliant affair.

Just received a pretty line of Ladies and Misses trimmed and untrimmed Hats. GRANDY & BRO.

We made a mistake yesterday in stating that that County Convention would meet on the 26th, it should have been Monday the 29th of May.

There are 13 Democratic papers in the Sixth Congressional district. No wonder the majorities there run up into the thousands.

Owing to the carelessness of one of our Compositors there were several greivous errors in the CLARION yesterday. Our readers will please pass "Our imperfections by," this time.

We saw twenty-five (more or less) young ladies on the street at different times yesterday, and ail of them had beautiful streamers attached to their hats, which fell in graceful folds upon their shoulders. How beautiful they (the ladies) looked.

Those slipper—Yes, they have been here in the post-office for more than a month, but we did not know that they were for us, because the address was wrong. Our kind friend will please accept our many thanks for them. They are beautiful and will be very comfortable this sultry weather.

Don Piatt announces with a sneer the death of Dr. Hall, of Hall's Journal of Health. He seems to think any man who could not keep from dying and yet undertook to publish a Journal of Health was a fraud.

The Raleigh News says: During the Memorial services Wednesday the Fedeaal officers stationed here, together with their wives, contributed a wagon load of Flowers on the graves of the Confederate dead. We saw Mrs. General Barstow with a basketful of flowers made into wreaths and crosses, which with the assistance of the General, she placed upon the graves of the South Carolina soldiers buried in the cemetery.

SOUTH SIDE DOTS.—Tobacco plants are very scarce in the vicinity of Mt Energy. There can't possibly be more than half a crop planted. corn, peas and potatoes are being planted in the tobacco-hill,—sensible farmers they are.

Mr Energy presents quite a different appearance from what it used to. Robert Stane of Franklin county, now has his "blue tent stretched" for the purpose of photographing your ugliness—who first?

Ex-Sheriff Moore and other "publican simmers" give notice that they will horangue the black white-hearted and the white black-hearted "publicans" in and around Mt Energy on 29th—we wonder if they will do like the Sheriff and some of his "use-to-be-friends" did when the Sheriff was last a candidate—got all the "niggers" drunk and left them fighting worse than dogs—that's their principles &c.
