HIS BREAK

Fred—Give me a kiss.
Nina—And what reason have you for wishing to kiss me?
Fred (embarrassed)—I had a reason, but I—er—have lost it.
Nina—Then you'd better go. I couldn't think of kissing a man who had lost his reason.

WANTED INCENTIVE

She—Would you save me if I should start to drown?
He—Sure, if your father is well rated.

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Helen—Don't you think it unsafe in such deep water?
Henry—Oh! no, indeed! Got in much deeper water last season. I nearly became engaged to one of the girls down here.

ICE

Honest Now, Are You Not Always Glad to See our Wagon

You may fret when it is late and may be tempted to think unkind things about us, but when the wagon turns the corner does not the sense of relief which you experience show how truly welcome the coming of the wagon is. In most cases when the wagon is late in reaching your door it is because some customers on your route have held it back, and their thoughtlessness, while unintentional, makes you suffer. We are quite sure that you would not knowingly delay the ice wagon on its way to homes where sickness and suffering prevail. On the contrary, if you could speed it along, you would. There is scarcely a day in which the wagon on your route does not go to homes where anxious mothers are watch for it with heavy hearts. You can speed the wagon by answering the call promptly, by having the road clear to the refrigerator, by having the change or the coupon in hand, and in other ways which your own intelligence will suggest.

We know you are going to act on this hint now and hereafter. Thank you!
