Children have reason to recognize their potentiality in an academic way when it is stated that the school gardens cared for by the children of Worcester, Mass., netted $3,400 this year, an increase of $900 over last year.

We need each other's help. We need the consecrated parent as much as we need the consecrated teacher. In the name of our children and in the name of Him who trusted them into our care let us stand shoulder to shoulder in the great work of education, ever onward, ever upward.

The Albemarle Enterprise says, Senator Overman will be re-elected, not for any one great triumph of his, but for his years of honest, disinterested service for State and nation. There has been no "fuss and feathers" about his course, but his record speaks for itself. Surely his critics needs not try to bring about his defeat by the puerile tactics they are now pursuing.

It is a well known fact that colored or white labor on the farms is getting to be a thing of the past. The farmer of today is up against a proposition in that respect. It is almost impossible to secure enough help outside the family to house the crops. The time is at hand when Granville farmers will have to do away with hired farm labor and go to using machinery. A large number of them are gradually coming to that now.

Many inquiries have come in to Gov. Craig the past few days as to whether or not he will actually go out on the public roads Nov. 5 and 6, North Carolina good roads days, and do personal work on the roads. He says it is certainly his intention to do so, and he is confidently expecting that the people generally will follow his example and that a far stride in road building will be taken the State over on these two days.

Put Congressmen in Jail.

President Huerta, of Mexico, did not want any Congress, so he put the Congressmen in jail, and made himself law-giver and dictator says an exchange. President Menacol, of Cuba, could not get his Congressmen to meet in extra session to pass a revenue act. President Wilson, of Uncle Sam, needs Congress and is doing his best to keep it in session as it is the only law-making body for a Republic of one hundred million population. This is a strictly constitutional government and the American President knows he is powerless unless the representatives of the people and the States will co-operate with him.

The State Fair.

The fifty-third annual State Fair opened in Raleigh Tuesday with a large attendance, the address being delivered by Governor Craig. The enlargement of the grounds and equipment and large exhibits make it one of the very best fairs yet held. Never before has the State Fair had as extensive and complete agricultural exhibits and exhibits of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs, along with the varied industries of the State. The automobile and machinery exhibits were very large. The attendance each day was good and the people enjoyed the varied amusements as well as the horse races.

The addition of 18 acres and new concrete barns for cattle, horses, sheep and hogs at a cost of $10,000 makes it one of the finest fair grounds in the South.

The Books of The Bible.

Do you know how many books there are in the Bible? You once knew but you have forgotten? Let us tell you one good way to remember, so as never to forget. First, write down the words, "Old Testament."

Now, how many letters are in the word "Old?" Three. How many in the word "Testament?" Nine. Put three and nine together and you have 39—the number of books in the Old Testament.

Next, write down the words, "New Testament."

There are also in "New" and "Testament" 3 and 9 letters. Now multiply 3 by 9 and you have 27—the number of books in the New Testament.

Of course by adding 39 and 27 you have 66—the number of books in the Bible.

Any boy or girl who will read this over twice will never forget how many books are in the Bible.

Eager for Publicity.

Southern towns are eager for publicity and the fact that practically every city, town and hamlet is anxious to make itself known abroad is strong evidence that their citizens recognize their merits and are convinced of the resources and adaptibilities of their respective sections. It has been said that the "first evidence of a live town is that its people get together to advertise its many great advantages to outside world," but that isn't the first evidence of a live town. It might be "exhibit two" or something like that, for the first evidence of a live town is that a town's people unite to build up their own town themselves, says the Wilmington Star. Publicity for their town means that their purpose is to attract others there to assist in promoting the development and growth of the town. That should be the purpose, for it is mighty hard to attract newcomers to a town that has not done something for itself.

When a town's own people erect handsome business houses and attractive homes and establish manufacturing industries that increase the evidences of thrift and enterprise, they will have something to show newcomers who may be induced to come and look the town over. The best way to attract and impress visitors is to make a town look like a veritable hive of industry. When a town's people show their confidence in their own town and give it an air of prosperity through their own energy and enterprise, that is "the first evidence of a live town." In fact it is the ground work of publicity, for they will have a town that will be worth advertising.
