GRANVILLE COUNTY COLORED FAIR

Display Shows Much Good Judgment and Energy

The Granville County Colored Fair brought together over two thousand of the industrious colored population of the county on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. It was a most orderly crowd and it was not necessary for the chief of police at the Fair grounds to speak to a single individual.

On Wednesday morning Dr. J. A. Morris was introduced by H. P. Cheatham, and his talk along agricultural lines was heartily received. Dr. G. C. Shaw, president of Mary Potter school, followed Dr. Morris in a strong speech, urging the colored people on to a still better fair.

The Mary Potter school exhibit of fancy work was very neat, embracing some very large pieces of drawn work and embroidery.

The exhibit of needle work was very large and elegant.

The exhibit of bread, cakes and nick-nacks shows that the colored people know how to prepare those things to perfection.

The farm exhibits were very strong, especially those of J. P. Mangum and Buck Allen. And the general display of farm products was equally as good as that of the Granville County Fair held last week, and it is barely possible that they surpassed the white people on the tobacco display.

The display of poultry, swine and stock was rather short, but what they had was very creditable.

In conversation with Dr. Shaw and some of the other members of the Executive Board they expressed themselves as highly pleased with the progress of the Fair this year.

On every hand one could see an honest effort on the part of the colored people to excel. The Public Ledger extends congratulations to the Granville County Colored Fair Association for the fine showing they made this year, and we wish them continued success.

"Shepherd of the Hills."

Gaskill and MacVisty announce for production at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday night, October 31st, Harold Bell Wright's dramatization, Mr. Wright was collaborated with Elsberrry W. Reynolds. "The Shepherd of the Hills" is a story of humor and pathos told in a simple, direct manner, of love, mystery and heroism, with its scenes all in the Ozark mountains, Southern Missouri, where the author lived and preached for some years. There are several exciting incidents, including the night ride of the splendid heroine over the hills through a storm; an attack upon the shepherd, and the moral victory of a man when a panther is about to spring upon his rival, but there is no melodramatic touch to the play.

Entertainment at Penny Hill

There will be a Halloween entertainment at Penny Hill.

'Tis harvest time o' year
'Tis a rich harvest too
And tho' the night be drear
Let us to Halloween be true.
And to Penny Hill let's all bring
A pocket full o' nickles and dimes
To catch the apples on the string
And see the freaks of ghostly time.
Remember the time and the place;
Friday, October 31st, 7:30 p. m.,
Penny Hill school house, Oxford,
Route 5.

Fair Premiums.

The following should have been added to premium list:

Best general display of field crops, Carolina Lodge Farm. Second, Water Line Farm.

Owing to the fact that Mr. Caldwell was officially connected with the Fair and did not care to have the exhibit from his farm in competition the first prize was awarded to P. L. Thomasson of the Water Line Farm. Mr. Thomasson's exhibit was highly commended by all who saw it.

Will Visit Oxford

The Washington Correspondent of the Greensboro News writes interestingly of three old cronies, as follows: Tom B. Jones, who attended Horner's institute at Oxford 43 years ago along with Col. William Henry Osborn and Robert W. Lassiter, dropped into the treasury department this week to look after some business matters affecting his present home state, Wahington. Mr. Jones was surprised as he walked into the commissioner of internal revenue's private sanctum to be greeted thus: "Well I'll swigger! Tom Jones! Where in the world did you come from? I haven't seen you since we used to play 'hokey' at Horner's."

"Why, you ain't 'Duc' Osborn, are you?" The commissioner admitted that along back in '71 he was known by that name.

In a few minutes "Bob" Lassiter came in and the three "school boys" began talking of old times around Oxford. Neither of them had met in 43 years. Tom Jones had gone west and made a fortune, Colonel Osborn had been rather successful in life, and Bob Lassiter had become president of one of the leading banks in his section. Jones has promised Colonel Osborn and Mr. Lassiter that he will visit Horner's with them in the near future.

ALL RECORDS SMASHED.
Sold on Cooper's Co-Operative Warehouse Company's floor, Henderson, N. C., on Monday, October 20th, 70,797 pounds of tobacco for $19,137.45. Average for entire sale $27.03. All you have got to do is to put your tobacco on our floor. We will see that you get the highest market prices for every pile and it will pay you to sell with us.

Walter Harris, who has been sick several days, is better.

PAINT NOW.

If you ought to have painted last year and waited for paint to come down, how much do you think you made?

You'll buy an extra gallon this year. There's $5 or $6 for paint and labor. You think you won't, but you will; you can't stretch paint.

It is always so; the longer you wait, the more paint and wages. Besides what paint is for. What is it for?
DEVOE.

Acme Hardware Company sells it.

"Nancy."

Fresh from the principal New York Theatres, who perform the remarkably fine play "Nancy" at the Orpheum Theatre Monday, October 27, is bound to be accorded well deserved triumph. Its vivid scenes of realism and thrilling situations, its irresistible humor not only charms and delights but stimulates the brain. Performed by an excellent company, the piece is bound to pack the theatre. Miss Daisy Cameron so well known for her well deserved success as one of New York's most popular favorites, enacts the role of "Nancy", and the praises she has received for her excellent rendition of the character are enough to prove that she is in the front rank of the best actresses in America. Miss Cameron is also an excellent vocalist having created many of the principal roles, in some of the most successful musical comedies performed during the past few years in New York. She will by special request introduce in the play some of her latest song hits. Miss Frances Aldrich who performs "Nancy's wayward sister "Flora" has received enough praise for her fine impersonation of the part to turn the head of any actress. The theatre goers of Oxford will be delighted with her remarkable talent, also with the merits of the entire company who have been the means of making "Nancy" one of the finest and most successful plays in America.

Notice of Summons.

North Carolina. In the Superior Court Granville County.
T. G. Steno, Adm'r of Sallie Johnson, dec'd vs

Charles Johnson and Nancy Johnson, his wife, Sam Johnson and Nancy Johnson, his wife, G. H. Faucette, Thomas Hawkins, Annie Hawkins, Joe Hawkins and Pearl Hawkins, the three last named being infant children of Lou Hawkins, deceased, and Thomas Hawkins and R. C. Hawkins.

The defendants, Charles Johnson and Nancy Johnson will take notice that a special proceeding entitled as above has been commenced before the Clerk of the Court of Granville County for the purpose of selling the real estate of Sallie Johnson, deceased, to make assets out of which to pay the debts of the said Sallie Johnson, she having left no personal estate of any value, but having died seized of a certain tract of land in Sasafra Fork Township, Granville county, in which the above named defendants are interested, for the sale of which said tract of land the plaintiff above named is asking in his petition in the above entitled action to create assets to pay the costs of administration and for a distribution of the balance of the proceeds among those justly entitled to the same. The said defendants Charles Johnson and his wife, Nancy Johnson, and Nancy Johnson will further take notice that they are required to appear before the said Clerk of Court on the 25th day of November, 1913, at his office in the Court House in Oxford, said county and State, and answer or demur to the said petition or the petitioner will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said petition. This 25th day of October, 1913.
