1913 proved all right for Uncle Sam, as he had a Democratic administration which carried out its pledges to the people.

During the first month's operation of the new tariff thirteen million pounds of South American beef came into this country free of duty.

Fred W. Anheuser, lawyer and city prosecutor of Omaha, Neb., has had 800 proposals of marriage in two weeks, and his office is fairly swamped with letters that have not been opened. The rush is due to the fact that Anheuser's uncle died about a month ago and left him a legacy of $50,000, provided he marries and settles down within the next two years.

It is estimated, based on the amount which the railroads collected last year from traffic, that an increase of 5 per cent would impose on the consumers of the country, who, in the end pay all the freight an increased expenditure of more than $100,000,000 annually. The people are already carrying too heavy burdens, and one hundred million added to the already high cost of living in order to allow the railroads to declare big dividends would be a gross injustice to the people.

Boys Pig Clubs.

PUBLIC LEDIGER come the boys pig clubs. These are being organized in the South OXFORD BANNER for the purpose of increasing the supply of pork and encouraging good breeding of hogs. Clubs are being organized already in every part of the country. It is expected that when the pig club is under way it will go hand in hand with the corn club. The boys of the latter will produce the corn and the newly organized association will see to it that the pigs are produced to eat the corn.

Producing Home Supplies.

The Greensboro Record says, the country papers are carrying items telling of extraordinary results in hog raising this season, which attests to the remarkable strides North Carolina is making in producing home supplies. Heretofore barely enough meat has been raised by North Carolina farmers to supply their own table except in a few cases, but it is noted that some farmers in the State have started to raise hog meat for the market. Immense amounts of money are sent away from the State every year for imported meat when it could be raised here just as cheaply, and the money kept in the State. Hog raising in North Carolina is altogether practicable, so why not have more

Just recently, we heard of a farmer who said he did not need the farm demonstrator to teach him how to farm, and he was going to show what he could do. What induced this farmer to try to make as much corn or cotton or wheat as the other fellow? It was the fact that some of his neighbors had been working under the county demonstrator and had been making better yields than he, and he had determined to get a move on himself and do better work, but he wanted all the credit himself.
