POCKETBOOK PRAYERS

trap

A presumable insane crank took a pot shot at J. P. Morgan, the New York money baron, and immediately we commenced to read in the press that "prayers are being said in all of the churches for his recovery."

All of which would be very good and commendable if it diden't begin with prayers for Morgan and stop with prayers for Morgan.

We have nothing personaly against Mr. Morgan, who might be a very de cent sort of a person for all we know to the contrary, but we can not suppress a feeling of nausea at the manner in which certain ministers rushed into the limelight by sending up pray ers for the recovery of the man with money

Mr. Morgans claim to fame is due 'solely to the fact that he is the son of his father and one of the richest men in the country.

He has never set the world afire by any of his personal deeds, and just why he should be singled out for special prayers when others of equal merit can not get even a chirp is beyond our laymen's comprehension

To the man who makesa pratice of anaylizing things as he finds them it is rather tiresome-in fact, it is somthing of a reflection upon the sincerity of those preachers who pray for the rich and and forget the poor.

We wish Mr.Morgan well, as we do the begger in the street, but we fear many of those prayers were aimed at the Morgan pocketbook and ascended no higher than the ceiling.
