SOME CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

Enormous Sums Spent to Choose Our President.

WASHINGTON—Six dreadnaughts and a battle cruiser could be built with the money to be spent on the "education" of the public in the interest of this or that candidate in the 1916 presidential campaign.

Fifty million dollars at least will be tossed into the quadrennial frenzy—$3.50 for every man who casts a ballot—50 cents for every man, woman, child and Indian in the land.

Supposedly you know whom you want to vote for president. But nevertheless the various candidates and bosses are about to spend $50,000,000 to tell you.

This includes, of course, the machinery of the actual elections, and this represents about half the amount. The other 25 millions will be spent in the interests of the different candidates for national and state offices as follows:

Postage.....	$2,000,000
Telegraph and telephone..	1,000,000
Advertising.....	10,000,000
Speakers.....	1,000,000
Publicity.....	1,000,000
Brass bands.....	500,000
Rent of halls and theatres	500,000
Clerical help.....	1,000,000
Campaign buttons, badges	1,000,000
Convention and "rallies".	1,000,000
Printing.....	3,000,000
"Workers".....	3,000,000

Campaign expenses are hidden now just as they always were, for there is a barn-door loophole in the publicity law. For money advanced from the candidate's own pocket for his personal expenses, or any money expended for his personal expenses, which includes postage, telegraph tolls, letters, circulars, and all printing other than newspaper advertising shall not be considered subject to the publicity clause.

It's easy to pay a man an enormous salary for mailing envelopes when in reality he is using the money as directed for very different purposes.

The biggest known single contribution to a campaign was Thomas F. Ryan's $450,000 for Parker. Bryan spent $1,000,000 and Blaine $125,000 for their defeats. Mark Hanna spent $200,000 for a "personal campaign" to save Iowa for McKinley.

Lincoln's first election cost $1,000. Among George Washington's campaign expenses are listed: One hog-head and one barrel of punch, 35 gallons of wine, 43 gallons of hard cider.

Club Enrollment

The enrollment to date in the various clubs being conducted by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service shows the following:

Boys' Corn Clubs.....	3,250
Girls' Canning Clubs.....	4,224
Poultry Clubs.....	1,729
Pig Clubs.....	1,368
Cotton Clubs.....	74
Potato Clubs.....	60
Peanut Clubs.....	47

Total.....10,752

In addition to these ten thousand white boys and girls, the Service also has approximately 1,200 negro boys engaged in Corn Club work in those counties where colored agents are employed.

The Home Demonstration Division also has 2,500 women enrolled in Home Demonstration Clubs for the study of home economics. Forty-five agents are in charge of these members, with 200 sub-agents in charge of the various clubs.

The Farm Demonstration Division has 70 agents employed in the various counties of the State at present. These men are in charge of the agricultural work of the Service in the counties in which they are located. Three of the agents are colored.

In Bunches of Twenty-Five

It is understood that Mr. E. C. Lowery, local contractor, will build twenty-five new houses, next month on North Main street, just beyond No. 2 mill. These houses are being built for the Cannon Manufacturing Co., and are from four to five-rooms each. Again we say, "Watch Kan- napolis grow."

Aristocracy in the Trenches

(Washington Herald)
According to Winston Churchill 200,000 officers now with the British Army are employing 200,000 servants and 50,000 grooms, which is an army in itself. Mr. Churchill has just returned from the trenches to attend the session of parliament. It might be inferred that he has been serving as a private.
