GEN. CARRANZA YIELDS

WILL RETIRE SHORTLY AS FIRST CHIEF MEXICAN STATE

Delegates To Joint Conference In United States To Be Named Soon.

LARED, TEXAS—Venustiano Carranza is to retire as first chief of the de facto Government of Mexico at an early date and will be succeeded by Gen. Pablo Gonzales, according to information given out by Mexican administrative circles in Neuvo Laredo Monday.

To Name Delegates Soon

MEXICO CITY—The American Government having accepted the propositions made by Mexico for a conference to settle the controversy between Mexico and the United States. Under Foreign Secretary Amador said today that he expected the names of the delegates and the date and the place for the holding of the conference would be made public at the beginning of August.

It is probable that some place in New Jersey will be chosen for the conference.

Fought Diaz Rule

Venustiano Carranza comes of a family which, while not of the most aristocratic and wealthy class, boasts of pure Spanish descent and its members have for generations been prominent land owners and professional men of the State of Coahuila. Don Venustiano is a lawyer, the son of Don Jesus Carranza, who fought at the side of Juarez in the stirring days of 1857, and who gave largely of his means to the cause of constitutional government in Mexico.

Venustiano from his early manhood chafed against the despotism of Diaz, and was always considered a "dangerous man" by the aristocratic parasites that surrounded old Don Porfirio.

As early as 1893 Carranza, then 34 years old, and his brother were declared in open rebellion against the government because Don Venustiano had had the temerity to announce his candidacy for the Governorship against the Diaz favorite, Garza Galan. He refused to retire and Diaz feared to use force, although Galan was installed as Governor without even the formality of an election.

Sixteen years later Carranza ran again and was again summarily shoved aside by Diaz, but it was in that campaign that Carranza came to know Francisco Madero, and in which the latter became so interested that it made him the leader of the revolution against Diaz. Carranza was his devoted adherent, and in 1911 was elected to the Governorship of Coahuila.

Declined Cabinet Place

On his accession to the Presidency Madero offered Carranza a place in his Cabinet, but this was declined because the old war horse preferred the Governorship of his state, which by the way, he retained until his being proclaimed Provisional President.

After the assassination of Madero in 1914 Carranza was the only Governor who refused to recognize Huerta and began at once the revolution that ended in Huerta's downfall and flight. Then Carranza assumed the reins of government in Mexico City, but soon found himself opposed by Villa, his former follower, and several other independent bandit chieftains, besides the old Cientifico faction that favored Huerta.

Later came the peace conference at Aguascalientes, when Carranza resigned in the interest of harmony, but the peace plan was broken up by the high-handed outrages of Villa, and Carranza finally left and again took the field.

HOT WEATHER HEALTH

Hints on How to Keep Coll in Hot Weathers

(Board of Health)

Hot weather is the bug bear that puts a serious crimp in the ability and efficiency of many of us these days. Much of our hot weather troubles are unnecessary, imaginary or can be greatly reduced very easily.

First of all don't overeat. Be very sparing in the use of meats, eggs, butter, fat, or heat producing foods. Let the diet consist largely of fruits, vegetables and nonconstipating foods. Keep the bowels moving freely and regularly at least once a day, by means of proper diet and exercise.

The Child Labor Law

(Durham Herald)

The child labor law might be constitutional for all we know. We oppose it for the reason that the people of this State could have had it if they had wanted it.

The moving picture business is one industry that is never at a stand still.

"Horses and Tractors"

Under this heading an Ohio farmer writes the Breeder's Gazette the following significant letter:

Eleven years ago I purchased a grade draft mare, a coming four-year-old, bred and weighing 1600 pounds, for $210. Two weeks ago I sold this mare at public sale for $181. While I owned her she raised 4 colts and lost 3. The 4 I raised sold for $672 at ages from yearlings to five-year-olds.

Three years ago I purchased another mare similar to the first one, but 200 pounds heavier, for $271. She sold in our recent sale for $252.50. Three colts which she had raised sold in the same sale for $225, $115, and $82, respectively, or a total of $422.

The colts sold from these two mares brought us $1094. Both were just good, ordinary farm work mares, receiving average care and attention. I have no doubt that many Gazette readers can show a better account of their brood mares, but what I wish to emphasize is the low depreciation on brood mares which do farm work and at the same time raise colts.

Can any one buy a farm tractor, use it from 3 to 11 years and come as near obtaining the original purchase price as we did on these two mares?

This man came pretty near "eating his cake and keeping it" at the same time.

WATER AS A STIMULANT

German And Japanese Efficiency Attributed to Daily Cold Baths

(Seattle Post-Intelligencer)

German efficiency is not so much due to its kultur as to the national habit of cold-water bathing, according to the testimony of Dr. Simon Baruch, who feels that its broader use in America would be of great service. There will be small disagreement with Dr. Baruch in his general friendship for the cold-water propaganda. Within recent years the habit has spread greatly among Americans, whose daily pursuits bring tired bodies and fagged nerves, and the stimulating qualities of a cold shower, before beginning the day's work are generally recognized. Ancient Rome and Greece, in the height of their powers, were bathing nations, and efficient Japan is a modern example of the benefits of the cold water propaganda. Germany has, for many years made the public bath a common institution. In 1910 there were 205 German towns with public pools, and 210 had shower baths.
