

B. W. PARHAM.

A Rising Young Lawyer and Secretary Commercial Club of Oxford.
Mr. B. W. Parham is a native of Granville county, the son of the late A. C. Parham and Jeanette Hester Parham. He went to Horner's Military Academy where he was prepared to enter Wake Forest College. After four years of study there he graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1904, following which he pursued the study of law at Harvard University. He then went back to Wake Forest and continued his law course and in 1908 received his license to practice law. Mr. Parham began his work at the bar at Thomasville, N. C., where he remained until January, 1915, when he came to Oxford and since that time he has been engaged in the law practice here. While at Thomasville he represented Davidson county in the North Carolina Legislature for one term. Since coming to Oxford Mr. Parham has been one of its liveliest citizens, always wide awake to everything that tends to the growth and progress of the town. Especially has he manifested this characteristic in connection with the work of the Granville Commercial Club. He is now serving as secretary of that live organization. He is also chairman of the county Democratic Board of Elections.

Lots of us are congenial, not because we like the same things, but because we hate the same people.

SAME MANAGEMENT FOR SIXTEEN SUCCESSFUL YEARS

Oxford Roller Mills a Small Enterprise Then, But Important Now.
Sixteen successful years of operation under the same management is the enviable reputation of the Oxford Roller Mills. At the time when Mr. W. A. Parham bought the mill 16 years ago it was only a small corn grinding mill of very small capacity. Four years later Mr. Parham enlarged the mill adding the roller. Since which time the mill has been steadily growing in patrons and the amount of business done, until now it is a very important enterprise.

The mill regularly employs three men and in real busy seasons its force is increased to six. The mill when going at full capacity can put out sixty barrels of flour and twenty-five barrels of meal per day. The mill has recently been overhauled and everything put in the best of shape for a large business this fall.

Mr. A. M. Averett, the miller is one of the best in the land. He knows his business thoroughly and you will always get a first grade product at the mill.

We predict that the Oxford Roller Mills will in the near future be a very large affair, with a double and triple capacity to meet the demand caused by an increase in the acreage to be planted in Granville in wheat and corn.

THE OLD RELIABLE HARNESS MAN.

Fifteen Years in the Business With Hundreds of Satisfied Customers

If there is a business in Oxford better known in Granville than that established long ago by Mr. Pete Bullock we would like to know who and what it is.

Many are the sets of Harness that he has made for the Mauds of Granville. Many are the wagons and buggies, too, that he has sold to carry the family to meeting on Sunday. No one business in Oxford, possibly, has any more substantial lines of regular customers. Pete has an established reputation for nothing but "a square deal" for everyone—and he lives up to it, too.

Pete says when you come to town drop in to see him and make his place your headquarters. He handles the well known Studebaker and Nissen Wagons.

LONG EXPERIENCE IN GENERAL REPAIR WORK

Mr. J. R. Sneed One of Oxford's Best Mechanics.

When it comes to doctoring up your old wagon, buggy, plow or any vehicle you may have about the place needing repair you will surely not find a better or more experienced mechanic than Mr. J. R. Sneed who operates a general repair shop on Wall street. Mr. Sneed is also noted among the Granville people as the best horseshoer in the county.

When you need anything in horse-shoeing and general repair work, remember that Mr. Sneed can do it and he guarantees satisfactory work. Give him a call.
