

ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS

Creedmoor Market—It has been settled that the Creedmoor market will open Friday, September 8th.

Accepts Position—Mr. Rowland Gooch, now with J. G. Hall, has accepted a position as clerk with the Long Company.

Lost Fine Cow—On last Wednesday Mr. R. I. Daniel had the misfortune of losing a fine cow which he had bought only a few weeks ago.

Coming Home—Mr. Lee Gooch, manager of a base ball team in the South Atlantic League, will arrive at home next week and accept a position with the tobacco interests.

On Furlough—Lieutenant Stegall, of the Granville Grays, accompanied by Mrs. Stegall and children, who have been visiting him at Camp Glenn arrived in Oxford Thursday. Mr. Stegall will be here several days.

Happy Young People—Mr. J. S. Bradsher, never happier than when he has a crowd of young people around him, took his Sunday School class to Cannadys mill Tuesday and had a fine time.

The Rainfall—According to Lea A. Denson, of the United States Weather Bureau at Raleigh, the rainfall in this section of the State during the Spring and summer was considerable above normal. The normal rainfall in Granville during July is about 5 inches.

Card of Thanks—Messrs. J. M. and T. W. Bullock, of Stem, desire to extend their sincere thanks and appreciation to the people of Stem community for their kindness and sympathy manifested during the illness and death of their beloved mother, which occurred last Tuesday morning on Stem Route 2.

Our Warehousemen—Oxford is justly proud of the men who have care of our several warehouses and feel safe in asserting that no market in this or any other State can show a list comprising men better fitted for the work. They are our most substantial citizens and are identified with the town and county. They know the home market. All of our warehousemen are buyers of tobacco in order that no single pile shall be bid off for less than its value. Our people can safely trust men of such character as these.

Sunday Services
Rev. S. K. Phillips returned Thursday from Gloucester Point in fine voice. He will fill his pulpit Sunday morning and will preach the final sermon of the Union services at the Methodist church in the evening.

The Oxford Jewelry Company is building up a reputation second to none in this section of the State. Their line of watches, diamonds, jewelry, clocks, sterling silver, chinaware, glassware and novelties is very full. They also do repair work. Mr. Harding, the manager, is comparatively a new man in our midst, but he is a very clever gentleman and it is a pleasure to deal with him.

GRANVILLE COUNTY FAIR

PLANS WELL UNDERWAY FOR COUNTY FAIR.

All Departments Enlarged and Many New and Attractive Features Added

Fairs are public enterprises, their purpose being to keep abreast with advanced conditions that each community may take front rank with the revolutionizing influences and changing customs that are annually taking place. For that purpose a time and a place are set each year to bring together the produce of the field and shop that stimulus may be given to those departments of labor upon which rests our great natural wealth. Not only does the fair afford opportunity for educational advancement but it is a trysting place for young and the old, to form new acquaintances and to more firmly cement the ties of true friendship.

The management of Granville County Fair has announced that plans are well under way to make the coming fair one of the most attractive County Fairs that will be held in North Carolina during 1916. It is a difficult matter to estimate the immense task of promoting and arranging such an institution, as the County Fair, but the management assures all that no effort is being spared to make it the biggest and best of all. It is not only going to be the banner fair of fairs, but the biggest, brightest and best event in the recent history of the county. However, the men who work faithfully for the success of these annual events cannot accomplish great things without the interest, co-operation and assistance of the people. The fair is not a private concern run in the interest of a few, nor is it a money-making concern.

We are assured by Secretary P. W. Knott that attention has been given to a thorough revision of the premium list for this year. All departments have been enlarged and some added and it is believed each department will be found to be complete in every detail.

The entertainment program is being prepared and all can be assured that it is one of high character. There will be many special features equally pleasing to old and young.

The fair has proven to be one of our greatest exhibitions in encouraging friendly rivalry in the production both of stock and crops. It draws a large and delightful crowd to town and gives us opportunity to know our neighbors better and enjoy fellowship with them.

Oxford and Granville people owe it to themselves and to the Fair Association to give the aid that is necessary. It will encourage the officials. Let the slogan be, "Get ready for the big fair," and let us line up for it.

The Weekly Ambon Of St. Stephen's Parish

The tenth Sunday after Trinity.

It does refresh the body to be free for a while from familiar and even loved occupation, but think of the glorious play-times among the possibilities of the soul.

John Bunyan was thrust into the dirty Bedford jail, but his merry-making soul wrote the Pilgrim Progress.

Dante was exiled from Florence, but his soul danced afield, and he wrote The Divine Comedy.

St. John was flung out in Patmos, and his Satanic Soul heard "a great voice, as of a trumpet, saying, 'Write the thing which are and the things which shall be hereafter."

The Earth lightened with the glory of God; the vision of Paradise; the delight of the Delectable Mountains, these are the real thing of life, the worth while things of Soul and body, coming to us while the Soul is out for a good time.

No services on Sunday next in St. Stephen's Church.
