PEOPLE AND THINGS

A Fine Salesman—
 Mr. K. L. Street is now with Lyon-Winston Company, where he will be glad to see his many friends of Granville and adjoining counties.

Private Willford Transferred—
 Private Robert L. Willford, of the Quartermaster's Department, U. S. A., has been transferred from Newport, Ky., to Camp Fuston, Kansas.

A New Subject—
 From now on grandfather will have to dig up something to take the place of his favorite winter topic about the cold weather they used to have when he was a boy.

A Public Benefactor—
 When the heavy snow fell in December, Mr. R. P. Early, a public spirited citizen, put his mules and road machine to work and cleared the public roads of the county a distance of ten or twelve miles. Again last week Mr. Early and his son cleared the Caltolina-Berea road of snow. May he live long and prosper and his tribe multiply.

Week-Day Services Omitted—
 On account of the times, and its necessities, the week-day Service in St. Stephen's Church will be omitted until further notice. The full and usual Sunday Services will be held in the Church, with Sunday School, and Men's Bible Class, without intermission. It is hoped that arrangements will be made for weekly church practice in some private home of the parish.

A Smart Boy—
 Another Tar Heel prodigy has come to the front in tobacco raising, as witness this item from the Oxford Public Ledger: "Master Nathan Cannady, age 10 years, who lives with his uncle, D. H. Cannady, on Route 6, raised two thousand hills of tobacco which netted him $187.00, which he immediately put in the bank." Nathan is evidently wise and thrifty as well as industrious.—Southern Tobacco Journal.

Grin and Bear it—
 High prices come hard on consumers, but it is one of the necessary and inevitable consequences of the war. There can be no mistake that the farmer is entitled to more money for his product and in the interest of the country should receive it. The dealer, of course, cannot be loaded with the responsibility of the increased prices. He gets none of it. It is simply and solely a part of the cost of war, and there is nothing for sensible and patriotic citizens to do but grin and bear it.

At Gray Rock Church.
 Rev. B. C. Thompson preached his first sermon at Gray Rock church on last Sunday in 1918. He took for his text: "The Glory of the Latter House Should be Greater Than the Former House." His sermon was one of the strongest it has been our privilege to hear in a long time. Hope that he will live to work in the vineyard of the Lord for many years.
 A. P. OVERTON.

ADVISORY BOARD OF AGRICULTURE OF GRANVILLE.

The Ten-Year Old Boys of the County Should Be Given a Chance.

A very important meeting was held in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools Tuesday, January 8th. This was a meeting of the Advisory Board of Agriculture of the county. This board consists of the chairman of the County Commissioners, the Superintendent of County Schools, the Mayor of the County Town, the President of the Commercial Club, and one man appointed from each township, and the Demonstration Agent.

While there was not a full meeting, there were representatives from the town of Oxford, Fishing Creek, Brassfield, Dutchville, Tally Ho and Salem townships. Mr. E. C. Harris as chairman presided over the meeting and led off with some very valuable suggestions. He stated that he fully realized that to get the best results from the demonstration work, and other forms of agricultural education, there must be better support, and encouragement given by the leaders of the county and the leaders of each community. No man can touch with a sufficient intensity and intimacy a whole county and get the early results that we need. Every person who from natural endowment or business occupation has any leadership power should consider himself drafted into the service of his county. Many opportunities will present themselves for throwing out a word that will help in calling attention to the supreme importance of improving our methods of agriculture. Waste, sinful in the time of peace, becomes a crime of the worst sort when the nation is at war. The biggest waste in Granville county is that of poor methods of farming.

Mr. Harris suggested that every father in Granville county with a boy over ten years old be requested to set aside for this boy one acre of land to be planted in food crops. The proceeds of this acre should be given to the boy for his own to be used as a starter of an estate that he could gradually build on. If he wants to begin to accumulate a fund for his future education, no better ideal could be held before him. A boy ten years old would have eight years before him for saving a fund for a college education. He ought to be able easily to accumulate $1,000 in that time and not take any time from the ordinary work he is expected to do on the farm. The immediate service that he would perform, however, in this acre plan would be to help win the war through a greater production of food.

Many valuable short talks were made by others present. Dr. Morris skillfully directed this discussion and led out by questions the various talkers into giving their experience and suggestions. W. A. L. Veasey, Graham Daniel, Jasper Dean, E. A. Hunt, and C. R. Gordon were present and made short talks. Mr. Veasey couldn't help blurting out in the meeting a few words on his chief hobby, education, and especially agricultural education. He said we must have better schools, we must pay our teachers more, we must teach agricultural in the schools. It's a rare day when any man can talk with Mr. Veasey as long as ten minutes and not be reminded that better schools are needed and more money to make them better. He is thoroughly committed to this idea and it seems hopeless to try to change him.

The interest was intense throughout the meeting, which lasted two hours. It was thought best to try to have such meetings in small groups in many parts of the county; in school buildings, at the homes of the farmers around the long winter evening fires. It was the sentiment of the members present that every person should consider himself a teacher and at every opportunity "Talk up" these ideas, as Mr. Harris expressed it.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Graham Daniel made a nice little talk on the line of the appreciation of the better thinking people of the county of the work accomplished by Dr. Morris.

Space is too short to enter more fully into the details of this important meeting, and attempt to further describe the valuable thought and patriotic spirit that pervaded the group. Other similar meetings will be held later.

Molasses Barrels—
 The usual price of molasses barrels ranged anywhere from one dollar to one dollar and a half, but according to reports one dealer in Oxford is selling them at $3.00 each. He attributes the advance to the high cost of material and labor, but some of the barrels have been in use for several seasons, it is said.
