GATHERED BY OUR REPORTERS.

Short Items Dealing With the News of a Week.

—Mr. Joe Hall has put in an elevator in his store.

—A bad case of heart failure—a broken engagement.

—The slate roof of Mr. J. F. Meadows residence is now being put on.

—Mr. John Webb has had his large prize house repainted.

—Don't ask him. It can never be hot enough for an Ieman in this world.

—Subscribers continue to come in as the farmers will read the Public Ledger.

—Mr. Will Rice has rented the Alston house at the head of Asylum street.

—Last Friday was the hottest day that Oxford has thus far experienced this summer.

—Attention is called to the sale of land by T. F. Jones, Executor, in another column.

—Farmers if you desire to get the highest averages for your tobacco Oxford is the place to sell it.

—Several loads of new tobacco were sold on our market Friday, and sold for higher prices than this time last year.

A Sermon on Subscription.

It has been agreed that newspaper subscriptions are an infallible test of a man's honesty. They will sooner or later discover the man. If he is dishonest he will cheat the printer some way—declare he has paid when he has not; sent money in the mails which was lost, will take the paper and not pay for it on the ground that he never subscribed for it; or move off and leave it coming to the office. Thousands of alleged christians are dishonest in this particular at least, and the printer's book will tell fearful tales at final judgment.—Exchange.

Ice Cream Supper.

The ice cream supper on the lawn of Mrs. T. D. Clement for the benefit of the Woodmen of the World Tuesday night proved a great success, and the members of the order feel very grateful to the ladies who so kindly assisted them. The receipts amounted to $18.

Mrs. Candis Emmitt was awarded the prize for the most popular lady. Missessie Hobgood that of the prettiest baby, and Mr. James Meadows that of the euiglist man. This certainly must be a mistake as we always thought that Mr. Meadows boasted of his good looks and winning ways.

A Car Load of Pianos.

The Cable Piano Co., of Chicago, has on sale in the old Harris building on Main street, a car load of fine, up-to-date pianos, which are pronounced as most excellent instruments. Mr. A. W. Chandler, of Henderson, has charge of the sales room and will be pleased to sell you a high-grade instrument at a low price as the Cable Company are making sweeping reduction in prices. The instruments are of sweet tone and the cases are of beautiful designs. Be kind enough to read their advertisement on 4th page and be sure and call and examine the fine instruments.

August Cosmopolitan.

The Cosmopolitan for August reveals the late Grant Allen in a new light—that of a keen and clever satirist of modern society, not only in England, but in the world at large. The Cosmopolitan immediately on his death secured from his son all his papers and the clever allegory, "The Temple of Fate," in the August number, is one of those selected. "The British Aristocracy" in April Cosmopolitan, the present article impresses itself on the reader with a direct fearlessness which is a new quality in the author's work. It is true that all the world loves a lover, then Edgar Saltus's clever, epigrammatic story of the princess who have relinquished thrones, positions, wealth—everything—to marry the women they loved should indeed be popular.

Teachers Elected for Graded School.

The Board of Trustees of the Graded School held an important meeting Friday afternoon in the law office of Mr. W. A. Devin, and after consultation and deliberation elected the following teachers for the Graded School: Mrs. A. A. Hicks, Mrs. Kate Hays Fleming and Miss Katharine Hilliard, of Oxford, who need no commendation at our hands; Miss Mable Royster, of Adoniram, a graduate of Richmond College, and Miss Sarah Daniel, of Satterwhite, a graduate of State Normal. Both of these young ladies were highly recommended.

In our opinion the Faculty is a capital one, but would have been much stronger if Mrs. T. L. Booth had been on it as she is recognized as one of the best teachers in Oxford. It seems from what we can learn that denominations had something to do with the selection of teachers, as two Methodists, one Episcopalian, 1 Baptist and one Presbyterian was selected. Of course it is rather a difficult matter, as we have found out, to please everybody and take it that the Trustees did the best they could.

As to the colored school, Rev. Walter Pattillo, who has successfully taught it for several years was re-elected, and we hope he will prove a true friend to the education of his race than he has in the past.

The selection of colored teachers was postponed until next meeting.

Well at Orphan Asylum Finished.

The well at the Oxford Orphan Asylum has been completed. It is 265 feet deep, 6 inches in diameter and its capacity is 75 gallons of water per minute with a temperature of 52 degrees. 248 feet is through solid rock and it took six weeks to do the work at a cost of about $1,000. The well was a necessity and the institution will now have an ample supply of pure water.

Machinery Arriving.

Everybody around the Oxford Cotton Mills are quite busy now finishing up the Mills. President John Hall, who is a worker from "away back," devotes all his time to pushing forward the work. Mr. Thomas Collins, of Hillsboro, the Superintendent, who understands his business has arrived and is hard at work getting ready to put in the machinery which is now coming in. The storage house is not yet completed but the work will be pushed now. We hope soon to hear the sound of the whistle from Factory Hill.

Bitten by a Snake.

Master Joe Lassiter, the bright little son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lassiter, was out Monday morning looking for a hen nest and found it. He put his hand in it and felt a stinging sensation on one of his fingers and at the same time to his horror discovered a rusty highland moccasin which had bit him. He went to the house and informed his mother, who at once phoned for Dr. Cannady. The doctor on his arrival found Joe's hand badly swollen, and went to work at once to relieve him. Glad to learn that the young man is doing nicely and the swelling is going down. We suppose Joe will be more particular next time.

What a Tale It Tells.

If that mirror of yours shows a wretched, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, it's liver trouble; but Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, purify the blood, give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25c at Hall's drug store.

GRANVILLE SUPERIOR COURT.

Judge T. J. Shaw Presiding, and Delivers Charge to Grand Jury, Etc.

Granville Superior Court convened Monday at 11 o'clock with our own Judge Shaw presiding for the first time since his elevation to the bench. He has been holding courts in the western part of the State, and we are pleased to say has acquired the reputation of being numbered among the ablest Judges in our grand old Commonwealth which he is fully sustaining at this term of the court.

With the distinguished young and practicable Judge and the able Solicitor Brooks Guilford county is most honorably represented, and we are proud of them.

Sheriff Fleming and Clerk Graham Hunt and Assistant Clerk W. T. Lyon had everything in readiness and the work of the court proceeded without any delay. The Grand Jury was drawn as follows:

Thos. D. Waller, Foreman, A. J. Veazey, John A. Watkins, C. E. Loyd, L. B. Crews, S. L. Walker, S. T. Coley, J. Yeagan, F. O. Bumpass, John W. Fuller, A. H. West, S. M. Slaughter, J. W. Wheelous, J. H. Wagstaff, C. G. Mangum, E. W. Patterson, C. R. Howard, L. B. Dixon.

After being sworn His Honor in a clear, distinct voice proceeded to charge the jury, and was considered by all whom we heard express themselves a very able one. Judge Shaw was clear and strong and forcible, and showed up crime to the jury in all phases. After outlining and explaining the nature of criminal law and most of the leading crimes he proceeded to call the attention of the grand jury to some of the leading criminal laws passed by the last Legislature. He called special attention to the carrying of concealed weapons, to the unlawful dispensing of liquor, to the unlawfulness and danger of lynchings and the great danger of trusts to the country. In speaking of lynchings he showed that they caused the people to lose respect for the law, and also that lynchings did not stop the commission of crime and did not prevent the commission of crime as much as when the law was allowed to take its course. He warned the jury of trusts and told them that if they found any unlawful combination of capital that they should deal with them. He told them that all laws on our statute books should be enforced, and all criminals indicted and punished.

Altogether the charge was excellent, being plain, forcible and exhaustive, and showing Judge Shaw to be an officer who is "terror to evil doers."

State vs. Caroline Lyon, retailing without license, guilty, judgment 8 months in jail.

State vs. Caroline Lyon, judgment suspended.

D. R. Clark, witness failed to answer, fined $80.

State vs. Lee Goss, assault, guilty; fined $25 and cost.

State vs. Samuel Lawrence and Wm. Lawrence, assault, guilty; fined $10 each and cost.

State vs. John Herndon, larceny guilty.

State vs. Frank Lewis, larceny, guilty, 6 months on roads in Durham county.

State vs. Conway Fuller, stealing a horse, guilty, 5 years on roads in Durham county.

State vs. Edgar Mangum, for shooting Peter Charleston, guilty, 18 months on public roads in Durham county.

State vs. Henry Dixon, George Teasley, Johnnie Veazey, forcible trespass, guilty, judgment suspended upon payment of cost.

State vs. Glover Kearney and William Kearney, assault, plead guilty; judgment as to Glover Kearney 10 months on public roads in Durham county.

State vs. Lawrence Davis, assault, not guilty.

Wednesday morning Judge Shaw called in grand jury charged them as to various outbreaks of the law in the "Horican" on the fine between Granville and Wake. He said he had learned that it was a difficult matter to find a man who lived in the "Horican"; they lived just this side, or just the other side, but probably Judge Winston could as his grandfather was born there in the good old days.

GALLOPING GLANCES

AT PROMINENT PEOPLE.

Short Review of Citizens Who Have Earned Distinction—Men who Make a Town.

W. H. HUNT.

Mr. Hunt is an Oxford boy, born and bred in the town and long and well known to the people of the county. While still quite a young man—indeed, almost, before reaching man's estate—he held a position second in responsibility to none in the community. An early display of business ability brought this honor to him. Reference is had to Cashier of the old Bank of Oxford, of which Dr. H. C. Herdon was president. With the retirement of this institution from business, Mr. Hunt opened a general insurance office, and each year has marked its growth.

With the establishment of the new National Bank Mr. Hunt re-enters upon the work in which he began life, and his past experience will be of great service to him in pushing this institution to the front and in making it a success.

Personally, Mr. Hunt is a quiet man, of simple habits of life, and with an even temper and pleasing address. He has many friends and no enemies.

J. B. ROLLER.

Here we add still another to the Virginians who have moved to our town and become a part of our people and life. Mr. Roller came to Oxford many years ago and has for many years conducted an insurance business of considerable magnitude. He is regarded as a man especially well-posted in all matters of insurance, both life and fire. He has represented an excellent line of companies and has done for them and himself a good business.

Mr. Roller's business ability has been recognized by those in control of some of the enterprises of the town, and recently he was elected to the position of Secretary of the Taylor-Cannady Buggy Factory, which position he now holds.

Mr. Roller has many friends among the men of Oxford and his office is a favorite place of rendezvous for them after the close of business hours. He is a gentleman of some literary tendency, being fond of reading and study, to which he gives as much time as the busy nature of his daily life permits.

J. J. PARIS.

Mr. John J. Paris, manager of the Paris Dry Goods Company, is now one of the oldest merchants in Oxford. He gained an experience in the store of the late Captain A. Landis which has been of great service to him since entering business independently. While with Captain Landis he earned an enviable reputation as a salesman and judge of the merits of the articles which it was his duty to handle.

Mr. Paris has ideal manners behind the counter—such manners as win friends and draw custom. His courtesy is of the sincere sort and his bearing dignified and calm. He has definite ideas as to the conduct of his business and puts them into daily practice.

J. F. MEADOWS.

Mr. Joseph F. Meadows descended from the sturdy Meadows stock of the County and is a worthy representative of the worthy name he bears. His family has long been influential in business and the church in the community, and some of its members have been men of prominence and substance. Mr. Meadows inherits the good traits of the stock and has developed other admirable qualities by industry and application. He is one of the best warehousemen in the county, a good judge of the weed, and, what, a discreet and prudent man of business.

Mr. Meadows is a good worker in whatever he undertakes to do. He does things by wholes and not by halves. His advantages in life have been good and he has improved them. He has decided beliefs and is firm in his championship of the good.

REV. J. D. PEGRAM.

The Oxford Circuit has been favored of the Methodist Conference. Rev. J. D. Pegram has been in charge now two years and under his guidance the work has been acceptably conducted and has resulted in growth. It is questionable, however, if the labors of a minister should be tested by the standard employed in measuring success in the commercial world. He deals with the things that are unseen and only the Omniscient can know the extent of good accomplished. Mr. Pegram takes a liberal view of things in general. He is a student and places the proper estimate upon the necessity of keeping abreast of the times; for, while some may take a different view, it is a fact that there is progress in the growth of ideas and problems religious as well as material. Mr. Pegram speaks with force and uplifting fervor.

Now is the time to subscribe to the Public Ledger.
