COUNTY NEWS.

Clay-Catches.

Mrs. W. D. Smith and daughter, Miss Cora, visited her aunt, Mrs. M. C. Hester, Saturday and Sunday.

The Oxford boys had better keep a sharp eye on Durell Brummitt as he is a hustler after tobacco for another market.

Miss Annie Cverton had quite a number of her friends and neighbors of the younger class to visit her last Saturday evening. It is unnecessary to say that the affair was a pleasant one as Miss Annie never fails to please her guests.

Mr. Ben R. Pitts, one of our most energetic and enterprising young men, is spending some time with his brother, Mr. Frank Pitts, in Halifax county. On account of his protracted stay we hope he has found pastures new.

Misses Bettie Hayes and Lula Tinsall have been visiting friends in Raleigh past two weeks and took in the State Fair last week. Boys we cannot say when they will be at home again, but join you in hoping that the day is not far distant.

Mr. Rufus Boyd has sold out his entire stock of goods at Clay to Mr. G. O. Pitts, who will increase the stock and do a general mercantile business. While we regret to lose friend Boyd as merchant we are glad to know that we will retain him as neighbor and friend. He has rented the Montague place and will engage in farming and some business enterprises. Success to you Rufus.

Our young friend Dennis Brummitt has taken charge of the public school in district No. 5. Mr. Brummitt is well qualified to teach, is ambitious and energetic, and is destined to be a leader in his chosen profession. He has attained his present position by persistent effort and hard work without the advantages that many young men have enjoyed. We congratulate the committee on securing his services, and have no fears as to his success. [The editor joins Adolph in extending congratulation to Mr. Brummitt and wish him the success he so justly merits, in fact he is made of the right kind of stuff to make his mark and become a great worker in the cause of education.]

Mrs. Fannie Tiner and her sister, Miss Victoria Bridges, of Winston-Salem, formerly residents of this section but who removed to Winston-Salem in the seventies, have been visiting relatives and friends in this county for the last three weeks, have left for their home. Their mother was Miss Amanda Cannady, a daughter of Mr. Wyatt Cannady and sister of our well known and highly esteemed citizens, Messrs. S. H., N. E., W. H. and J. F. Cannady. Just in this connection will you pardon us for saying a word about one of the best and purest ladies that it has ever been our good fortune to meet, Miss Victoria Bridges. She is a pure christian woman, partially shut out from the world by blindness, yet such is her strength of mind and gentleness and kindness of disposition that she made an impression upon those with whom she has associated that time can never obliterate. Her last words at parting, when she was ready to start for her home, will be "treasured in our memory like a happy dream"; "Good-bye boys, and if we never meet again in this world let us indulge the fond hope that we will meet in a better one." God grant that her future days may be peaceful, as we know they will be full of hope of a blissful life in the Great Beyond. ADOLPH.

As vaccination prevents smallpox, and quinine chills and fever, so TEETHINA prevents and counteracts the effects of the summer's heat, much dreaded by mothers with small children. TEETHINA relieves the many troubles incident to teething and the hot summers, and no mother is excusable for not giving it, for it costs only 25 cents at druggists, or mail 25 cents to C. J. A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at Hall's drug store.

Death of Hon. Josiah Turner.

On Saturday at his home at Hillsboro, Hon. Josiah Turner passed away, aged, we suppose, about eighty years. His father was a prominent farmer in Orange county and lived on the road to Oxford. Josiah was born, we suppose, on that plantation, and was educated at the University of North Carolina. He read law and settled at Hillsboro, the county seat. He married Miss Devereux, daughter of the late Thos. P. Devereux, a leading lawyer and one of the largest farmers ever in North Carolina. Mr. Turner served in the legislature and was a member of the Confederate Congress. He was a man of considerable humor, and a rather formidable speaker on the hustings. After the war in 1868, he became the editor and owner of the Raleigh Sentinel, having purchased it from the late William E. Pell, who founded it soon after the war. Major Seaton Gales was his first associate, but who retired in February, 1869, because of the inflamed condition of his eyes. He was succeeded by T. B. Kingsbury, of Oxford, who was connected with it for some two or three years.

Mr. Turner was a fearless writer, and rendered the state most valuable service at a time when such a friend of North Carolina was so much needed.

The radical party was in full flower then, having complete control in the state. The negro party had converted the state capitol into drinking shops and rascality and thievery ran riot. If we had time and space we "could a tale unfold," that would blister the names of many prominent leaders and make that vicious, reckless, conscienceless party a stench and a horror to all the uninitiated who are not read up and were too young to have known of the villainies. Mr. Turner was watchful, resolute, defiant, and poured very hot shots into the robber thug at much risk to himself. He had two or three personal difficulties; was shot at while sitting in his office, and left the state once to meet a republican he had challenged to fight a duel, but who failed to appear. Mr. Turner was not a good writer, but he was rasping, amusing industries and fearless. One day, seven radicals (one a negro) met him at the depot to punish or kill him. He stopped the gang by drawing two pistols and telling them if they advanced he would fire. He really did no little to uncover the iniquities and rascalities of the negro party, and deserves to be held in grateful remembrance by all true white men and sound democrats. He was one of the most sympathetic, humane, benevolent of men. He has been known to make striking sacrifices for people in distress, and he would give his last quarter or dollar and know whereof we affirm. He was a fine fellow to work with and was considerate of others and open as day with them. He was a man of courage, was in the war as captain of cavalry, and had a large hole in his head made by an enemy's huge bullet. He was honest and kindly, a man to highly esteem if you knew him well. At a good old age he has fallen upon sleep, and we trust his liberated spirit is at rest now in the Heavenly Mansions.

We forgot to mention that under the tyrannical siege of Bill Holden, as Provisional Governor, he was put in prison at Yanceyville, under the Kike cut throats from Tennessee, in company with Judge Kerr, Dr. Roane, Sheriff Frank Wiley and one or two others among the best and most respected citizens in Caswell county or in that fine section of the state. He and the others were liberated by the fidelity and courage of a republican United States judge, the late Judge Brooks, of Elizabeth City. He issued the writ of habeas corpus after Chief Justice Pearson had so yielded to Holden's intimidation as to declare "the powers of the judiciary were exhausted." But all who participated in that great outrage, the governor and their victims and the noble jurist, are all gone into the great beyond, where all accounts will be audited and the right sentence will be given. —Wilmington Messenger.

Tot Causes Night Alarm.

"One night my brothers baby was taken with Croup," writes Mrs. J. C. Snider, of Crittenden, Ky. It seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchitis, to be that no other remedy would relieve." THE OXFORD ATHENEUM.

Organization of a Literary Club and Plan of Government.

The Literary Club, of which mention was made in our last issue, held another meeting at the office of Drs. Booth & Hays on Monday afternoon last. Most of the gentlemen composing the Club were present. The committee consisting of Rev. R. B. Owens, Colonel Frank Hoggood and Capt. W. A. Devin, which was appointed by the chair at the first meeting of the Club last week made their report, and submitted a plan of organization, which with a few very slight alterations was adopted.

The name selected for the Club is "The Oxford Atheneum."

We think this name very appropriate and expressive as well as a very beautiful name. The name is in keeping with the purpose and object of the Club and also with the name and title which distinguishes Oxford as a literary centre.

The chair appointed Rev. John E. Wool and Dr. B. K. Hays to prepare papers to be read at the next meeting. The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening, Nov. 7th at 7:30 o'clock, at which time a permanent election of officers will be held. The following is the plan of organization adopted:

1. The object of the Association shall be to promote the study and discussion of general literature, history, political economy, current topics, science and religion, except that the discussion of partisan politics and particular religious doctrines shall not be permitted.
2. Its name shall be "The Oxford Atheneum."
3. Its officers shall consist of a President, Vice-President and Secretary, whose duties shall be those usually performed by such officers. These officers shall be elected by ballot at the meeting in which this plan of organization is adopted, and semi-annually thereafter: Provided, that until a following term has intervened no member shall be eligible to re-election to the offices of President and Vice-President.
4. Meetings shall be held fortnightly, on Thursday evenings, at such places as may be from time to time appointed.
5. At the first meeting and semi-annually thereafter, a committee of two shall be appointed by the President whose duty it shall be to suggest subjects for treatment and discussion. These subjects shall be suggested in such time that at least four weeks shall elapse before they shall be due for discussion: Provided that this shall not apply to the meeting next following that at which the plan of organization is adopted.
6. Two members shall be selected by the President to lead in the discussion of the subjects adopted, and the selection shall be made according to the alphabetical order of the names of the members.
7. If any member selected by the President to lead at any future meeting shall not be present when such selection is announced it shall be the duty of the Secretary to notify such member of his selection and the subject for discussion.
8. In the treatment of subjects by written papers there shall be a time limit of fifteen minutes as to each paper, and in oral discussion a limit of five minutes: Provided that these limitations may be extended by a majority vote of the members present.
9. At any meeting, when a member has once taken part in the discussion of a subject, he shall not be permitted to again enter into the discussion until all the members present shall have taken part or waived their privilege to do so.
10. The plan of organization adopted may be changed in any particular by the vote of a majority of all the members of the Club.
11. Application for membership shall be referred to a standing committee consisting of three to be appointed by the President, and upon the recommendation of said committee each application shall be voted upon separately by ballot. Two dissenting ballots shall be sufficient to reject an applicant. If there shall be less than two dissenting ballots the person so applying shall be declared elected a member of association and the Secretary shall thereupon notify such person of his election and the date and place of next meeting.
