Who come of a consumptive family when they begin to cough and the lungs are painful. But it is a fact beyond dispute that consumption is not and cannot be inherited. The microbe which breeds disease must absolutely be received by the individual before consumption can be developed.

Men and women who have been afflicted with obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, emaciation and weakness, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the cough, heals the lungs, and builds up the body with solid flesh.

When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. C. L. Sunderland, of Chesapeake, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without paining in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had long trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Doctor Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better. Then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Bilets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The $41,000 reward for the outlaw Tracey's body will not be paid for some time owing to the number of claimants; it is likely all of the courts will be invoked.

Republicans of prominence say that their State convention will not antagonize the franchise amendment to the constitution. "They appear to be positive in their belief."

The Democratic Congressional Committee figures 35 Democratic majority in the next House. In the calculation North Carolina is put down as 9 Democrats and 1 Republican.

Senator Simmons, speaking as chairman of the Democratic State committee says that he conducted the campaign of 1900 with less money than he had in any previous campaign.

Iowa Republicans demand such revision of the tariff schedules as may be needed "to prevent their affording shelter to the trusts." By the time this is done there would be very little of the tariff left.

J. D. Wood, a rancher of Spencer, Ida., has sent to Boston the largest consignment of wool ever shipped by one man from the West to the East. It amounted to about 630,000 pounds, which at 14 cents per pound yielded Mr. Wood nearly $88,000.

Statesman Hepburn, of Iowa, says what is wanted is a law to hit the bad trust and miss the good one. Wouldn't it be interesting to see the Republican statesmen on the hunt for a "bad trust." They couldn't find one with a forty-foot telescope.

It is said by the prominent members of the Democratic State committee that the President will appoint Associate Justice Robt. M. Douglas to the position declined by Senator McLaughlin, of South Carolina, and that in this event Judge Geo. H. Brown will be appointed to fill the vacancy, such appointment being until the next general election. It was further said that the executive committee would recommend the appointment of Judge Brown.

Mention was made of the fact that of the 12,000 children of school age in Robeson county, 2,948 can neither read nor write. Bad as this state of affairs is, it is better than in the state at large. In that county only one child in six cannot read or write. State Superintendent Joyner says: "In the State at large on an average one white child in four can neither read nor write." The publication in regard to illiteracy in Robeson is attracting attention. What the state superintendent now says will attract even more.

A county treasurer made a charge of 1/4 per cent. commission on receipts of school funds in 1899-1900 and 2 per cent. on the State appropriation to schools for 1900-1901. He was called on to refund, the State Superintendent ruling that the commission on receipts was illegal. The treasurer in reply declined to refund and said the county board, by advice of its attorney, had allowed him the commission. The State Superintendent has referred the matter to the Attorney General, who decides that the treasurer must refund the commissions in question. The county board has refused to demand the refunding of the commission.

We do see men who thrive by cheating and deceiving and falsifying—many. But have we to look far from our own sides to see other men whose lives are honest and upright and straight; whose thoughts and labors are all for the comfort and support of others? The world is full of men who are gladly and willingly giving up what might be theirs that those they love may be satisfied. A hundred Calvarys of human sacrifice stand out against each evening sky. We do see women who have seemingly lost all that clothed them as the diviner part of man—a sad plenty. But can we not blot them everlastingly from our sight with a host of saints in human form, whose lives are proofs of a higher state, and whose deeds savor of a realm celestial? Is not the world full of speaking, breathing flowers, which fill it with a sacred fragrance and make it a garden? Good women are that, and more.

SENATOR SIMMONS RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN.

At a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee in Raleigh on last Wednesday, which was largely attended, the great Democratic Chief, Senator Simmons, was by a rising vote unanimously re-elected State Chairman and great applause. Senator Simmons made a short speech, saying that while he had hoped that some one else would be elected chairman, yet he was always at the call of his party; that no one had the right to refuse to answer any call that his party may make. He declared there never had been any doubt as to the election result this year, that in his judgment everything was all right, that while months ago there were some signs of discord all has passed away and the party is in better fighting condition than ever before. He said no one who had not been chairman could realize the factors of that position, that he was ready to serve, but did not wish to perpetuate himself as chairman so was he ready at any time when the party desired it, to lay down the mantle of chairmanship, he said he took his re-election as an expression or approval of his course in the last campaign and so far during the present.

MONSTER NEGRO ASSEMBLAGE.

Fully 7,000 negroes attended the opening session of the Negro Young People's Christian and Educational Congress in Atlanta last week, which was the most extensive convention of the colored people ever held in the United States. Bishop Gaines, of the A. M. E. Church, presided. His address was in part as follows:

"The race question will adjust itself naturally under such conditions, for God has ordained that a good and wise people will prosper anywhere and everywhere. Let respectability and intelligence and Christian character clothe a man, despite his race, and despite his color. No oppositions and prejudices will prevent his progress to wealth, happiness and prosperity. I believe that the better class of white people in this country are anxious to see the negro become a wise, intelligent and thrifty citizen. Many of them are helping forward his education by their money and influence. We would be lacking in gratitude to the white men, both North and South, did we not gratefully acknowledge their philanthropic gifts to the negro education. Our white friends are not our enemies, and though often the worst elements of our race bring shame upon us, they are wise enough and generous enough not to discount those of us who are trying to make good citizens. In this we have the hearty endorsement of the better class white people of this country and the negro who has intelligence and character has nothing to fear from this class who wish him to better his condition. They furnish no barriers to his industrial betterment, but will gladly open to him avenues of employment and useful labor. When the negro shall have justified his position by thus fitting himself, both in character and intelligence, for citizenship his rights before the law will be more sacredly regarded and all complaints of injustice, now sometimes unfortunately too well founded will be at an end."

GOOD ROADS.

During the past two decades the good roads movement in North Carolina has taken more definite shape than at any previous period of our history. The varying fortunes of politicians have been staked on the outcome of this issue, and reputations have been won and lost by adherents to the belief that the people desired this public improvement. Recent developments however, point to the gratifying result that many of the people who in its earlier stages resisted the advancement of this crying need, are now its most earnest advocates, because like other public necessities it has proven, beyond theory or cavil, that it is absolutely essential to the best progress of a nation, a State or even a local community.

It is a matter of congratulation that the people of our State have already passed through the stage of education as to the "benefits resulting from good roads and the desirability of having them in every locality. Probably no person within our borders now would for a moment contend that better public roads fall to promote every phase of human happiness, and that the degree of happiness thereby attained is measured by the state of perfection to which our public highways are improved. It is therefore useless to employ arguments upon that of the controversy because it has unmistakably been settled in the minds of the citizens of North Carolina. Their present great interest in public road building and the desire manifested in all portions of the State for information upon the subject, evidence their determination to reap the benefits of good roads which past experience has brought to the more wealthy and progressive centers of civilization.

Having settled this most important factor in the progress of the campaign for better roads, our people are now confronted with the probably more difficult problem of determining the wisest and most practicable manner of arriving at a system of road building which will be suitable to our conditions as a people and our progress as a State. The most reliable and experienced road builders agree with one accord that crushed stone or macadam roads is the most economical in the end and the most satisfactory at all times, and yet the great cost of construction will prevent a large majority of our counties from attempting this method at present. Gravel roads are less expensive and relatively less durable, while earth roads or common dirt roads are the cheapest and naturally the least satisfactory. However, in the progress which our people are to make in road improvement, there must be a gradual improvement from the least expensive roads to a system which will be substantial and which the public sentiment will demand, as the resources of our communities will allow.

But we must not lose sight of the fact that earth roads or common dirt roads can be brought to a high degree of perfection and be made to yield surprisingly satisfactory results if proper care and attention are given to their location, drainage and repair. "A child must crawl before it can learn to walk" seems to apply with some force to the present road situation in North Carolina. While of course, some of our wealthier counties are spending thousands of dollars yearly for building and maintaining public roads and are "past masters" in the art of road building yet the infection has not become general in the State, and out of our 97 counties, this intelligent modern road improvement is carried on probably not more than a dozen sections. A person has only to visit Asheville, or Winston, or Charlotte, or Raleigh, or Wilmington to discover that in any section of North Carolina, from the lowlands bordering the ocean through the more elevated middle section to the rugged mountainous counties, road improvements to a high state of perfection is possible, and even profitable. He will also be impressed with the fact improved highways and increasing prosperity go hand in hand; they are twin brothers and are not to be separated; to some extent each is the cause and each is the effect.

The North Carolina Good Roads Association recently formed at Raleigh, has undertaken with earnestness this campaign of education for better public roads in the State, and has for its object the spread of intelligent information regarding every feature of public road improvement, especially the methods to be employed in different localities which will yield the most satisfactory results. It hopes to create a sentiment in favor of improved highways which will result in demand for good roads everywhere. It has determined to enlighten the people of the State so far as possible upon the subject and promote an intelligent understanding of this important industrial and economic problem.
