

Drug Duty Defined!....

The Druggist's Duty!

He should fill the prescription precisely as it is written. He should not deviate a hair-breadth either in quantity or kind. His drugs and medicines should be the purest and best. He should shut his eyes to everything but the VERY best. He should avoid the handling of inferior drugs as he would any other criminal act. When he has done all this, he has simply done his duty—no more.

The Doctor's Duty!

He must first examine his patient, by the light of science, to determine where and what the trouble is. He must determine and prescribe precisely, the kind of drugs needed to effect a cure. He must direct the doses and leave no room for doubt on the part of the patient, or the druggist who compounds the prescription. There his duty ends.

Your Duty!

If medicine is to cure a disease, it must be good medicine the best only is good enough. Your duty to yourself and your doctor is, to go to the very best druggist you can find, without letting dollars and distance stand in your way. In doing your duty we have every reason to think that you will come here with your prescriptions.

Don't be a clam, but open yourself and join the marshalled forces that are making an effort to establish a first-class graded school and to push the law forward.

The following grand jury was drawn: Rev. W. S. Hester, foreman, J. W. Bowling, E. R. Crews, C. E. Averett, R. J. Jeffreys, B. F. Tingen, J. W. Winston, J. M. Tillotson, R. S. Usery, E. P. Roberts, M. M. Nelson, J. A. Davis, A. M. Cash, J. L. Furgerson, E. C. Frazier, C. D. Curran, J. L. Preddy, Wm. Davis, Officer in charge, J. P. Bradsher.

Judge Allen's charge to the grand jury was a good one. It was clear and strong and covered the criminal law of the State fully. After going over the general criminal laws of the State, Judge Allen proceeded to pay special attention to the offense of gambling and lynchings, and also to illicit distilling and fornication and adultery. He explained the new law under the Watt's bill in regard to illicit distilling and said that they now come under the jurisdiction of the State law. He spoke of the ruin wrought to the neighborhoods where stills were operated. Next he spoke of the importance of enforcing the law in regard to fornication and adultery and the evil done the home by this crime. He showed how the very government itself depended upon the purity of the home and that to keep the home pure this offense must be punished. "It is a fever," said he, "upon the home and upon society." These remarks by the Judge were timely and grand juries generally would do well to heed them.

We are pleased to learn that through the courtesy of the Seaboard Railway Chairman C. F. Crews and E. C. Harris, member of the Board of Commissioners, accompanied by Judge Graham and Road Supervisor N. H. The Oxford graded school will close tomorrow, and we are glad to be able to state will do so under very favorable conditions. The school is better equipped than ever before, has a larger attendance and is more popular with our people. The excellent superintendent with his competent corps of teachers have done good work during the present session and deserve the thanks of our people. The children are delighted with the school and the teachers are informed, are making good progress.

The people of Oxford have every reason to feel proud of this institution and its splendid record. As we have said before, many who opposed the school at first are now its warmest supporters and friends. May continued increase of attendance and efficiency in work characterize the school in the future as in the past.

It is, as it should be, the pride of the town and the credit of the county. Not a single vote will be cast against the charter on Monday, the 4th day of May.

An Account of Their Stewardship.

Judge Allen adjourned court on Tuesday promptly at 1 o'clock in order that Senator A. H. Hicks and Judge Graham might speak to the people of the county according to their previous engagement and give an account of their stewardship in the Legislature. Mr. Hicks spoke first and made a good speech, reviewing his record in the past Legislature. His speech was brief, but showed his record in the Legislature and also showed that he had tried to serve the people of the district well. The speech was well received and applauded. His explanation on the votes he cast were well explained and we believe will be entirely satisfactory to his constituency.

Judge Graham followed Senator Hicks and spoke for an hour and made a most excellent and interesting speech. He surveyed the work of the Legislature and explained thoroughly the road law, which our people were glad to hear, as they are much concerned about it. He also reviewed in detail the important acts and informed our people on many laws about which they were anxious to learn. The speech was received with much enthusiasm.

Our people endorse the course of our representatives, and, perhaps, it was unnecessary for them thus to honor and make their record. Whether necessary or not they gave much valuable information and were gladly received by a large audience.

GRANVILLE SUPERIOR COURT.

Judge's Charge—Grand Jury—Proceedings of Court.

Granville Superior Court convened promptly at 10 o'clock at the court house in Oxford on Monday last, Judge Allen and Solicitor Brooks having arrived on Sunday.

The following grand jury was drawn: Rev. W. S. Hester, foreman, J. W. Bowling, E. R. Crews, C. E. Averett, R. J. Jeffreys, B. F. Tingen, J. W. Winston, J. M. Tillotson, R. S. Usery, E. P. Roberts, M.
