EASTER SUNDAY IN OXFORD.

Beautiful Services and Grand Music at St. Stephen's Church.

Sunday was a bright though cool day but with it came another glorious anniversary of Easter—the most joyful event the world over in the calendar of the church, and means the resurrection, the coming of "light and the going of darkness, happiness, flowers, gladness, comfort, the fulfill-ment of a promise, the death of old doubts and the birth of new certainties." The day was beautifully spent in Oxford as our people thronged the churches morning and evening and worshipped the risen Lord in the Beauty of Holiness. Everywhere joyous notes were proclaimed-in the glad songs of the children at their special services, in anthem and in sermons.

At St. Stephen's Episcopal church the services were notably interesting and at 11 o'clock a large congrega-tion crowded the beautiful edifice. Spring Tonic.
