He Presses the Golden Key.

President Roosevelt pressed the gold key Saturday which completed the electrical circuit and released the gigantic power of the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis putting in motion the forty thousand horse power machinery and the fairy like cascades on the exposition grounds. As the President pressed the key, the Third battery of United States artillery stationed south of the White House, fired a salute of twenty-one guns.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than in any other place put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. ### DEATH OF DR. M. V. LANIER.

A Learned and Able Lawyer Gathered to Rest.

The death of Dr. Marcus V. Lanier, of Oxford, will be read with deepest regret by his numerous friends in this and other sections of the State. The end came peacefully at his home on Gilliam street on last Wednesday afternoon at about 1 o'clock. Dr. Lanier had been in declining health for a year or more, but still his death was unexpected at the time.

Marcus Voltaire Lanier was born in Mecklenburg county, Va., near Chase City. In the year 1818, he was educated at the University of Virginia and taught school for a while, but afterwards read law under Hon. Robert Ballard Gilliam. When admitted to the bar he associated himself in the practice with his former teacher under the name of Gilliam & Lanier, which partnership lasted for a number of years.

Dr. Lanier was admitted one of the most learned and profound lawyers the State has produced. He was a careful student and was no mere surface, "case-lawyer," but was well grounded in the deep and far-reaching principles of the law. His opinions were quoted largely and even in his last years his judgment was sought by other lawyers on important and intricate questions of the law. He was also a ripe scholar, being an excellent linguist, and especially proficient in Greek and Hebrew. He generally read his Bible in the original. He was also well versed in English literature, and was a writer of rare gifts, having written two or three books (the names of which we cannot now recall) and also some poems of rare beauty.

As a lawyer he ever upheld the highest ideals of the profession, and was a zealous and uncompromising champion of the rights of the poor and the oppressed. As a lawyer, Christian citizen, husband, father, friend and neighbor, he has left a record which should be an inspiration to those he left behind. He was twice married, his first wife being the widow of Dr. John R. Hicks, the latter of whom survives him. The deceased leaves besides the widow four sons, Maj. A. S. Lanier, of Richmond, Md.; Mr. Herder Lanier, of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. Robert Lanier, of Arkansas; Mr. Robert Lanier, of Oxford, and four daughters, Mrs. Rebecca King, of Baltimore; Miss Mollie Lanier, of Asheville; Miss Ruth Lanier, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Chevington, of Oxford.

The funeral, conducted by his devoted pastor, Rev. John E. Wool, was at the Presbyterian church. The interment was in Elmwood cemetery. The pall-bearers were as follows: Active—J. G. Hall, H. G. Cooper, R. P. Taylor, W. H. Hunt, R. W. Lassiter, J. C. Hicks, J. M. Currin, A. W. Graham and John Webb. The floral offerings were numerous and most beautiful.

To the bereaved ones we extend our sincere sympathies.

POWELL-CURRIN.

A Beautiful Simple Home Wedding in Oxford.

An event of unusual interest in Oxford was the marriage of Miss Nelle Currin, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Currin, to Mr. Alexander H. Powell, of New Orleans, La., on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's father, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. C. Tyree, pastor of the First Baptist church, Raleigh.

The decorations in the parlors were ferns, palms and white carnations; those used in the gift rooms and halls were palms and ferns. The color scheme green and white was also carried out in the dining room, the table being decorated with garlands of smilax, silver candelabra, and a centerpiece consisting of a basket of bride's roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern.

The guests were received in the hall by Mrs. William Stamps Howard, of Tarboro, in black lace, with Mr. Edwin A. McKay, of Atlanta, Ga.; Miss Maud Morgan, of Richmond, Va., in lavender crepe chiffon and valencienne lace, and Col. Frank P. Hobgood, of Greensboro, registered the names of the guests in the bride's book as they entered. The ushers were Mr. Leak P. Landis, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mr. W. D. Currin, of Winston, and brother of the bride.

The wedding march was rendered by Miss Carrie Hobgood. She wore white crepe de chine with trimming of lace applique.

Following the bridal party Miss Margaret Holt of Washington, D. C., and Miss Lilla Barham, of Newsom, Va., entered, forming an aisle of white ribbons, with lace and pearl trimmings with white lace hats.

Miss Margaret Currin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore white silk aedon with accented pleated chiffon trimmings, with white picture hat and carried a bouquet of maiden hair ferns tied with white ribbon.

The bride entered upon the arm of her father and was gowned in white panne chiffon and duchess lace, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and tulle. Her veil was caught with a cluster of pearls, the gift of the groom's mother, which she wore on her wedding day. She was met at the altar by the groom with his best man, Mr. Walter Gilligan, of New Orleans, La.

The presents were numerous, costly and handsome. After congratulations from their friends the happy couple left on the 11 o'clock train for New Orleans, which city they will make their future home.

The bride is one of Oxford's most attractive, intelligent and popular young ladies and greatly admired by those who know her. The groom is a young business man of prominence in New Orleans.

The editor extends to them his best wishes and may their wedded life be one of pleasure and happiness.
