A Close and Cool Combine. The people of Oxford are just now up against one of the most exacting combines they have so far come in contact with, and it will be to their cooling interest to join in to who they please in any part of town. Mr. Weller, the General Superintendent of the Oxford Water & Electric Company, while in Oxford some days ago divided the town into two sections, Hillsboro street being the dividing line. He give Rev. S. L. Slaughter, President of the Market Reef and Elsh Trust the exclusive Heritage of the Herita Beef and Fish Trust, the exclusive privilege of seiling ice in Northwest Oxford, while polite John Kingsbury, President of the Chicken Trust, the sole privilege of supplying the citi zens of Southeast Oxford with ice. Under this binding contract neither one is permitted to sell ice in the others' territory. This is the objectionable feature of the combination. if for any reason, personal or other-wise, either one of the ice men should refuse to serve you or bring you ice half the time we rise to ask how can you be supplied as they will not re-tall ice at the factory nor furnish other than Slaughter and Kingsbury with ice to retail? We are frank to say, that the compact should be at once broken and let the people buy ice from whom they please, whether Kingsbury, Slaughter or anybody else. The question now arises will was in town Mond the people of Oxford submit to this the Public Ledger.
