TALKING UP AND TALKING DOWN.

Talking is a great power for good or bad, and often for both. Things good and bad may be talked up or may be talked down. It is good work to talk up good things and talk down bad things. It is fearful bad work to talk down good people and good things.

You cannot do much talking down bad people. It is much better to talk them up to better lives. All wickedness ought to be talked down from down and trampled under foot by all good people. Wickedness has no right to exist on earth where there is some good that may be injured by it.

Many church members will talk themselves hoarse telling the faults of the members of their own church and other churches. If you could believe what they say you would conclude that nearly all the bad people belong to churches. Some church members are always talking down their own church. They represent it as the sorriest of all the churches.

Nothing is done according to their notion. The only work these people do in the church is to find fault. They talk down the Sabbath school. They say the superintendent and teachers do not run the school right. All the work they do in connection with the school is to talk it down or stay away and let it die.

Some church members talk down the pastor. They look for faults in him and of course they find them. Often only imaginary faults, but too often real faults for no preacher is perfect. If your preacher was perfect he would not suit you unless you are perfect. If you are perfect then you are entitled to a perfect preacher. If you are not perfect your present pastor does not suit you for all preachers have some faults. If your pastor is a bad man get rid of him as quick as you can in an honorable way.

There are real failures upon the farm which may arise from many causes. Accidents and ill-luck may keep a man down for years, but there are so many opportunities in life that it is not necessary for him to be ruined permanently.

Our most successful farmers have had high waters to wade through, but the man who has a few strokes of misfortune runs him as a few qualifications to succeed. We blame misfortune or ill-luck for many things that are the consequence of our own perversity; very often what we call fate is the consequence of our own actions; unskillfulness as a rule is due to some hidden defect.

We have farmers who are wholly indifferent as to whether they succeed or fail. They can endure anything but they cannot rouse themselves to make an effort to resist the coming of what they call fate; they will float with the tide, but will not row a stroke against it. If fate may try to assist them, but they cannot grasp the opportunity; they may be prudent, painstaking and industrious, but you cannot raise them from the slough, and they keep slugging.

From the acorn to the oak, the ordained route is service and sacrifice. They who are successful farmers have clambered over rough and rugged ways. Well directed effort is an exacting nurse, but she raises fine examples of manhood. Results are what we are striving for and results are worth the processes.

Some say, "give us the right conditions, and we can make a success of farming." The environment of our most successful farmers was not harmonious. They had trials and misfortunes, but they achieved in spite of them. There are other unpractical people who fall because they refuse to recognize the necessary conditions which fence a man in impatient to reach the goal without doing the necessary work.

The routine work of the farm is as every thing else, more or less drudgery; but there is a way of doing it so you will enjoy and bless others while doing it. It is possible to put the artistic spirit into the farmers' toil. Thus can we transform our dull farm into a palace of the king, with a beautiful aureole.

RAILROAD RATE FARES.

The movement for a two-cent fare on the railroads has become so general as to look like a concentrated movement. Ohio has already passed a bill limiting fare to two cents a mile. The Virginia Legislature is considering a similar measure, like which applicable to all railroads with the exception of the New York where it is stated, the two-cent rate has been general for years, a bill is pending requiring some of the railroads—the more prosperous and progressive ones—to grant a 1/2 cent rate. The question is under consideration in Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Michigan and several other states, and the important newspapers of such states are vigorously advocating either legislation or reducing the fare to the basis specified by voluntary action by the roads in advance of what they deem to be the inevitable government action. Some railroad managers expect great alarm over this legislation and declare it will cut deep into the revenue of their lines. Others are of opinion that the increased travel caused by low rates will more than make up the loss in price.

PUT THE BAN ON NO CLASS.

As the contest for state and county officers draws near one may hear from various quarters whispered admissions to place lawyers, so far as the legislature is concerned, under a political ban. "Have nothing to do with them," say the winceless, "for if you do they will go to Raleigh and vote with the railroads and other corporations."

Well it depends on what sort of a lawyer you get whether he will look out for the best interests of the people or not. A lawyer should not be ostracized simply because he is a lawyer. There are honest and dishonest lawyers, just as there are men of this description in other classes says Free Press.

The time has come again for the nomination of candidates for public office in this county. One question which the Democratic executive committee will be called upon to decide is as to the method which should be employed in doing this.

In theory the primary says the Kingston Free Press is an ideal plan; in practice it may or may not work out satisfactorily. The old convention plan has been tried and that, too, has at times been found wanting in essential respects. Conventions have been known to be "packed" for certain officers; and the voters were asked to take up the candidates nominated and carried through to victory. This they did under the influence of a powerful pressure exerted by the fear of negro domination. At this time voters will hardly be so willing and enthusiastic in the support of any and every candidate since this outside pressure has been removed.

But there is no reason why a county convention may not be just and fair and really representative of public opinion throughout the county as is the primary plan supposed to be. It all depends on the methods used in either case.

What the Democratic party wants and must have is a list of candidates chosen freely and without restraint by and from the hosts of the unaffiliated. This being done there is no reason why the world why we can't go before the people and come back again with a bigger majority than ever.

FAILURE ON THE FARM.

Throughout the length and breadth of our land we find the farms tenanted by men, who, it seems have never made a success nor failure of farming but who have managed to live reasonably and comfortably.

Some men have made great success at farming from the possession of qualities of energy, perseverance, determination and the ability to do the right thing at the right time, but it is a difficult thing to point out the qualities which one can grasp and secure by them his success upon the farm.

There are real failures upon the farm which may arise from many causes. Accidents and ill-luck may keep a man down for years, but there are so many opportunities in life that it is not necessary for him to be ruined permanently.

Our most successful farmers have had high waters to wade through, but the man who has a few strokes of misfortune runs him as a few qualifications to succeed. We blame misfortune or ill-luck for many things that are the consequence of our own perversity; very often what we call fate is the consequence of our own actions; unskillfulness as a rule is due to some hidden defect.

We have farmers who are wholly indifferent as to whether they succeed or fail. They can endure anything but they cannot rouse themselves to make an effort to resist the coming of what they call fate; they will float with the tide, but will not row a stroke against it. If fate may try to assist them, but they cannot grasp the opportunity; they may be prudent, painstaking and industrious, but you cannot raise them from the slough, and they keep slugging.

From the acorn to the oak, the ordained route is service and sacrifice. They who are successful farmers have clambered over rough and rugged ways. Well directed effort is an exacting nurse, but she raises fine examples of manhood. Results are what we are striving for and results are worth the processes.

Some say, "give us the right conditions, and we can make a success of farming." The environment of our most successful farmers was not harmonious. They had trials and misfortunes, but they achieved in spite of them. There are other unpractical people who fall because they refuse to recognize the necessary conditions which fence a man in impatient to reach the goal without doing the necessary work.

The routine work of the farm is as every thing else, more or less drudgery; but there is a way of doing it so you will enjoy and bless others while doing it. It is possible to put the artistic spirit into the farmers' toil. Thus can we transform our dull farm into a palace of the king, with a beautiful aureole.

SNAP SHOTS.

Items of Interest Picked up Here and There. Rockefeller is monarch of all he surveys, and you and I, gentle reader, are included in the surly.

It is stated that Republican State Chairman Thos. S. Rollins is not standing for re-election to that position. A western paper refers to speaker Cannon as the "autocrat of the pork barrel." That ought to make Uncle Joe feel "on the hog."

That Salisbury negro who shot and killed a street car conductor between that town and Spencer, should be given a speedy trial when caught. It is a little sad to think how many more things Paul Jones might have done if he had only had the $135,000 to work with that the nation's now spending on his tomb.

An exchange asks: "Is there such a thing as a political ring in North Carolina?" If you are on the outside of a political circle it looks like a ring if you are on the inside it looks like it isn't.

A Virginia man has been fined one hundred dollars for having married two women. If he judged wisely to punish him by taking away his money, he should have allowed him to keep the wives.

The House has voted by a decisive majority to continue from seed distribution. This is not surprising in view of the fact that this is election year. Of course the North Carolina delegation voted for it.

Where Marriage Pays. "Married people have the best of it in ocean traveling," said a sea captain, "for they have a stateroom to themselves. People traveling alone, unless they are willing to pay a good deal extra, have to sleep in the same room with strangers, an unpleasant thing."

One man will tell the chief steward that he has an intolerable stork. Another will say he is subject to epileptic attacks, wherein in the small hours he becomes a shrieking and dangerous mania. Another will say that in the throes of acute seasickness from the heaving of the voyage to the end he fills the cabin day and night with dismal noises.

"No matter. They all have to share their staterooms with strangers. The only way out of it is to plunk down the coin."—New York Press.

Measure Your Friends. "Did you ever assume yourself," asks the London Gentlewoman, "on a wet Sunday afternoon by giving marks of appreciation or the reverse to all your friends and acquaintances? This is the method we employ: There are five heads—(1) looks; (2) manners; (3) abilities; (4) merit and (5) 'use'—and this fifth item often balances all the rest, for a person may quite likely possess nearly full marks for looks, manners, abilities and merit and yet be of no possible 'use' to oneself, while, vice versa, some person may be of great use, one may fancy his company, or they may have a knack of sympathy, yet be very deficient in manners or merit. The marks range from 0 to 20, and if you are quite conscientious in awarding your marks you will be surprised to find how the law of averages comes in and how much the sum total of one individual's marks resembles another."

Marriage in Korea. There is not much difficulty in marrying off a daughter in Korea. Where there are defects, such as feeble health, paralysis, deformities, etc., an expert intermediary who knows how to conceal them is employed. It is her business to make the girl presentable to the parents and to see that the bridegroom does not see the bride until the day of marriage, when it is too late to recall, he is obliged to make the best of the situation. In marrying Korean girls are not exempt from contributing to the support of the family. This applies to the grande dame as well as the humblest peasant. Ladies of rank who have become impoverished and are obliged to support themselves may earn a livelihood by knitting or rearing silkworms.

A Mother's Command. The lady of the house, the English divine, used to tell this story: "The bishop of New Zealand in a farewell and pathetic interview with his mother-in-law after his appointment was thus addressed by her in such sequence as that every one who heard it would suppose they will eat you, my dear. I try to think otherwise, but I suppose they will. Well, we will leave it in the hands of Providence. But, if they do, I beg my dear, and disagree with them."

Property and Clothes. The ladies of the land surprise those of all other nations in retiring modesty, for they not only hide their faces, but walk about under a small tent, which requires the assistance of a servant to carry it. It is not surprising to find that they have very bad reputation for propriety, for in Africa female respectability is in inverse ratio to the quality of clothes worn.—Elliott's "East Africa."

ROYAL TONIC

Beats Anything We Ever Sold as a Strength Creator and Body Builder. Our well known druggist, Mr. R. L. Hamilton is very enthusiastic over the delicious cod liver oil preparation which contains no oil. In referring to the matter, said Mr. Hamilton, "We sell many tonics, and we handle all kinds of remedies that claim to be invigorators and strength creators. We do this because we are druggists, and it is our business to supply the public with what they want."

When our advice is asked, however in regard to a tonic, body-builder or strength creator, we invariably recommend Vinol, as we know of nothing that can compare with it. In Vinol modern science has given us all of the tonic, body-building and curative properties of that famous old remedy cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cod fish's livers, without a drop of the obnoxious and system clogging grease which characterizes old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, and which has proved such a drawback.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, as the label on each bottle tells everything it contains, you can see and know exactly what you are taking. In the most natural manner it tones up the digestive organs, creates a hearty appetite, makes rich, red blood and strengthens every organ in the body to do its work as nature intended.

Our faith in Vinol is so strong that we gladly offer to refund the money in every case where it fails to give a satisfaction." R. L. Hamilton, Druggist.

Too Cheap. The sunrise may be beautiful and very fair, but we don't rave at it and throw a fit, because the thing is free.

Might Have to Go. "He doesn't believe in war." "Considers it cruel, I suppose?" "Yes; and, besides that, his wife has no relations."

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH. SWEAR OFF TIME. Another year. Will soon be here. If all the ancient signs are clear. It's understood. That then you should cut out your meanness and be good.

Then throw away your pipe of clay. And say to cigarettes "Good day!" Just pass it by. Your fat cigar. Give nicotine a well earned jar. From lager beer. And all such queer concoctions for the future, steer. And as for eye. Just pass it by. And take to water when you're dry.

Eeshow hot air. And loudly dare. To swear you never more will swear. And trim down this. Another sin—The grievous sin of butting in. Then as you pass. Before the glass. And note you're in the "perfect" class. You'll make the past. And hold on fast. But wonder if the thing will last.

Thwarted. "Bacon isn't writing as good poetry as he was." "No; more of the poets are getting their stuff copyrighted."

The Ornamental One. For the first time in quite a number of years sessions of the senate are being presided over by a real live vice president who has been duly elected to second place in this great nation. Many men who have been busy in the trifling matter of making a living had never missed the vice president. They had noticed that the government was running along all right, that senators were getting arrested for crooked work and that appropriation bills were being regularly passed, and they had thought that all was well.

And so it was. We can run along without a vice president as long as we do not have need for one to take the place of president. The office of vice president is a sort of national verminifer appendix, a nice thing to have about, but one that nobody will miss if it isn't in its place.

Wouldn't Disgrace Himself. "I may be poor," said the shabby one to a polite but bored audience, "but I hope I never forget that I am a gentleman."

"That's right," softly observed a listener as a side remark. "He would rather borrow money than work any day."

S.S.S. FOR THE BLOOD

The purifying action and curative properties of this great remedy have made "S. S. S. For the Blood" a household saying, and thousands who are today enjoying perfect health owe their recovery from blood or skin diseases to this universally used blood medicine. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks which possess not only cleansing and healing ingredients, but building-up and strengthening properties to keep the blood in perfect order. No one can be well when the blood is impure; they lack the energy and strength that is natural with health, the complexion becomes pale and sallow, the vitality is weakened and they suffer from a general broken down condition. When the waste or refuse matter, which nature intends shall be thrown off, is left in the system because of a sluggish, torpid condition of the expelling members, it is absorbed into the blood, making this vital stream weak, sour and acrid, and its condition is manifested by boils, pimples, rashes, blotches and other eruptions of the skin. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and removes every particle of blood taint or poison of every character, makes the blood fresh and strong and gives energy to the entire body. When the blood has been cleared by S. S. S. all skin diseases and eruptions pass away and the smooth, clear skin, glowing with nature, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood disorders, and for their cure nothing equals S. S. S. It does not injuriously affect the most delicate parts of the body and can be taken with perfect safety by old or young. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired without charge.
