Hunting for Trouble.

I've lived in California 20 years, and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alleghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting, Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed at Hamilton's drug store. 25.

SHORT POINTED LOCALS.

BRIEF LOCAL HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK.

Items to Keep Reader Informed of What is Going on in Around Town and Country.

The office that seeks the man generally has to be sicked on like a dog.

Mr. Z. W. Lyon will add a new room to his residence on College street.

Do not complain of your wife's extravagance with a cigar in your mouth.

Dr. T. L. Booth is building convenient new stables on his lot on College street.

Nature must have made a mistake when she provided the rooster with a comb and no hair.

Beware of the woman who talks about heaven in church, and about her neighbors on the street.

The nice residence of Mr. L. J. Steed is rapidly going up, and adds much to the looks of Rectory street.

The front of Brinkley's Photograph Gallery, on Main street, has been treated to a coat of red paint.

Your own business can afford to wait, just so you keep up with the details of other people's business.

The following is the honor roll of Edgewood School: Otis Eakes, Willie Satterwhite and Fred Satterwhite.

Mrs. Kate Fleming, one of the able faculty of the Graded School, who has been numbered with the sick, is much better.

Dr. B. K. Hays is building a new house on his lot near his office, and report has it he will use it as a hospital.

The inside work on the residences of Messrs. Lock Erwin and Luther Stark on College street is being pushed forward.

Owing to the greatly increased trade of Mr. Z. W. Lyon the Johnson Warehouse will be greatly enlarged in time for the new crop.

The industrial development of the State continues, and this year promises to break the record in the establishment of corporations.

The people of Oxford are very proud of the two new stores of Dr. E. T. White on Main street with their very tasty and attractive fronts.

Congress has a good kitchen, and the members of that august body should always be served with the most superb luncheon.—Durham Sun.

The editor is much pleased to learn that his old friend Mr. W. H. Gregory of Stovall, who has been sick, is himself again and looking after his business.

One of the greatest improvements on College street is the repainting of the Episcopal Rectory, and Rev. and Mrs. Horsfield have quite a convenient home.

It pays to read the advertisements of enterprising home merchants. They are the people who make it possible to have conveniences right at your door, so to speak.

After a hard fight the bill to establish a Dispensary at Creedmoor has passed the Legislature, and the blind tigers and jug trade will soon have to go out of business.

Many of our exchanges are publishing etiquette rules for 'phone use. We would like to add one. If you happen to hear something over the 'phone that is not meant for you, it is not best to repeat it.

While it was dark nights the ground hog held on to the arc lights, but now as the moon sheds its brilliant rays at night he has turned them loose, and now rivals the moon in brilliancy. Laying jesting aside we are glad that the large generator, which broke down some time ago has been repaired and the people are happy as well as Mr. Niles.

Contractor Mitchell has commenced work on the cottage of Mr. W. S. Love in South Oxford.

Rev. J. A. Stradley will preach at Providence Academy next Sunday, February 24th, at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Henry Williford, of Route 3, who has been sick for more than two weeks, is able to be out and was in town Monday.

Divine service at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath, 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Morning subject "The Confession of Infidels." Evening "The Sinners Friend."

The reservoir at the new well of the Oxford Water & Electric Co. is being constructed, and when completed our people will have some fine mineral water to drink.

We now have other needed improvements and must have sewerage if Oxford is to continue its onward march. It is a necessity, as the public convenience and the public health both demand it.

One of the chief improvements needed in Oxford now is an up-to-date sewerage system. Water without sewerage is largely a failure. We are glad to know of the movement to put in a good system.

The editor is gratified to learn that his good old friend, Mr. T. B. Daniel, one among the best men in Granville county who has been quite sick at his home on Route 1 is gradually improving to the joy of his loved ones and many friends.

Col. R. B. Latimer has resigned as one of the attaches of the Water & Electric Co., and returns to his home in Washington City and Prof. M. E. Donald, the fine electrician, will have charge of the arc lights since the ground hog has turned them loose.

Owing to the absence of the Rector of St. Stephen's church, attending funeral at his former Parish in Goldsboro, the Lenten services on Wednesday and Thursday were omitted. The usual services will be held on Friday at 4 o'clock with address to children on the "Childhood of Christ."

The fire alarm was given about 11 o'clock on Tuesday and it was found that fire had started in the rear part of Judge Graham's residence, probably the cook room. But before the fire companies reached there the fire had been extinguished, and we are glad to say that the damage was slight.

The Legislature has, we think very wisely passed the act for the establishment of a dispensary at Creedmoor. A very large majority of the people were in favor of it, and we take it that the people of a community should have the right to regulate their own affairs in general as well as to say whether or not whiskey should be sold in their section. It seems to us that this is democracy.

Gadding About Habit.

If there is one thing that sends a keen pain through the Onlooker's heart it is the sight of young girls parading the streets too freely. They cannot realize with what pity they are regarded and their parents cannot, else they would keep them more closely at home. This "gadding about" habit, as the women folk express it, will destroy a pristine freshness and charming manners quickly and thoroughly. The Onlooker often sees girls on the streets almost constantly through the day, and he as well as others, know that they have no business errands enough to keep them there.

It is the innate love of excitement, the desire to attract attention, the restlessness in their souls, that causes them to be away from the parental roof so much away from the tender and kindly restraint of a loving mother. Mothers are your girls gadding about freely? You may not have realized it before, but stop and think a moment. Do your daughters remain at home as they should?

We are not personal in these remarks at all—far from it, they are simply impelled by a thread of thought that possessed us temporarily.
