

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

Whenever a sore refuses to heal it is because the blood is not pure and healthy, as it should be, but is infected with poisonous germs or some old blood taint which has corrupted and polluted the circulation. Those most usually afflicted with old sores are persons who have reached or passed middle life. The vitality of the blood and strength of the system have naturally begun to decline, and the poisonous germs which have accumulated because of a sluggish and inactive condition of the system, or some hereditary taint which has hitherto been held in check, now force an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body. The place grows red and angry, festers and eats into the surrounding tissue until it becomes a chronic and stubborn ulcer, fed and kept open by the impurities with which the blood is saturated. Nothing is more trying and disagreeable than a stubborn, non-healing sore. The very fact that it resists ordinary remedies and treatments is good reason for suspicion; the same germ-producing cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore, and especially is this true if the trouble is an inherited one. Washes, salves, nor indeed anything else, applied directly to the sore, can do any permanent good; neither will removing the sore with caustic plasters or the surgeon's knife make a lasting cure. If every particle of the diseased flesh were taken away another sore would come, because the trouble is in the blood, and the BLOOD CANNOT BE CUT AWAY. The cure must come by a thorough cleansing of the blood. In S. S. S. will be found a remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind. It is an unequalled blood purifier—one that goes directly into the circulation and promptly cleanses it of all poisons and taints. It gets down to the very bottom of the trouble and forces out every trace of impurity and makes a complete and lasting cure. S. S. S. changes the quality of the blood so that instead of feeding the diseased parts with impurities, it nourishes the irritated, inflamed flesh with healthy blood.

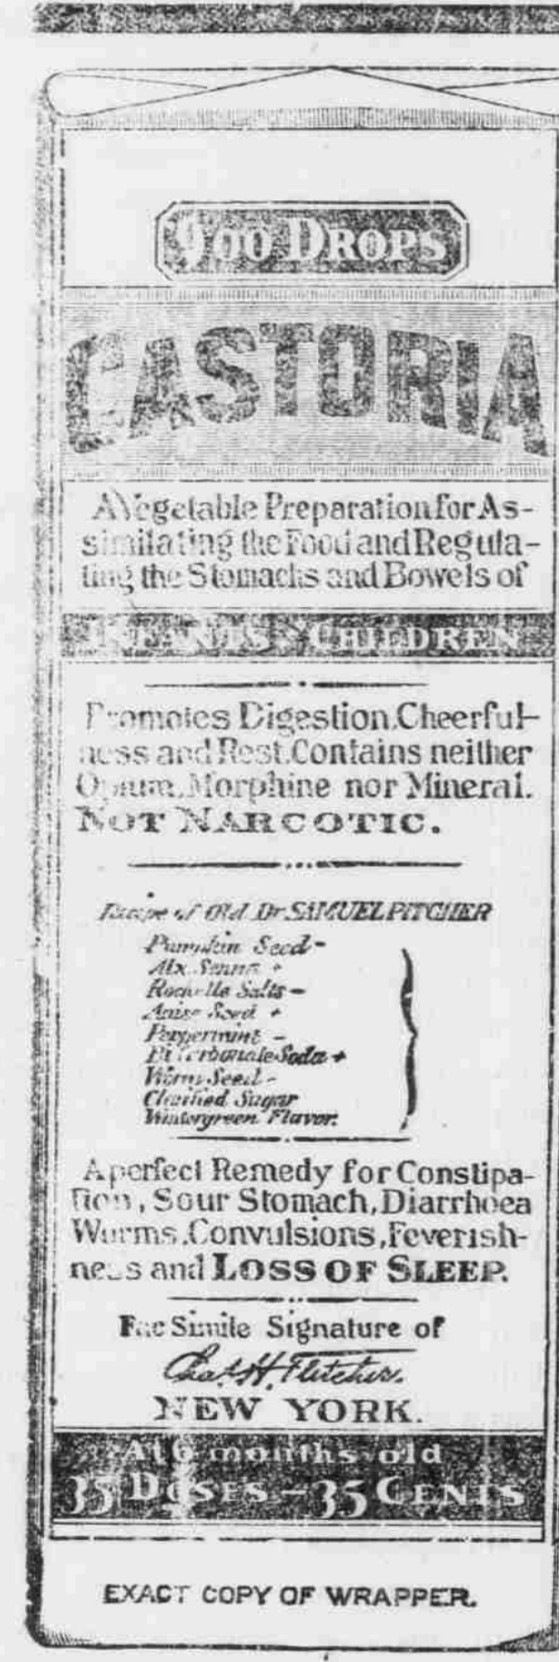

I was afflicted with a sore on my face of four years' standing. It was a small pimple at first but it gradually grew larger and worse in every way until I became alarmed about it and consulted several physicians. They all treated me but the sore continued to grow worse. I saw S. S. S. advertised and commenced its use and after taking it a while I was completely cured. My blood is now pure and healthy from the effect of S. S. S., and there has not been any sign of the sore since S. S. S. cured it.

Then the sore begins to heal, new flesh is formed, all pain and inflammation leaves, the place scabs over, and when S. S. S. has purified the blood the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores. Write for our special book on sores and ulcers and any other medical advice you desire. We make no charge for the book or advice.

ended slyly. "And you got away," questioned Sir Henry, still angry, but not knowing what to do.

She went on with the utmost meekness: "I had your pet hunter at the lodge gate, sir; a long cloak on the saddle, pistols and a dagger in the holsters"—archly—"I believe you promised 'French Percy' those? Cousin Jack Percy's grandson was waiting in our hut for me. And, dad, dad!"—she ended it with a tender rush—"we were so afraid we'd miss you and the bishop and after so much trouble I'd had spoiling your pistols too."

For the first time since the wedding St. Croix spoke. "And had we missed you, Sir Henry, I should have been forced to go back of mine own accord to your galleys, for I would not leave her in England except as my wife, and Mistress May would not come unless I promised you should see us married and give consent."

Sir Henry whirled on him. "And you call what I gave 'consent,' you impudent scoundrel!" "The bishop heard you say, I do, with all my heart," broke in St. Croix acutely.

"A trick!" roared Sir Henry—"a trick that no one but"— "Jack Percy's grandson could have executed," finished May Percy for him. "Jack Percy's grandson—Jack Percy's grandson," he repeated musingly. For the first time the phrase seemed to take hold of him.

"And your son now, dad," whispered May Percy softly. Her father glanced inquiringly toward the bishop. "By the law of God and the church they are man and wife, Sir Henry."

With sudden impulsiveness May Latapie, countess St. Croix, threw herself into her father's arms. "And, dad, you can't hang your own son," she cried. "And he is going to leave me with you until the war is over and he can come for me again with honor."

In the clear, revealing moonlight, over the bowed head of the girl in his arms, the chief of the Percys studied the new heir to the line. "Jack Percy's grandson," he muttered at last in unwilling admiration. Then the two involuntarily looked at the one both loved. The struggling Percy pride died hard. At last Sir Henry opened his arms. "Take her, boy," he said briefly.

THE END.

What She Said.
Bride—Oh, John, darling, I'm so glad you've come home! Cook is acting something awful—smashing dishes and tearing around like a lunatic! Do go and soothe her.
Groom—Why, sweetheart, what upset her?
Bride—Nothing at all—except that I told her you said she was a fierce cook.

Abolished State Dispensary.

The South Carolina Legislature has abolished the State dispensary system of handling liquor, the creature and pet of Senator Tillman, which has been in existence 14 years. The people of the various counties will decide the matter of dispensary or local option by vote. The Governor has also removed from office J. M. Rawlins, John Black and Joseph B. Wiley, directors of the State dispensary, who are charged with misconduct, neglect of duty and incompetency, the specific charges being that these officials disregarded the law, did not buy on sealed bids and approved large purchases in Cincinnati and Peoria at prices in excess of the regular bids.

Insurance Bills.

Of all the number of insurance bills which have been introduced in the legislature, only one has been enacted into law, this being the bill to prohibit contributions to political parties. A very long insurance bill has been introduced in the senate by Greer, making the policy issued by any life company an absolute contract between the company and the insured and any writing not included in or attached to it should be void, policies to contain only essential and clear statements, relating or refunding of part of commissions or premiums by agents or companies to be punishable; specimens of all policies to be filed with the insurance commissioner so he can pass upon them and sanction them. No company to be licensed which issues what are known as board contracts, or any policies of that kind. Companies which issue fictitious circulars of statements to be warned not to do so and if they repeat the offence the license may be revoked. This is one of the most sweeping insurance bills of all the number introduced.

Tax Assessing Year.

This is the year for tax assessing. The County Commissioners are to appoint three tax assessors on the first Monday in April for each township. These men must be freeholders and must have been residents of the township at least twelve months. It shall be the duty of this board to sit during the month of June for the purpose of assessing taxes for their townships. The law says that they shall determine the value of each piece of property by its "true value," and expressly states that the value shall not be fixed at what the property would bring at "forced" sale, but what it would bring at a "cash" sale. The law is explicit, and if the assessors who shall be appointed will read the law they will be more careful in their valuation.
