Adoniram Articles.

Cuttings are the fad around here now.

Some of our sick are improving while others continue about the same.

Miss Julia Hunt, of Oxford, Route 7, is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. G. Clark near here.

Miss Maud Sanderford, of Virginia, Route 5, who has been nursing Mrs. G. T. Pittard, returned to her home last week.

Mr. R. A. Loyd spent a few days in Durham, last week, visiting his son Mr. Ben Loyd and grandson, Master "Bennie Dick" Loyd.

CORRESPONDENT.

Letter to Professor J. C. Horner, Oxford, North Carolina.

Dear Sir: Will you give your Arithmetic class—and Algebra class—this problem?

If average paint is worth $1.60 a gallon, and goes two-thirds as far as Devoe, and wears half as long, what is Devoe worth put on, painters' wages being $3.50 a day and a day's work a gallon of paint.

The answer is $11.80 a gallon; but don't tell 'em that.

Yours truly F. W. DEVOE & CO.

Art Exhibit.

An interesting event will occur at the Seminary on March 18-21, when an Art Exhibit of famous pictures will be given.

The exhibit contains 200 pictures representative of ancient and modern art. They include the finest brown prints, carbons, engravings, etchings, photogravures and color facsimiles, exact copies of the originals in drawing and color; so that one visiting the collection sees many of the most famous masterpieces as they appear in the great galleries of the world.

The object of the exhibit is to give students, school children, and all persons interested in education, an opportunity to become acquainted with the names of great artists. To this end, the price of admission is made almost nominal, being ten cents for children under fourteen, and twenty cents for older people.

Use DeWitt's Little Early Risers, pleasant little pills. They are easy to take. Sold by J. G. Hall.
