They stayed in camp about three miles from Morehead to be exact. Dr. Booth says that they had their own boat, went as they pleased, fished when they pleased, day or night and had a general good time. Mackerel, bluetish, trout, and other small fish "too numerous to mention" fell into their snares until they got tired of the sight and taste of them. At least, that's what they say about it. The doctor caught a trout of about ten pounds weight that smashed his bamboo pole. He says that this the first fish that ever broke his rod and many caught in previous Mrs. Henry H. Gilfry, and the bride's trips have weighed considerably more than the savigrous fellow. He wrestled with the rascal for 15 or 20 minutes before he was landed.
