DOUBLE WEDDING.

Account of the Haskin's Wedding Written By an Eye Witness—Was Impressive Affair.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, the 22nd of December, a double wedding took place at the Tally Ho Baptist church, Granville County, the principals of the occasion being Mr. Meredith Penn Crews and Miss Ethel Sarah Haskins. Mr. Gibbon Renn and Miss Edna Lida Haskins were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Martin Pastor of the Tally Ho Church. The service was beautiful that signified these happy unions.

The Church was transformed by grateful hands into a scene of Fairy land, green being the prevailing decorative. Soft lights of wax tapers rendered a most pleasing effect to the occasion. At the appointed time the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march from the talented touch of Miss Norma Cash filled the church and the bridal party entered in the following order: Messrs. Lewis Crews, Cleveland Bragg, Thomas Bradsher, James Dean, Boat Curran, and Lex Renn, Ushers. Then came the two sisters, brides, and were met at the altar by the grooms. The Baptist Service was used by their Pastor Rev. Mr. Martin, in uniting them in marriage. The ceremony being over, Miss Cash played Lohengrin's wedding march. The brides and grooms left the church followed by the ushers. The brides were gowned alike in white chiffon and carried carnations.

The presents from their friends were both numerous and costly.

The brides are the beautiful daughters of Joseph L. Haskins, and are well known in the social circles of Granville County. The grooms are ideal gentlemen of the true southern type.

BEAUTIFUL MARRIAGE.

Former Popular Oxford Man Married Wilson Girl—Account of the Ceremony—Took Northern Tour.

The Wilson paper gave the following account of the Taylor-Graham marriage, an event in which Oxford people were greatly interested:

Last evening at 9:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Churchill Gorham, on N. Goldsboro St., Mr. William Rober Taylor and Miss Gertrude Gorham were united in marriage. Rev. E. A. Edwards, rector of St. Timothy's Episcopal church officiating. The home had been beautifully decorated for this interesting event, palms, cut flowers, lending largely to the scheme. The ceremony was witnessed by only the relatives and a comparatively few friends of the contracting parties, but was an occasion resplendent and complete in its fittings.

When the hour of the nuptials approached two little ribbon bearers, Ellen Gorham, sister of the bride, and Mary Thorne Smith, sister of the groom, entered the left parlor with ribbon forming an aisle. Then entered the ushers, Messrs. Crawford Cooper, of Oxford, and John Gorham, and Messrs. Bert Taylor, of Oxford, with Alvis Patterson. Following came maid of Honor, Miss Xi Robertson, was beautiful in her charming dress, of white crepe de chene and carried bride's roses.

Next came the bride on arm of her brother, Mr. George C. Gorham. She was exquisitely gowned in a creation of dutchess satin with pearl trimmings and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. At the improvised altar the groom, who entered with his best man, Mr. Benjamin T. Smith, met the bride and the beautiful Episcopal ceremony was said.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held when Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and Miss Ellen Clark received in the hall, the bridal party and Mr. and Mrs. Gorham in the right parlor and Miss Mary Hadley and Mrs. A. A. Basye in the dining room, where Miss Sallie Hadley presided over the wedding cake. When the cake was cut Mr. Ben T. Smith secured the wish bone emblem of good luck, Mr. Bert Taylor the ring and according to legend will next wed; Miss Sarah Meadows, of New Bern, the diune, a promise of wealth; and Miss Lottie Bacon, the thimble which according to the stories, dooms her as an old maid. During this interesting happening Miss Clara Daniel and Mildred Taylor served delicious punch.

present throughout the entire evening and rendered delightful music.

The left parlor where the wedding occurred was most beautifully decorated for the occasion, the scheme being carried out in green and white with narcissus flowers abounding, while numerous candelabra with white candles, furnished a soft light. The colorscheme of the dining-room was carried out in red.

The bride's going away gown was of black cloth, gloves and hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left last night for Washington, D. C. and will return about January 1.

The groom is a popular young business man of Wilson and interested in one of our large tobacco companies, while his bride is one of Wilson's most beautiful and attractive daughters, popular and accomplished and richly endowed with the graces of heart and mind.

Many nice presents were received by this young couple.
