The Crested Screamer.
 "I was surprised to run across an old acquaintance up at the zoo the other day. The last time I saw him was in the lower part of Brazil when I was trying to push Yankee notions," said a commercial traveler. "This acquaintance is known as crested screamer. He is one of the best fighters I ever bet my money on. He is about as large as a turkey and as spry as they make 'em when his fighting blood is up. He has four sharp spurs instead of two, and the odd thing is the spurs are on the wings instead of the legs. The birds ran wild, but the natives tamed them and taught them to fight hawks and other enemies of poultry. They are fine poultry protectors. A fight between two of them is the most exciting thing in the way of sport down there and is more popular than a cockfight."—New York Sun.

A Growsome "Charm."
 One of the most growsome "charms" is that which was at one time extensively used as a cure for wens. The hand of a dead criminal still hanging had to be rubbed three times over the wen. A correspondent in London Notes and Queries some few years since wrote that many persons were then living who in their younger days had undergone the ceremony, always, they maintained, with complete success. "On execution days at Northampton," he adds, "numbers of sufferers used to congregate around the gallows in order to receive the 'dead stroke,' as it was termed. At the last execution which took place in that town a very few only were operated upon, not so much in consequence of decrease of faith as from the higher fee demanded by the hangman."

To Help Out.
 When there is a small allowance of fruit on hand and sponge cake and whipped cream are to be had cut the cake into slices, turn the fruit over it and surmount the whole with whipped cream. Strawberries and pineapple alone or mixed are delectable in this way.

In the hands of a woman the powder rag is mightier than the sword.

House Furnishing Dry Goods

Must be of interest to every housekeeper. There's a saving of from 25 to 33 per cent. by purchasing now everything that is needed in the linen line, especially table linens, towels, napkins, in fact anything made from flax; the raw material has advanced more than 200 per cent. owing to the failure of the crop in Ireland. We bought our linens last spring before the rise in price and are in a position to offer lower prices than others who bought later.
